

Mon 5/17/2004

Spyware makes use of a service I pay for without my permission or knowledge. Is that not stealing from me ? I pay a monthly fee for access to the Internet and Spyware gets to piggyback my account for free and slow down & degrade my Internet experience at my expense.

I am not allowed to do that to someone else's computer - that's called "hacking."
Why should Spyware be treated any different ?

Torpex