

FTC, OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY
ROOM 159
600 PENNSYLVANIA AVE., NW
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

TSR@FTC.GOV

I work for a telemarketing company, which maintains a company do-not-call list that is effectively enforced.

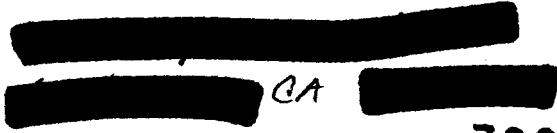

Having the government regulate the telemarketing industry is ~~wrong~~ by implementing a nation-wide do-not-call list is wrong for several reasons. It places honest people out of work because they can't call ~~not~~ consumers.

It puts too much of a strain on the economy, because companies could not market their products directly, and would have to rely solely on web-based markets. This would certainly limit their ability to receive ~~feed~~ feedback from the consumer population directly about interest in the products and services being offered.

This would put negative pressure on the Gross Domestic Product by resulting in lower sales.

PLEASE DO NOT IMPLEMENT THIS POLICY,
Sincerely,

CA