REPORT AND RECOMMENDATION ON FIRST AMENDED EX PARTE TEMPORARY RESTRAINING ORDER WITH ASSET
FREEZE, OTHER EQUITABLE RELIEF, AND ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE WHY A PRELIMINARY INJUNCTION SHOULD NOT ISSUE (ECF No. 15)

Plaintiff, the Federal Trade Commission (“FTC”), has filed its Complaint for Permanent Injunction and Other Equitable Relief pursuant to Section 13(b) of the Federal Trade Commission Act (“FTC Act”), 15 U.S.C. § 53(b) (Docket No. 1), and has moved, pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 65(b), for an ex parte temporary restraining order, asset freeze, other equitable relief, and an order to show cause why a preliminary injunction should not issue against Thomas Dluca, individually and also doing business as Bitcoin Funding Team and My7Network; Louis Gatto, individually and also doing business as Bitcoin Funding Team and My7Network; Eric Pinkston, individually and also doing business as Bitcoin Funding Team and My7Network; and Scott Chandler, individually and also doing business as Bitcoin Funding Team and JetCoin (collectively, “Defendants”). (Docket No. 15.)

FINDINGS OF FACT

The Court, having considered the Complaint, the ex parte motion for a Temporary Restraining Order, declarations, exhibits, and memorandum of points and authorities filed in support thereof, and being otherwise advised, finds that:

A. This Court has jurisdiction over the subject matter of this case, and there is good cause to believe that it will have jurisdiction over all parties hereto and that venue in this district is proper.

B. Section 13(b) of the FTC Act, 15 U.S.C. § 53(b)(2), authorizes this Court to grant the FTC a preliminary injunction upon a showing that, weighing the equities and considering the FTC's ultimate likelihood of success, a preliminary injunction is in the public interest.

C. "Unlike private litigants, the FTC need not demonstrate irreparable injury in order to obtain injunctive relief." FTC v. IAB Mktg. Assocs., LP, 746 F.3d 1228, 1232 (11th Cir. 2014). When a district court balances the public interest against a private interest, the public interest should receive greater weight. FTC v. World Travel Vacation Brokers, 861 F.2d 1020, 1030 (7th Cir. 1988); FTC v. USA Beverages, Inc., 2005 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 39075, at *15 (S.D. Fla. 2005).

D. A proper balance of the equities in this matter favors the FTC. Based upon the audio and video recordings, website screen shots, website captures, consumer declarations, investigator declarations, and expert declaration, and other evidence submitted by the FTC, there is good cause to believe that:

1. Defendants are violating and, unless enjoined by this Court, will continue to violate Section 5(a) of the FTC Act;

2. Consumers nationwide have suffered and, unless enjoined by this Court, will continue to suffer harm, including economic injury, as a result of Defendants' violations of Section 5(a) of the FTC Act;

3. Defendants have received and, unless enjoined by this Court, will continue to receive ill-gotten gains as a result of their violations of Section 5(a) of the FTC Act; and

4. The private interests of Defendants do not outweigh the public interest in enjoining future law violations, protecting assets or documents, or preserving the Court's ability to award effective full and final relief.

E. The FTC has shown a likelihood that it will ultimately succeed on the merits.

Based upon the audio and video recordings, website screen shots, website captures, consumer declarations, investigator declarations, expert declaration, and other evidence submitted by the FTC, there is good cause to believe that Defendants Dluca, Gatto, Pinkston, and Chandler have engaged in and are likely to engage in acts or practices that violate Section 5(a) of the FTC Act by:

1. falsely representing to consumers that Bitcoin Funding Team and/or My7Network were bona fide money-making opportunities, when, in fact, these programs were chain referral schemes; and

2. falsely representing that participants in the Bitcoin Funding Team, My7Network, or JetCoin purported money-making schemes were likely to earn substantial income.

F. This Court finds that the public interest is served by:

1. Enjoining deceptive or unfair acts or practices that violate the law;

2. Maintaining the status quo over assets and business documents relating to Defendants' alleged law violations until a fair and impartial hearing may be held; and

3. Preserving the Court's ability to award full and effective final relief at trial or other disposition of this matter.

G. The Federal Rules of Civil Procedure permit this Court to issue an ex parte temporary restraining order where specific facts clearly show a likelihood that immediate and irreparable injury, loss, or damage will result if notice is provided. Fed. R. Civ. P. 65(b)(1). Irreparable injury may be presumed in a statutory law enforcement action. "No specific or immediate showing of the precise way in which violation of the law will result in a public harm is required." United States v. Odessa Union Warehouse Co-op, 833 F.2d 172, 175 (9th Cir. 1987). Nonetheless, this Court finds that Plaintiff has shown that Defendants are likely to dissipate assets and destroy business documents, which would cause immediate and irreparable injury, loss, or damage to this Court's ability to award effective final relief at trial or other disposition of this matter. In making this determination, the Court relies upon the following:

1. In the FTC's law enforcement experience, defendants who receive notice of the filing of an action by the FTC often attempt to immediately dissipate assets or destroy documents. FTC counsel has provided, in his Fed. R. Civ. P. 65(b)(1)(B) declaration, a number of examples of defendants who have or have attempted to interfere with the Court's ability to award full and effective final relief by dissipating assets or destroying documents. Such conduct is likely in cases such as this, where Defendants have generated millions of dollars using business practices permeated by deception;

2. The use of cryptocurrency in the programs promoted by Defendants poses a heightened risk of asset dissipation. Bitcoin and other cryptocurrencies are circulated through a decentralized computer network, without relying on traditional banking institutions or other clearinghouses. This independence from traditional custodians makes it difficult for law enforcement to trace or freeze cryptocurrencies in the event of fraud or theft; and

3. Defendants claim that the schemes they have promoted have expanded into dozens of countries. If Defendants were provided notice of this action, it would be a simple matter for them to transfer their bitcoin or other cryptocurrency to unidentified recipients outside the traditional banking system, including contacts in foreign countries, and effectively put it beyond the reach of this Court.

H. The FTC has established that it is likely to succeed in proving that Defendants collectively have engaged in a course of conduct to deceive consumers nationwide out of millions of dollars. The same factors that justify issuance of relief on an ex parte basis also establish that an asset freeze and other equitable relief are appropriate.

I. Because the balance of the equities tips in the FTC's favor, the FTC is likely to ultimately succeed on the merits of its complaint, and immediate and irreparable harm, including the dissipation of assets and destruction of documents, is probable absent immediate injunctive relief, this Court finds that an ex parte temporary restraining order with an asset freeze and other equitable relief is warranted and in the public interest.

J. This Court has authority to issue this Order pursuant to Section 13(b) of the FTC Act, 15 U.S.C. § 53(b); Fed. R. Civ. P. 65; and the All Writs Act, 28 U.S.C. § 1651.

K. Under Fed. R. Civ. P. 65(c), no security is required of any agency of the United States for issuance of a temporary restraining order.

Based upon the foregoing, it is hereby RECOMMENDED that the Honorable Michael K. Moore enter the following Order:
