I have read several articles on ad and spyware and there is a few things missed one of which is if you get spyware in your pc due to agreeing to allow the companies that claim you can go to their web to remove become rude in the fact that they claim you agreed but had they ask you out right to follow your web habits they know you would not agree. I had adware in my pc and it is now all gone due to my pc crashing why it crashed I will never know, anyway the adware and spy ware can and does slow down your pc your firewall works harder to block popups and I know I get as much junk email in my box as I use to get adds in my postal mail, all of which is written address to me using my full name. The junk that I get is unreal and though I block their addresses I now have filled my limit of allowable blocked addresses and the junk keeps coming. I now no longer download anything that is so called free as free it is not. So far my pc is ad free {so my security tells me} I know this won't help the cause much but I am for anyone to stop people from getting or taking info. about me I don't want to give and the sooner it stops the better. Thank you for hearing me out.
