Gentlemen/Ladies: The spyware and adware problem must be solved now. Dell says most of the phone calls for tech help are related to this. It is a huge problem for many consumers who object to their computers being invaded by these people selling ads and sending spam. I suggest a NoCall list, like the telephone sales list, to stop people from sending unwanted ads and from planting spyware on computers. Have strict laws and severe punishment for those who violate this law. And please get some publicity about putting violaters of the NoCall list in jail, to discourage others from violating the law. The current spam law is not working; I am receiving more spam than ever!!

Pleadingly, Robert J. Ehrlich
