I'm honestly addicted, I have it on an automatic renewal 6 I've lost almost 40 freaking pounds with @teamiblends 30 day detoxand this was before I was committed to working out and eating healthier! I used to struggle with different weightloss techniques and nothing ever seemed to work for my body. I was so bloated after I ate, I was sluggish and believe me, I really tried everything. Mary K. Engle Associate Director

April 23, 2018

Ms. Adi Halevy Co-Founder and CEO Teami, LLC 10801 Endeavour Way Seminole, FL 33777

Dear Ms. Halevy:

The Federal Trade Commission is the nation's consumer protection agency. As part of our consumer protection mission, we work to educate marketers about their responsibilities under truth-in-advertising laws and standards, including the FTC's Endorsement Guides.¹

I am writing regarding the four attached Instagram posts endorsing Teami Blends products. In a post showing Jessica Carroll holding a mug with an open package of your Matcha Mi product in front of her, she writes,

I love you matcha ♥ I might be late to the whole Matcha thing but this latte has officially replaced my morning coffee! ☐ It's an antioxidant powerhouse with incredible health benefits!

- ✓ Weight loss
- ✓ Long-lasting energy
- ✓ Detoxes the body ✓ & Tastes amazing!²

In a post showing Camelia Katoozian holding a Teami Tea Tumbler, she writes

Drinking my @TeamiBlends every morning to help boost my metabolism! I've noticed that I'm a lot more energized in the mornings and I feel like my body is being cleansed from all the toxins! I would recommend this drink to anyone who is trying to detox and live a healthier lifestyle.³

¹ The Endorsement Guides are published in 16 C.F.R. Part 255.

² This post is available at www.instagram.com/p/BZC2a9WF51U/?hl=en&taken-by=jesscarrolltv.

³ This post is available at www.instagram.com/p/BYbjNMgjfye/?hl=en&taken-by=cameliakatoozian.

Ms. Adi Halevy April 23, 2018 Page 2

In a post by Rochelle Williams Brann, she shows herself holding a Teami Tea Tumbler and writes,

Truth? #MomLife ain't easy. Anyone else develop a coffee addiction? I was nearing 3-4 cups a day (③). Terrible sleep, terrible energy, terrible appetite, definite wake up call! After a month of switching to @teamiblends "Focus" tea — I'm off the sauce and feeling SO much better. It increases mental clarity and focus without headaches, jitters or an energy crash.⁴

Finally, in a post by Lisa Rinna, which appears to have been deleted, she showed herself holding a Teami Tea Tumbler and wrote, "It's been over a year and I'm still going strong with my @teamiblends detox tea! I'm headed out somewhere and their tumbler is so convenient to just grab and go."

The FTC's Endorsement Guides state that if there is a "material connection" between an endorser and the marketer of a product – in other words, a connection that might affect the weight or credibility that consumers give the endorsement – that connection should be clearly and conspicuously disclosed, unless the connection is already clear from the context of the communication containing the endorsement. Examples of material connections include a business, family, or personal relationship; monetary payment; or the provision of free products or services to the endorser.

It is unclear as to whether your company has a business relationship with Ms. Carroll, and it appears that you do or did have business relationships with Ms. Katoozian, Ms. Brann, and Ms. Rinna. Your material connections to any endorsers should be clearly and conspicuously disclosed in their endorsements. To make a disclosure both "clear" and "conspicuous," the endorsers should use unambiguous language and make their disclosures stand out. Both Ms. Brann and Ms. Rinna wrote "#thankyouteami." A simple "thank you" is likely inadequate to inform consumers of a material connection because it does not sufficiently explain the nature of the relationship; consumers could understand "thank you" simply to mean that an endorser is a satisfied customer. In addition, consumers should be able to notice the disclosure easily, and not have to look for it. For example, consumers viewing posts in their Instagram streams on mobile devices typically see only the first three lines of a longer post unless they click "more," and many consumers may not click "more." Ms. Katoozian discloses "#Ad" on 13th line of her post and Ms. Rinna discloses "#teamipartner" on the 8th line of her post. ("#teami partner" would be a more readable hashtag.) Your endorsers should disclose any material connection above the "more" button. Finally, disclosures placed with multiple tags, hashtags, or links are inadequate because readers may just skip over them, especially where they appear at the end of a long post.

If your company has a written social media policy that addresses the disclosure of material connections by endorsers, you may want to evaluate how it applies to the attached posts and to similar posts by other endorsers. If your company does not have such a policy, you may want to consider implementing one that provides appropriate guidance to your endorsers.

You may also want to review your company's social media marketing to ensure that posts contain necessary disclosures and they are clear and conspicuous. To assist you, I have enclosed the Endorsement Guides and a recent staff publication, The FTC Endorsement Guides: What People are Asking. (They're available online at business.ftc.gov.)

Please note that our review of the enclosed posts was limited to the adequacy of the disclosure of material connections. We did not attempt to determine whether the posts might be deceptive in other respects. It is your responsibility to ensure that advertisements for your products comply with the FTC Act; for example, you must ensure that all express or reasonably implied product performance claims, including health benefit claims, are truthful and supported by adequate substantiation. More information about how to comply with the laws and rules the FTC enforces may be found at business.ftc.gov.

If you have any questions, please contact Michael Ostheimer at (202) 326-2699 or mostheimer@ftc.gov. Thank you.

Very truly yours,

Mary K. Engle
