IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE DISTRICT OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,

Plaintiff,

V.

AERO LIMITED PARTNERSHIP,

Defendant.

MOTION FOR ENTRY OF JUDGMENT

Plaintiff, having this date filed its Complaint in the above-captioned case, together with a Stipulation and proposed Final Judgment, hereby moves this Court for entry of Final Judgment. By agreement of the parties, the Final Judgment provides for the payment of a civil penalty of $1,125,000 under Section 7A(g)(1) of the Clayton Act, 15 U.S.C. § 18a(g)(1).

STATEMENT OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

The Complaint in this action alleges that defendant Aero Limited Partnership ("Aero") in acquiring voting securities of USAir Group, Inc. ("USAir") violated Section (a) of the Hart-Scott-Rodino Antitrust Improvements Act of 1976 ("Hart-Scott-Rodino Act"), 15 U.S.C. § 18a, which prohibits certain acquisitions of voting securities or assets until a notification has been filed with the Department of Justice and the Federal Trade Commission and a waiting period has expired. The Complaint alleges that the defendant Aero was continuously in violation of the Hart-Scott-Rodino Act during the period from August 13, 1986, through March 25, 1987, with respect to its acquisition of USAir stock. Section (g)(1) of the Hart-Scott-Rodino Act, 15 U.S.C. § 18a(g)(1), provides that any person who fails to comply with the Act shall be liable to the United States for a civil penalty of not more than $10,000 for each day during which such person is in violation of the Act. Accordingly, the Complaint seeks "an appropriate civil penalty." As the Stipulation and proposed Final Judgment indicate, the defendant has agreed to pay a civil penalty of $1,125,000 within 15 days of entry of the Final Judgment.

The Antitrust Procedures and Penalties Act ("APPA"),

15 U.S.C. § 16(b)-(h), requires that any proposal for a

"consent judgment" submitted by the United States in a civil case filed "under the antitrust laws" be filed with the court at least 60 days in advance of its effective date, published in the Federal Register and newspaper for public comment, and reviewed by the court for the purpose of determining whether it is in the public interest. Key features of the APPA are preparation by the United States of a "competitive impact statement" explaining the proceeding and the proposed judgment, and the consideration by the court of the proposed judgment's competitive impact and its impact on the public generally as well as individuals alleging specific injury from the violation set forth in the complaint.

The United States does not believe that the procedures of the APPA are required in this action because the Complaint seeks, and the Final Judgment provides for, only the payment of civil penalties. In our view, a consent judgment in a case seeking only monetary penalties is not the type of "consent judgment" Congress had in mind when it passed the APPA. Civil penalties are intended to penalize the defendant for violating the law, and, unlike injunctive relief, have no "competitive impact," and no effect on other persons or on the public generally. The legislative history of the APPA does not contain any indication that Congress intended to subject settlements of civil penalty actions to its competitive impact review procedures.1/

Thus, courts to date have not required use of APPA procedures in cases involving only the payment of civil penalties. Indeed, courts in this district have consistently entered consent judgments for civil penalties under the

Hart-Scott-Rodino Act without employing APPA procedures. 2/
Previously, in United States v. ARA Services, Inc., 1979-2 CCH Trade Cases ¶ 62,861 (E.D. Mo.), a consent judgment calling for both equitable relief and civil penalties was approved by the court on August 14, 1979, after the United States had taken the position in APPA proceedings that the civil penalties component of that judgment was not open to public objection. See 44 Fed.
Reg. 41583 (July 17, 1979).

There may be circumstances, of course, in which the procedures of the APPA, while not required, would serve the public interest. Thus, in United States v. Coastal Corp., 1985-1 CCH Trade Cases ¶ 66,425 (D.D.C.), the United States noted its view that the APPA was not applicable, but chose to employ the APPA procedures, believing that those procedures would in that particular case — the first brought under the Wickes Companies, Inc., 1988-1 CCH Trade Cases ¶ 67,966 (D.D.C.). In each case, the United States noted the issue in a motion for entry of judgment, explaining to the court that it believed the APPA inapplicable.

Hart-Scott-Rodino Act -- help describe to the public the circumstances and events that gave rise to the complaint and final judgment. 49 Fed. Reg. 36455 (Sept. 17, 1984).3/ There are no circumstances, however, favoring the use of APPA procedures in this case.

For the above reasons, the United States asks the Court to enter the Final Judgment in this case.
