Ladies/Gentlemen:

Outside of suspected criminal matters, gathering information about a person's private habits without express permission is tantamount to tapping one's telephone, using hidden cameras or other surveillance methods without legal permission! I'm given to understand that wire tapping is illegal without express legal permission and so should spyware, adware and all other invasive software be, in my opinion.

Thank you for your time, consideration and anticipated just action.

Sincerely,
Mrs. J. Miller
