Subject: RFID Chips

I am very opposed to RFID technologies. I resent anyone (government agencies or businesses) collecting personal information about me without my knowledge or consent.

This is an unforgivable invasion of my privacy and I resent anyone having a record of my purchases or being able to track my movements (which would be possible with the RFID chips). It is a form of stalking as far as I am concerned, and it is information that I do not wish to be in the hands of people I don't even know.
