

I support the contact lens law which allows me to purchase my contact lenses from distributors outside my doctor's office.....There are three contact lens users in my household, myself and my two sons, and ordering through the doctor is much more expensive. I would prefer to channel that money into my sons' education, two future voters and hopefully high salary earners. It makes sense all around.

Laura McDonald