Re: Business Opportunity Rule, R511993

Dear Sir/Madam,

As a 35 year register voter, I must let my government representatives and the agency involved know when I feel a dire mistake might be made to the detriment of millions of US citizens.

I am writing this letter because I am concerned that if the proposed Business Opportunity Rule R511993 is adopted in its present form, millions of independent distributors will be significantly undermined. With the unstable work environment, it is necessary for millions to supplement their incomes by marketing products for companies, a legitimate and lawful endeavor. Further, the current regulations more than takes care of guarding the public against unethical and unlawful business practices.

The public is not well served by the FTC's over regulation of an industry that is causing absolutely no harm and more than adequately polices itself by remedying any and all complaints by members of the public. History has proved that companies with devious business practices will not be in business long. Plus, have our own "watch dog" web sites to visit when looking into a company.

While the FTC needs to protect the public where necessary, this proposed rule is hopelessly over broad and misguided. The seven-day waiting period is unnecessary and will interfere with my ability to enter into lawful transactions and enroll new distributors. People buy TVs, cars, and other much more costly items without such a waiting period. This proposed waiting period gives the impression that something is wrong with the plan. And, the burdensome paperwork, which will not even be read by the public, makes it extremely difficult for the individual participant to fully comply, thereby risking fines and other penalties for such failures, however innocent. By these actions, the FTC does a disservice to the consuming public and Americans everywhere who are trying to get ahead by starting their own business, or adding necessary supplemental income to their family.

Over the past 30 years the FTC has added more and more regulations to this industry. The current proposed regulations are WAY beyond the scope of enhancing commerce and/or protecting the public. Just because it is an independent distributorship and not a big company or corporation is no reason to over regulate it to the point of oblivion. There is room for all kinds of marketing systems in our commercial world, that's what makes our country GREAT.

Thank You for your time.

Sincerely Yours
