

As a contact lens wearer who pays for the optometrist for an eye exam, I shouldn't be obligated to buy the lenses from them. The service for an eye exam and the lenses are two different things. A perfect example is the last time I ordered it from the optometrist, it took them 3 weeks to obtain. How unsafe is that? The sample pair they gave me were not even my exact prescription and I had to keep going back for more. In addition, this would make it easier for them to raise the prices making it less cost-effective for me and make it uncompetitive to other vendors, in my opinion, very UnAmerican.

Thank you.

Store more e-mails with MSN Hotmail Extra Storage – 4 plans to choose from!
<http://click.atdmt.com/AVE/go/onm00200362ave/direct/01/>