It is extremely important to me as a long time contact lens user to have prompt almost emergency service available when ordering lens. Many times problems occur when the eye doctor is out of town, etc. etc. and the frustration of not being to get help is severe.

Kindly consider the fact that new fresh lens are imperative when the need arises not days or weeks later. The present system of being able to order and get lenses by FedEx etc is most important. Please vote to retain present rules so all of us can enjoy the convenience of immediate help when needed.
