Re: Competition and the Real Estate Workshop – Comment, Project No. V050015

It is inconceivable that anyone would question the competitive aspect of the real estate industry. The whole industry is based on competition!

The MLS is a system that works. It is the vehicle that enables anyone to compete and at the same time helps homeowners realize the best price for their property.

Realtors will continue to follow government regulations and guidelines, but please leave our operating system intact.

Sincerely,
