Statement of the Federal Trade Commission on the Proposed Repeal of the Care Labeling Rule

July 21, 2021

On July 23, 2020, the Federal Trade Commission published a proposal to repeal the Care Labeling Rule, which gives families information on how to properly care for apparel and other goods. There was little support for the repeal of the rule. The Commission will continue to consider ways to improve the Care Labeling Rule, but has determined it will not finalize the repeal as proposed.
