Subject: I support the new contact lens law

As a disabled member of the community, I find it much easier to purchase my contact lenses through the mail rather than through my eye doctor. Even though my doctor's office is 'handicap-accessible' according to the law, it is very difficult for me to get in to the office. The seemingly simple task of opening and closing the door once I've negotiated the long ramp and 10-mile drive is very difficult for me. Doing so once a year for my check-up is enough.

If I lose my right to purchase my lenses from whomever I choose, I can no longer wear contact lenses. It's too difficult to purchase them from my eye doctor.
