Progesterone Cream

Women need natural progesterone to counter-balance the effects of estrogen dominance. Progesterone therapy is successfully used by health care professionals to relieve symptoms of both PMS, help the transitions of menopause, improve moods, or low libido when progesterone levels are low and/or estrogen is dominant. In menopause, both estrogen and progesterone decrease.

Medical experts believe the out of balance hormones are due to the lack of progesterone in women. Clinical studies show that PMS, menopausal problems, breast cancer and fibrocystic breast have a direct relationship with estrogen dominance. Progesterone is needed for the proper function of the adrenal glands. Stress on the adrenal glands may lead to progesterone deficiency, often causing symptoms of nervous disorders, depression, irritability, fatigue and mood swings.

Medical practitioners reports many of these issues are helped through the use of a high quality natural progesterone cream, as Wild Yam & Progesterone+ or Ultra Harmony -a plant estrogen cream. Our creams do not contain estrogen but plant estrogens, which have no side effects. Blood tests do not show an increase of estrogen with progesterone or plant estrogens. We do know that progesterone and estrogen, like many of the hormones in the body, work synergistically. The presence of progesterone sensitizes estrogen receptors in the body, making circulating estrogen levels work better without changing the actual levels of estrogens.

We know that after menopause, many women find that supplementation of progesterone is enough for addressing symptoms. For some women, who are very thin, have had hysterectomies at a younger age, or have high cholesterol or heightened bone loss, some form of estrogen or phytoestrogen may be necessary to completely fulfill and balance the bodies needs.

Millions of women use natural progesterone to reduce monthly PMS symptoms, ease the transitions of menopausal hot flashes, night sweats, mood swings, while others use it as to maintain healthy bones.

Benefits of Progesterone

- Precursor of other sex hormones, i.e., estrogen and testosterone
- Protects against breast fibrocysts
- Natural diuretic
- Helps use fat for energy
- Natural antidepressant
- Helps thyroid hormone action
- Normalizes blood clotting
- Restores libido
- Helps normalize blood sugar levels
- Restores proper cell oxygen levels
- Protects against endometrial cancer
- Helps protect against breast cancer
- Necessary for survival of embryo and fetus throughout gestation

The herbs have been used for medicinal purposes for hundreds of years around the world. Many of these herbs have been clinically documented to have special remedial and therapeutic properties for hormonal balance. Wise Women Essentials creams contain several well-known herbal ingredients. The compound diosgenin from the wild yam or soybean is used to make natural progesterone in a laboratory. Natural progesterone is naturally produced in the body. Synthetic progestins can cause side effects. Often, the cause of distress during changing times is a lack of progesterone. Natural progesterone minimizes the discomfort.

Natural Progesterone Cream

Natural Progesterone Cream-Control Your Hormone Naturally

Natural Progesterone Cream

Progesterone derived from plant sources as an alternative to conventional hormone replacement therapy in menopausal women. Progesterone Cream can help address normal menopausal discomforts, such as hot flashes, night sweats, and irritability. Natural Progesterone cream is a safe, natural alternative to HRT because it's produced by a woman's body during the second half of each monthly cycle, from ovulation until menses, and is the dominant hormone during this phase.

Our leading brands' Natural Progesterone cream has been clinically formulated to help bring balance to a woman's body throughout change-of-life transitions using herbs, vitamins, and other natural ingredients. Natural Progesterone Cream is comprehensive formula addresses the different changes each woman experiences and may be taken along with other women's health supplements. Natural Progesterone cream also stimulates bone-building and thus helps protect against osteoporosis.

Pre Menopausal Woman Need Natural Progesterone Cream

Why would a pre menopausal woman need Natural Progesterone Cream? In the ten to fifteen years before menopause, many women regularly have anovulatory cycles in which they make enough estrogen to create menstruation, but they don't make any progesterone, thus setting the stage for estrogen dominance. Using Natural progesterone cream during anovulatory months can help prevent the symptoms of PMS.

PMS

We know that PMS can occur despite normal progesterone levels when stress is present. Stress increases cortisol production; cortisol blockades (or competes for) progesterone receptors. Additional progesterone cream is required to overcome this blockade, and stress management is important.

escription of Pro-Gest Body Cream
/ho knew a little tube of cream could change the world? In 1978 we had a revolutionary idea: that there was ot enough choice when it came to support for perimenopause and menopause. So we created Pro-Gest to give omen a much-deserved alternative. It's the only natural progesterone cream that's been clinically tested. It's e best-selling progesterone cream available anywhere (and has been for many years).
USP Progesterone: Pro-Gest cream is manufactured to contain 450 milligrams (mg) of USP Progesterone er ounce (900 mg per two-ounce tube). Each ¼ tsp contains approximately 20 mg of USP Progesterone. areful clinical research has shown this to be an effective amount to achieve a natural balance. United States harmacopoeia (USP) denotes a government recognized standard of purity and strength. It is sometimes eferred to as "human-identical" or "bio-identical" progesterone, which differentiates it from synthetic rogestins or progestogens. USP classifies the progesterone as the highest quality available ProgestaCare is made entirely from natural ingredients (no fragrances). It is on-oily, does not leave a residue on the skin, and it absorbs quickly.

hy is natural progesterone so important?The fact is, that in industrialized untries, most men and women have out-of-balance hormones. The reason, cording to Dr. John Lee, is there is an over-abundance of estrogen and trogenic substances in the food we eat and in our modern environment. strogen dominance," as it is sometimes referred to, is a problem in the U.S. and her industrialized countries. Your body needs natural progesterone to counter-lance the toxic effects of estrogen dominance.

rogestaCare - Hormone Balance

e balance of progesterone and estrogen in a woman's body is very important. ogesterone acts to balance excess estrogen thus preventing estrogen from coming harmful to health, a condition known as estrogen dominance.
