PUBLIC VERSION

All of the foregoing documents and deposition testimony were designated by United as confidential pursuant to the Protective Order Governing Discovery Material, dated November 18, 2011, entered in this matter. The information contained in these documents is competitively sensitive and is held in strict confidence by United. Public disclosure of these documents is likely to cause direct, serious harm to United's competitive position. Therefore, pursuant to 16 C.F.R. § 3.45(b), United respectfully moves for in camera treatment of the foregoing documents and deposition testimony.

I. UNITED'S CONFIDENTIAL DOCUMENTS WARRANT IN CAMERA TREATMENT UNDER THE FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION'S RULES OF PRACTICE

The documents described in this motion warrant in camera treatment as provided by 16 C.F.R. § 3.45(b). The code section provides for in camera treatment of certain business-related information. Relating to business issues, under 16 C.F.R. § 3.45(b), requests for in camera treatment will be granted where public disclosure of the document in question "will result in a clearly defined, serious injury to the ... corporation requesting in camera treatment." Id. That showing can be made by establishing that the document in question is "sufficiently secret and sufficiently material to the applicant's business that disclosure would result in serious competitive injury." In re Dura Lube Corp., 1999 F.T.C. LEXIS 255, *6 (Dec. 23, 1999) (quoting General Foods Corp., 95 FTC 352, 355 (1980)). In this context, "courts have generally attempted to protect confidential business information from unnecessary airing." H.P. Hood & Sons, Inc., 58 F.T.C. 1184, 1188 (1961).

Six factors are weighed in determining whether the documents in question are sufficiently sensitive and material that disclosure would result in serious competitive injury:

- (1) the extent to which the information is known outside of the applicant's business;
- (2) the extent to which the information is known by employees and others involved in the applicant's business; (3) the extent of measures taken by the applicant to guard the secrecy of the information; (4) the value of the information to the applicant and its competitors; (5) the amount of effort or money expended by the applicant in developing the information; and (6) the ease or difficulty with which the information could be properly acquired or duplicated by others.

Dura Lube, 1999 F.T.C. LEXIS 255 at *6-*7 (quoting Bristol-Myers Co., 90 F.T.C. 455, 456 (1977)).

A. United Has Preserved the Confidentiality of the Documents and Information in Question.

United has taken substantial measures to guard the information contained in the documents identified above by limiting dissemination of such information and taking reasonable steps to protect its confidentiality. Lobe Declaration, ¶ 2.³ Such information is only disclosed to particular United employees. Id. The information is not known outside of United, except to the extent necessary to engage in contract negotiations, and it would be extremely difficult for United's competitors (e.g., Aetna, Blue Cross/Blue Shield, Cigna, etc.), those healthcare providers in which United negotiates contracts with (e.g., Rockford Memorial, OSF, Swedish American, etc.) and other outside persons to access or duplicate the information contained in the documents and testimony identified in Charts A, B and C. Id. These efforts demonstrate that United has gone through great lengths to preserve the confidentiality of this information and such information should not be disclosed publically, especially where United is not a party to this action.

B. Disclosure of the Information Contained in the Documents in Question Would Result in Serious Competitive Injury to United.

As set forth above, the documents for which United seeks in camera protection are grouped into three categories: (1) membership/product/proprietary information; (2)

³ The Declaration of Michelle M. Lobe in Support of Non-Party UnitedHealthGroup Incorporated's Motion for In Camera Treatment of Proposed Evidence is attached hereto as Exhibit C.

PUBLIC VERSION

pricing/financial information; and (3) contracts/contract negotiations/contracting strategy. As explained below, disclosure of this information would cause serious competitive injury to United.

1. Membership/Product/Proprietary Information.

Chart A identifies those documents which contain information relating to United's customer groups, membership, product offerings and product performance. Lobe Declaration, ¶ 3. The information contained in these documents is compiled by United and is not generally available to the public. Id. Public dissemination of this information would result in competitive injury to United in that competitors may use this information to reduce United's market share and to potentially target United's customers (especially those more profitable customers or employer groups) and contracted healthcare providers. Id. Accordingly, the documents identified in Chart A should be afforded in camera treatment.

2. Pricing and Financial Information.

Chart B identifies those documents which contain United's highly confidential and commercially sensitive information regarding pricing and financial information, and how United compiles and analyzes such information in its business and contract negotiations. Lobe Declaration, ¶ 4. These documents reveal sensitive information regarding the manner in which United negotiates rates and contracts with providers and how United analyzes such information to gain a competitive advantage. Id. This information could be used by United's competitors for their own advantage in targeting United's contracted healthcare providers and analyzing the manner in which United sets its contract rates. Id. Additionally, this information could be used by healthcare providers to gain an advantage during contract negotiations with United (and other payors for that matter) and potentially drive up reimbursement amounts. Id. Disclosure of this information could result in serious damage to United's competitive advantage in the marketplace vis-à-vis competitors and healthcare providers. Id.

3. Contracts, Contract Negotiations and Contracting Strategy.

Chart C identifies various contracts, contract appendices and contract amendments, as well as communications relating to contract negotiations. Lobe Declaration, ¶ 5. The contracts, appendices, amendments and communications reveal sensitive information regarding United's negotiations and agreements with various healthcare providers. Id. The contracts themselves contain specific compensation schedules that identify the rates United pays to healthcare providers for services. Id. All of this information is highly confidential and commercially sensitive. Id. The disclosure of this information would reveal valuable information regarding the way that United negotiates contracts and determines rates for physician services, processes that United has expended numerous hours and many years to develop. Id. This information could be used by healthcare providers during contract negotiations to increase reimbursement rates under any potential contract. Id. Additionally, this information could be used by United's competitors for their own advantage by targeting United's contracted providers and analyzing the manner in which United determines its rates. Id. United's efforts to negotiate and analyze rates have allowed it to gain a competitive advantage in the marketplace and to better service its insureds and employer groups. Id. If this information were disclosed publically, it would result in serious damage United's competitive advantage in the marketplace. Id.

C. The Public Interest in Disclosure of the Documents in Question is Outweighed by the Likelihood of Serious Competitive Harm to United.

As a non-party to this matter, United deserves "special solicitude" in its request for in camera treatment of its confidential business information. In the Matter of Kaiser Aluminum & Chemical Corp., 103 F.T.C. 500, 500 (1984) (order directing in camera treatment for five-year-old sales statistics of non-parties). In camera treatment of information encourages non-parties to cooperate with future discovery requests in adjudicative proceedings. Id. United has cooperated with the discovery demands in this case, has produced over 30,000 pages of documents and Ms. Lobe has been deposed three times in connection with the proposed merger at issue. Conversely, “public understanding of this proceeding does not depend on access to” United’s highly confidential information. Id. The balance of interests clearly favors in camera protection for the documents and deposition testimony identified in this motion. See Bristol, 90 F.T.C. at 456 (describing six-factor test for determining secrecy and materiality).

D. In Camera Protection for the Documents Identified in Chart A Should Extend For 5 Years and In Camera Protection for the Documents Identified in Charts B and C Should Extend Indefinitely.

The nature of the confidential information contained in the documents identified in Chart A warrants protection. Accordingly, United requests that the documents identified in Chart A be afforded in camera protection for a period of five years.

The nature of the highly confidential and commercially sensitive information contained in the documents identified in Charts B and C warrants indefinite in camera treatment. Indefinite in camera treatment may be granted where the competitive sensitivity or the proprietary value of the information will not diminish with the passage of time. In re Coca Cola Co., 1990 FTC LEXIS 364 (Oct. 17, 1990). Unlike ordinary business records, such as business plans, marketing plans, or sales documents, which often receive in camera treatment for shortened periods of time, the information contained in the documents identified in Charts B and C is extremely sensitive and of such enduring significant proprietary value to United’s competitive position and business strategy that its value will not diminish with the passage of time. Accordingly, United respectfully requests that the documents identified in Charts B and C be afforded indefinite in camera protection.

PUBLIC VERSION

II. CONCLUSION

Under the Federal Trade Commission's Rules of Practice and relevant FTC precedent, in camera treatment of the documents identified in Charts A, B and C is warranted. These documents are both secret and material to a major component of United's business. Accordingly, United requests that the documents identified in Chart A be afforded in camera treatment for a period of 5 years and that the documents identified in Charts B and C be afforded indefinite in camera treatment.⁴

Re: In the Matter of OSF Healthcare System and Rockford Health System, Docket No. 9349

Dear Mr. Papadopoulos:

By this letter we are providing formal notice to UnitedHealthcare of Illinois, pursuant to Rule 3.45(b) of the Commission's Rules of Practice, 16 C.F.R. § 3.45(b), that Complaint Counsel intends to offer the material referenced in Attachment A into evidence in the administrative trial in the above-captioned matter. For your convenience, I have attached the material referenced in Attachment A. The administrative trial is scheduled to begin on April 17, 2012. All exhibits admitted into evidence become part of the public record unless in camera status is granted by Administrative Law Judge D. Michael Chappell.

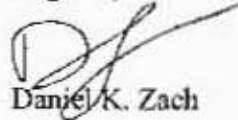

For documents or testimony that include sensitive or confidential information that you do not want on the public record, you must file a motion seeking in camera status or other confidentiality protections pursuant to 16 C.F.R. §§ 3.45 and 4.10(g). Judge Chappell may order that materials, whether admitted or rejected as evidence, be placed in camera only after finding that their public disclosure will likely result in a clearly defined, serious injury to the person, partnership, or corporation requesting in camera treatment. For example, judges have granted in camera motions after non-parties to a proceeding demonstrated that public disclosure of commercially sensitive information would expose them to serious competitive disadvantage; that they had taken and continued to take measures to guard the secrecy of the information; and that the documents at issue had not been widely disseminated.

Motions for in camera treatment for evidence to be introduced at trial must meet the standards set forth in 16 C.F.R. § 3.45 and explained in In re Dura Lube Corp., 1999 FTC LEXIS 255 (Dec. 23, 1999); In re Hoechst Marion Roussel, Inc., 2000 FTC LEXIS 157 (Nov.

22, 2000) and 2000 FTC LEXIS 138 (Sept. 19, 2000); In re Basic Research, Inc., 2006 FTC LEXIS 14 (Jan. 25, 2006). Motions also must be supported by a declaration or affidavit by a person qualified to explain the confidential nature of the material. In re North Texas Specialty Physicians, 2004 FTC LEXIS 66 (April 23, 2004). For your convenience, I have provided two examples of third-party motions (and their accompanying declarations or affidavits) for in camera treatment that were filed and granted in a recent FTC administrative proceeding.

Please be aware that under the current Scheduling Order dated December 20, 2011, the deadline for filing motions seeking in camera status is March 20, 2012. If you have any questions, please feel free to contact me at (202) 326-2118 or at dzach@ftc.gov or Sarah Swain at (202) 326-2639 or at sswain@ftc.gov. Thank you.

Regards,

DECLARATION OF MICHELLE M. LOBE IN SUPPORT OF NON-PARTY
UNITEDHEALTH GROUP INCORPORATED'S MOTION FOR IN CAMERA
TREATMENT OF PROPOSED EVIDENCE

I, Michelle M. Lobe, declare as follows:

1. I am currently Regional Vice-President for Network Management for UnitedHealthcare of Illinois, Inc. In my position, I am responsible for managing the contracting team for all of the physicians, hospitals, and ancillary contracts for UnitedHealthcare in the 16 markets throughout the central United States. I have been in this position for five years.

2. UnitedHealthcare has taken substantial measures to safeguard the information contained in the documents identified in Charts A, B and C (attached hereto as Exhibit A) by limiting dissemination of such information and by taking reasonable steps to protect its confidentiality. The information contained in the documents identified in Charts A, B and C is disclosed only to particular UnitedHealthcare employees, and is not generally known outside of UnitedHealthcare except to the extent necessary to engage in contract negotiations. The information contained in the documents identified in Charts A, B and C would be extremely difficult for UnitedHealthcare's competitors, healthcare providers and any other third parties.

3. Chart A identifies those documents which contain information relating to UnitedHealthcare's customer groups, membership, product offerings and product performance.

The information contained in these documents is compiled by UnitedHealthcare and is not generally available to the public. Public dissemination of this information would result in competitive injury to United in that competitors may use this information to reduce United's market share and to potentially poach United's customers (especially those more profitable customers or employer groups).

4. Chart B identifies those documents which contain United's highly confidential and commercially sensitive information regarding UnitedHealthcare pricing and financial information with regard to its contracts with healthcare providers, and how UnitedHealthcare compiles and analyzes such information. These documents reveal sensitive information regarding the manner in which United negotiates rates and contracts with providers and how UnitedHealthcare analyzes such information to gain a competitive advantage. This information could be used by UnitedHealthcare's competitors for their own advantage in targeting UnitedHealthcare's contracted providers and analyzing the manner in which United sets its contract rates. Additionally, this information could be used by healthcare providers to gain an advantage during contract negotiations with UnitedHealthcare and potentially drive up reimbursement amounts. Disclosure of this information could result in serious damage to UnitedHealthcare's competitive advantage in the marketplace vis-à-vis its competition and healthcare providers.

5. Chart C identifies various contracts, contract appendices and contract amendments as well as communications relating to contract negotiations. The contracts, appendices, amendments and communications reveal sensitive information regarding UnitedHealthcare's contract negotiations and agreements with various healthcare providers. The contracts themselves contain specific compensation schedules that identify the rates

UnitedHealthcare pays to healthcare providers for services. All of this information is highly confidential and commercially sensitive. The disclosure of this information would reveal valuable insight regarding the way that UnitedHealthcare prepares contracting strategy, negotiates contracts and determines rates for physician services, processes that UnitedHealthcare has expended numerous hours and many years to develop. This information could be used by healthcare providers during contract negotiations to increase reimbursement rates under any potential contract. Additionally, this information could be used by UnitedHealthcare's competitors for their own advantage by targeting UnitedHealthcare's contracted providers and analyzing the manner in which UnitedHealthcare determines its rates. UnitedHealthcare's efforts to negotiate and analyze rates have allowed it to gain a competitive advantage in the marketplace and to better service its customers. If this information were disclosed publically, it could result in serious damage UnitedHealthcare's competitive advantage in the marketplace.

I declare under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct.

Michelle M. Lobe

Signed this 19 day of March 2012.
