The bottom line is,

- * Adware violates me.
- * Anyone who installs ANYTHING on my property without my INFORMED CONSENT is no better than a thief.
- * There is no difference between SPAM and unsolicited advertising.
- * Any form of software that installs itself on my property to collect information about me for the purpose of send it back to a third party is THEFT, and should be a criminal offense.
- * Sale and distribution of Spyware should be a criminal offense -- it has NO redeeming social value.

I am disgusted at the way the the current FCC management has sold the agency to commercial special interests. If I could do it, I would fire the board for selling out the American people.
