I am writing to let you know that I support the law that requires eye doctors to give you a copy of your prescription. I have changed eye doctors twice due to the high pressure they put on you to purchase lenses through them at a premium. I enjoy the convenience of ordering my lenses in the mail (as I do my prescription drugs through my insurance) and feel I should be able to do that freely without fighting with my doctor. I thought I had a knack for choosing poor eye doctors, but now I realize it is a widespread practice.
