Ladies and Gentlemen:

I understand that on January 21, the Federal Trade Commission proposed new rules to reduce the annoyance of unwanted telephone solicitations and to protect <sup>consumers</sup> ~~consumers~~ from unauthorized charges on their credit card bills. The proposals reportedly include the agency's proposals for the creation of a national "do not call" registry."

I would appreciate your sending me a copy of these proposed rules- either at the above address, or at my E mail address: dousull@cox.rr.com.

Thank you.

Sincerely,

DONALD F. SULLIVAN

Re: Telemarketing Rulemaking - Comment, FTC File No. R411001

Dear Sir/Madam:

I strongly urge an amendment to the Telemarketing Sales Rule that would include the creation of a national "do not call" registry. These calls are most annoying and until you've experienced them you have no idea how frustrating it is to answer the phone and hear that voice on the other end.

I anticipate a favorable ruling.

Sincerely,

Elizabeth J. Taylor

To whom it may concern:

We are sick to death of the many calls placed to our phone number from telemarketers -

I am writing requesting to be removed from their lists forever more -

Please help us end this turmoil that these people can bring -
We don't want anything that they offer -

Thank you for your help.

Re: Telemarketing Nuisance

Dear Sir/Madam,

I am greatly in favor of the creation of a single phone number to call to register to stay off telemarketers' calling lists, and for strong penalties enforced if this register is ignored.

Due to these multitudinous, annoying and disruptive phone calls, I have to keep my phone ringer off until 9 P.M. then turn it off again when I go to bed. I pay to have a private phone line, but computers automatically dial all numbers.

Anything you can do to alleviate this situation is greatly appreciated.

Sincerely,

Elizabeth Thurmond

Dear Susan, Mom

I am a typical target - sweet, old lady (71), live alone, income too
limited to afford Caller ID, blocking, etc.

Pre-recorded telemarketing calls are a terror! You are given no options except to punch a number, indicating you want services. One never has a choice to speak to another human to ask you be taken off calling lists.

Most numbers are:

- 1) work from home
- 2) Carpet cleaning entities
- 3) Sheriff / firefighter associations

These unsolicited calls get worse every year. - 4 to 5 per week for 2002. Help is truly needed.

Please add this telephone [REDACTED] and the names Gregory and Maurine Washington to the "do not call" registry. We have people whose name does not show up on caller I.D. it says out of area. When we answer the phone it's Mrs one three, or it's like someone hanging up on you. One a.m. two people from the same company called within hours of each other. I have told people not to call here anymore but they still call.

To Whom It May Concern:

I am in favor of a Do Not Call registry. Most Telemarketers call late in the evening. Usually while eating dinner, resting or late at night when I have already gone to bed. They do not care what time of day or night it is. If, I want a product or service I can call or write for this service.

Sincerely,

Judy Vandassel

Have written several times to have our phone number taken off the telemarketing list, but it hasn't happened.

Hope you will be successful

Dear Gentlemen:

1. We think the individual right to privacy priority over telemarketers! We would join a "do not call" list in a heartbeat.
2. It would also be helpful to delete the computer generated lists that ring once at 2am --- our deep sleep time --- and then hang up. Perhaps these are FAX ads; but we do not have a FAX.
3. Thank you for resolving these problems.

Sincerely,

Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Wise
