FTC,

I do not want any automated telemarketer calls. I used to get 25 or more live telemarketer calls daily before signing up for the do not call list, so can you just imagine how many daily calls I and my household will receive if you allow automated telemarketing calls? I simply do not have the time ~~to~~ be constantly running to answer the phone. As it is, I still get 2 or 3 calls per day from telemarketers who say they are from mortgage re-finance companies and that they are not subject to and do not use the do-not-call list. The problem has been so bad that I have considered having the phone taken out, but keep it only because there might be an emergency. I can't even use an answering machine to screen out such calls because with our tiny phone company, DSL and answering machines are not compatible, I suspect because the phone company wants everyone to take their expensive voice mail service. So please, no automated telemarketing calls!!!

Thanks,
