28

1 formulated, directed, controlled, had the authority to control, or participated in the
2 acts and practices of the Corporate Defendants that constitute the common
3 enterprise.

4 COMMERCE

6 21. At all times material to this Complaint, Universal City Nissan, Kia of 7 Downtown, Glendale Nissan, Mercedes-Benz of Valencia, West Covina Toyota,
8 West Covina Nissan, Covina Chevrolet, Sage Pre-Owned, Sage Hyundai, Sage
9 Holding, Sage Management, Joseph Schrage, Leonard Schrage, and Michael
10 Schrage (collectively “Defendants”) have maintained a substantial course of trade
11 in or affecting commerce, as “commerce” is defined in Section 4 of the FTC Act,
12 15 U.S.C. § 44.
14
15

16 DEFENDANTS’ BUSINESS PRACTICES

17 22. Since at least 2010, Defendants have deceptively advertised offers to 18 purchase, finance, and lease vehicles and have engaged in deceptive and unfair
19 practices relating to the lease, sale, and financing of vehicles and add-on products 20 or services.

23 23. Defendants have advertised in English, Spanish, and other languages,
24 making enticing claims about key terms, such as low sales prices, low monthly
25 payment amounts, and low down payment amounts. Defendants have frequently 26 misrepresented these claims and have hidden additional material terms that have 27 significantly qualified or contradicted the prominently advertised terms. In some 28

1 instances, Defendants have only provided these additional terms in English, even
2 when the advertisements otherwise have been presented in another language.

3 24. Defendants also have subjected consumers, particularly non-English
4 speakers and individuals with poor credit, to deceptive, misleading, and unfair
5 practices when offering add-on products and services or when arranging financing.

7 25. In numerous instances, Defendants have packed additional charges for 8 products and services, known as add-ons (“add-on products”) into the amount 9 financed without consumers’ informed consent or after deceptively claiming that 10 such add-on products are required as a condition of the purchase or financing of 11 the vehicle or will improve consumers’ chances of obtaining financing.
12

13 26. Even after consumers have signed a contract and driven the vehicles
14 off Defendants’ lots, Defendants have used deceptive and unfair tactics to pressure
15 consumers to agree to different financing terms or have otherwise refused to honor
16 the contract. Such tactics are often known as “yo-yo practices.”
17

18 27. Defendants have received numerous negative reviews on online
19 websites complaining about Defendants’ deceptive and unfair practices. In 20 numerous instances, Defendants and Defendants’ employees have posted positive,
21 five-star reviews of the dealerships on these websites that deceptively purport to be
22 objective or independent.
23
24
25
26

27 Deceptive Advertising

28 28. Defendants have disseminated or caused to be disseminated

1 advertisements promoting the purchase, finance, or lease of vehicles.

2 29. Defendants' advertisements, in numerous instances, have targeted
3 consumers with poor credit or consumers who may have difficulty obtaining
4 financing. For example, Defendants have advertised the following claims:

10 30. Defendants have offered motor vehicles for purchase, finance, or lease
11 in television, radio, print, text messaging, and online advertisements in English,
12 Spanish, and other languages. Defendants' advertisement have made prominent 13 claims about key attractive terms, such as low sales prices, low monthly payment
14 amounts, or low down payment amounts. In numerous instances, these 15 advertisements conceal or omit other material terms, such as with miniscule fine
16 print or with cursory, inconspicuous disclaimers.
17
18
19

20 31. For example, Defendant Universal City Nissan ran newspaper
21 advertisements that prominently offered a 2012 Nissan Versa for $38 down and 22 $38 per month, in both English and Spanish:
23

5 32. The fine print at the bottom of the ad reads:

6 2012 Versa Hatchback 4 Door Automatic – Selling Price $16,910 doc fee 80.00 Acquisition Fee $595 License $210
7 gross Cap cost $17,505. $2695 Due at signing. MSRP $17,755. Residual $10,118.10. Mileage per year 12,000. Term of
8 lease 36 months. Advanced payment $195.34. Upfront charge $508.94. Initial Payment $2695.00. $38 payment for the 9 first 6 months. Payment goes to $179.62 for the balance of the lease term. One at this price. Model #11412 VIN#285174.

10 2012 Versa Hatchback. 4 Puertas, Automatico. Precio de venta $16,901, proceso de documentos $80.00, cuota de
11 adquisicion, $695, licencia $210. Costo bruto CAP $17,505. $2695 al momento de firmar. MSRP $17,755, Residual
12 $10,118.10. Millago por año 12,000. Termino de arrendamiento 36 meses, Adelanto $195.34. Cargo por adelantado
13 $508.94. Pago inicial $2695.00, $38 pago por los primeros 6 meses. Pago sube a $179.62 por el balance del termino del
14 arrendamiento. Uno a este precio. Modelo # 11412 Vin #314749

15 33. Thus, consumers cannot pay only the “$38 down” that is prominently
16 stated. They must pay $2,695 at signing, which is substantially more than the 17 “$38” stated at the top of the advertisements.

18 34. Similarly, consumers cannot pay only $38 per month. Rather, the $38
19 payment is limited to the first 6 months. A consumer must pay $179.62 per month
20 for the remaining 30 months.

21 35. The advertisement additionally does not clearly disclose whether the 22 offer is for the purchase or lease of a motor vehicle. The fine print reveals that the 23 offer is for the lease of a motor vehicle.

24 36. Similarly, an advertisement for Kia of Downtown purported to offer
25 to sell a 2012 Kia Rio for $36 down and $36 a month:
26
27
28

5 37. However, a disclaimer in extremely fine print, literally hidden in the 6 weeds, revealed that the apparent sales offer was actually a lease offer. Moreover,
7 the low payment “down” was, in fact, only part of more than $1700 “due at start of 8 lease.” The low payment “per month” was actually a payment that escalates after 9 six months to $183 per month.

12 38. Defendant Mercedes Benz of Valencia ran an advertisement with 13 similar prominent terms of a $55 down payment and $55 monthly payments:
14

16
17
18 39. Defendant Mercedes Benz of Valencia only reveals in fine print that 19 the consumer must pay “tax, license, and dealer document fees” in addition to the 20 $55 and that the monthly payment increases after 6 months depending on the 21 purchase price of the motor vehicle:

24 *$55.00 total down + tax, license and dealer document fees, no security deposit. $55 is also the monthly payment due plus tax for the first 6 months. Payment
25 increases based on purchase price of vehicle after the initial 6 month period. Difference in payments to be made by dealer for first 6 months. On approved credit.
26 Must have 740 beacon score or better to qualify.

27 40. Defendant West Covina Nissan mailed consumers an advertisement
28 with similar prominent terms of a $55 down payment and $55 monthly payments:

5 41. In fact, the offer is for a lease, $2,654 is due to “drive-off” the vehicle,
6 and the monthly payment is more than $302 after six months. These facts are 7 buried in fine print at the bottom of the advertisement.

10 42. Similarly, an advertisement from Defendant West Covina Toyota
11 purported to offer a Toyota Tacoma for a $55 down payment and $55 monthly
12 payment:
13

14
15
16
17
18 43. In fact, $654 is due to “drive-off” the vehicle, and the monthly
19 payment after six months is more than $354. These facts are buried in fine print at 20 the bottom of the advertisement.
21
22

24 44. Defendant Glendale Nissan placed Spanish-language radio
25 advertisements promoting key attractive terms contradicted by late and 26 inconspicuous disclaimers. For example, in an advertisement broadcast on Los 27 Angeles-area Univision station 101.9 FM, Glendale Nissan claimed to offer Nissan
28

1 Altimas for sale at $0 down or $169 per month. Glendale Nissan presented these 2 terms near the beginning of the 90-second radio spot and reiterated them near the 3 close of the advertisement. Glendale Nissan only revealed in the last sentence of 4 the advertisement that the offer is really for a lease rather than a sale, and that
5 instead of $0 down, a consumer would have to pay $3,999 to acquire the vehicle.

7 45. Defendant Covina Chevrolet has advertised various vehicles for sale
8 or financing at discounted prices, including, but not limited to, on its website,
9 covinachevrolet.com, and on Facebook. For example, Defendant has touted a 2015
10 Chevy Equinox for purchase at $18,488 or for lease at $79 per month.

19 46. In this and other advertisements, Defendant has not included
20 additional required information, such as the total amount due prior to or at 21 consummation or by delivery, or the timing of the monthly payments.

23 47. Defendant Covina Chevrolet also has referred the consumer to “See 24 Details.” The “See Details” link on either the website or the Facebook post has not 25 disclosed any additional material terms of the offer.
26

27 48. Additionally, in numerous instances, Defendants have advertised
28 prominent terms that are not generally available to consumers. In numerous

1 instances, the advertised prominent terms are subject to various qualifications or
2 restrictions. Such qualifications or restrictions have included, for example, being a
3 current General Motors vehicle owner or lessee, being a college graduate, having
4 certain credit scores, or financing with specified banks. In numerous instances,
5 even if consumers meet all of the qualifications or restrictions, they cannot obtain
6 the advertised discount and price.

9 49. For example, Defendant Covina Chevrolet has advertised a 2015
10 Chevrolet Camaro LS for lease at $89 per month.

13
14
15
16 50. However, the advertised monthly payment is not generally available
17 to consumers. Instead, the advertised monthly payment is subject to various 18 qualifications and restrictions. One such qualification or restriction includes being 19 a current General Motors vehicle owner or lessee.

22 51. In some instances, Defendants have made enticing claims about key
23 terms in other languages, such as Spanish, but have hidden additional material
24 terms in English.

19
20
21
22
23
24
25
26
27
28

52. For example, Defendant Universal City Nissan has run a Spanish television advertisement promoting a 2014 Nissan Altima for lease at “$99 AL MES” ($99 per month):

53. Defendant Universal City Nissan has included an English disclaimer in extremely fine print in the Spanish advertisement. The English disclaimer has indicated that the low monthly payment is subject to various qualifications and restrictions, including a college graduate discount, and a 740 credit score, and a 5-year credit history. The advertised monthly payment is subject to various qualifications and restrictions, including a college graduate discount, a 740 credit score, and a 5-year credit history. Thus, the advertised monthly payment is not generally available to consumers.

54. In numerous instances, Defendants’ advertisements also have represented that “We can pay off your trade-in even if you owe on a loan or lease”:

1 58. In numerous instances, Defendants have selected and preprinted add-
2 on products on the sales and financing forms, such as the F&I product menus, pre-3 contract disclosures, and the contract, before discussing or presenting them to the 4 consumer.

6 Defendants' Deceptive and Unfair Practices Relating to Add-On Products

7 59. In numerous instances, Defendants have charged consumers for add-
8 on products that the consumers did not authorize. Multiple consumers, for 9 example, have complained that Defendant Covina Chevrolet included a VIN
10 etching fee in their contract that they did not authorize. Another consumer
11 complained that Universal City Nissan added a $3,400 service warranty to the 12 amount that he financed for the purchase of a vehicle. The dealership did not tell 13 the consumer about the warranty, and the consumer did not want to purchase it.
14 Other consumers have reported that Defendants charged them for add-on products
15 that the consumers had rejected.
16
18

20 60. Information about the add-on products is often included in a stack of 21 of lengthy, complex, highly technical documents presented at the close of a long 22 financing process after an already lengthy process of selecting a car and 23 negotiating over its price. Consumers report that Defendants' employees, in 24 numerous instances, have rushed consumers through the closing process and have 25 simply indicated to consumers where to sign. In some cases, Defendants have 26 obtained consumer signatures purporting to indicate assent to purchase add-on 27
28

1 products even though consumers did not, in fact, authorize the purchase. For
2 instance, a third-party audit found that Defendant Kia of Downtown required
3 consumers to sign for GAP and service contracts regardless of whether the 4 consumers were actually purchasing the add-on products. The third-party audit
5 also found that other dealerships were having consumers sign blank documents.

7 61. In numerous other instances, Defendants have told consumers that
8 they would not be charged the cost of the add-on products. For example,
9 Defendant West Covina Nissan promised one consumer two years of free oil
10 changes and tire rotations if she purchased the vehicle. West Covina Nissan,
11 however, charged the consumer $1,000 for the maintenance agreement. Similarly,
12 Defendant Universal City Nissan offered another consumer two years of free oil
13 changes, telling her that the dealership had no more room to negotiate the car's
14 price but would include this maintenance agreement for free. Universal City
15 Nissan charged the consumer $1,825 for the maintenance agreement.

20 62. In numerous instances, Defendants have told consumers that they
21 could cancel the add-on products within a specified time for a refund. In numerous 22 instances where consumers have tried to cancel, Defendants have failed to process
23 the paperwork or have claimed to have lost the paperwork, resulting in delayed
24 cancellations or lower refund payments.

27 63. In numerous instances, Defendants have deceptively claimed that the 28 purchase of an add-on product, such as GAP insurance or a service contract, is a

1 condition of the purchase or financing of the vehicle or will improve the
2 consumer's chances of obtaining financing. For example, Glendale Nissan had
3 offered one consumer a contract with a 5.05% APR, instead of 11.99%, but had 4 represented that the financing company required her to purchase a warranty to 5 receive the lower APR. In reality, the financing company had not required the 6 warranty. In October 2015, one customer complained that Defendant Covina
7 Chevrolet represented that he was required to purchase GAP to obtain better
8 financing while another customer complained that Defendant Covina Chevrolet
9 told him that he was required to buy a $900 protection plan to purchase the vehicle.
10
12

13 64. Indeed, the former General Manager for Defendants Universal City
14 Nissan and Glendale Nissan has stated that the dealerships "improperly charged
15 customers for warranties on automobile transactions in which they were not legally
16 entitled to charge and receive monies from the customers for such guarantees."
17

19 Background on Assigning Financing

20 65. Dealers frequently offer financing to consumers looking to purchase a 21 vehicle. As part of this process, dealers extend financing terms, including the 22 amount financed, term, and annual percentage rate (APR), to the consumer as part
23 of same transaction as the vehicle purchase. Although the dealer is the creditor on 24 the financing contract, dealers typically do not service the contract and instead seek 25 to assign the contract to a third party, such as a bank, finance company, or credit
26 union (collectively, "finance company"). In such circumstances, dealers typically 27
28

1 attempt to offer financing terms to the consumer that the finance company would
2 accept.

3 66. Dealers that engage in this type of lending may allow a consumer to 4 take possession of a vehicle before the financing is assigned. When third-party
5 financing is not secured, consumers have options: if a dealer does not assign the 6 contract, a dealer may be obligated to service the contract or to notify the consumer
7 that the deal is cancelled or unwound. A dealer may then ask the consumer to 8 return the vehicle in exchange for return of the consumer's down payment, trade-in 9 vehicle, or any other consideration provided by the consumer. Under these 10 circumstances, a consumer is not required to sign a new contract.
13

14 Defendants' Unlawful Practices Relating to Assigning Financing

15
16 67. Even after consumers have signed a contract and driven the vehicles
17 off Defendants' lots, Defendants have used deceptive and unfair tactics to pressure
18 consumers who have financed through Defendants to agree to different financing
19 terms or have otherwise refused to honor the contract.
20

21 68. Here, Defendants have engaged in lending, touting their ability to 22 obtain financing for consumers with poor credit or consumers who may have 23 difficulty obtaining financing. Defendant West Covina Nissan has claimed that it
24 "specialize(s) in bad credit and high risk auto loans." Defendant Glendale Nissan 25 has represented that "years of relationship building with the banks," allows them to 26 get consumers "the best financing" and to save consumers' time and "hard earned
27
28

1 money.” Instead of negotiating terms a third party financing company would
2 accept, however, Defendants Glendale Nissan and Universal City Nissan have
3 admitted that their dealerships have “approved deals to customers with risky credit
4 before bank financing had been secured in order to increase their sales numbers. . .
5 . knowing that the dealership was not going to be able to secure bank financing on 6 the offered terms.”

9 69. In many instances, when Defendants have failed to assign financing, 10 instead of providing consumers accurate and truthful information about the deal or 11 abiding by the terms of the contract, Defendants have engaged in “yo-yo tactics” to 12 deceptively or unfairly induce consumers who have signed contracts and driven off
13 the lots with the vehicles to sign new contracts and pay a higher interest rate, make 14 an additional down payment, or agree to other terms that differ materially from the 15 original terms to which the consumer agreed. In some such instances, Defendants
16 have represented to consumers that they must sign the new contract. In fact, there 17 is no legal or other requirement that consumers sign a new contract when 18 Defendants have failed to assign financing on the terms to which the consumer
19 agreed in the original contract.
20
21
22
23

24 70. In other instances where Defendants have not assigned financing and 25 have sent notice cancelling the deal, Defendants have represented that they are not 26 required to return any consideration provided by the consumer, including any 27 down payment or trade-in vehicle when the consumer has followed up on the 28

1 demand to return the vehicle. In fact, Defendants legally are required to return
2 consideration provided by the consumer when consumers have sought to return the
3 vehicle in response to Defendants' demand. Additionally, fine print in Defendants'
4 contract provides that Defendants may cancel the contract if they are unable to 5 assign financing, but to do so, Defendants must give the consumer written or actual 6 notice within 10 days of the initial contract date. The contract also provides that if
7 Defendants cancel the contract, they "must give back. . . all consideration
8 received," including any trade-in motor vehicle. In numerous instances, however,
9 Defendants have refused to return the consumer's down payment or trade-in 10 vehicle promptly or at all.
13

14 71. In numerous other instances where a consumer has requested
15 compliance with the terms of the valid, binding contract or has refused Defendants'
16 unlawful demands to sign a new contract or to return the vehicle, Defendants have 17 refused to comply with the contract. Instead, Defendants have falsely represented 18 that consumers will be liable for legal action, including lawsuits, repossession, or 19 criminal arrest for a stolen vehicle.
20
21
22

23 72. In certain instances where consumers had valid, binding contracts,
24 Defendants actually have had consumers' vehicles repossessed. In such instances,
25 consumers have been deprived of vital medications or other belongings.
26
27
28

Deceptive Consumer Reviews

2 73. Defendants have received numerous negative reviews on third-party
3 online review and social media websites, such as Facebook, Google+, and Yelp,
4 complaining about their deceptive and unfair practices.

6 74. Defendants have used a third-party reputation management company
7 to monitor and manage social media and online reviews. As part of its monitoring
8 services for Defendants, the reputation management company typically has 9 notified Defendants, including the general managers of the dealerships, when 10 consumer reviews are posted online. The reputation management company also 11 generally has posted a standard response to consumer reviews and, in numerous 12 instances, has requested approval or has sought guidance on responding to reviews.
13 In numerous instances, Defendants Joseph Schrage or Michael Schrage have been 14 copied on or forwarded these communications.
15

18 75. The reputation management company found in a 2015 consumer
19 survey that 50 percent of those surveyed “ranked review sites as the most
20 influential dealership selection tool” and that 66 percent of car buyers “look at star
21 ratings in search results even if they don’t click through to read the reviews.”

24 76. In numerous instances, Defendants and their employees or agents
25 have posted positive, five-star reviews of the dealerships on these third-party 26 online review and social media websites that purport to be objective or 27 independent. For example, at least thirteen of Kia of Downtown’s five-star
28

1 Facebook reviews and five of Sage Hyundai's five-star Facebook reviews have
2 been posted by Defendants or Defendants' employees or agents.

3 77. Similarly, following a number of negative Yelp reviews about
4 Defendant West Covina Nissan, Defendant West Covina Nissan's internet
5 manager, his wife, and another manager posted five-star reviews purporting to be 6 objective or independent. The internet manager's review asserted that a "salesman
7 told me when customers don't get there [sic] price[,] one way they want to get
8 revenge is to put a bad review to taint the reputation of the place." The internet
9 manager's wife posted a five-star review on the same day as the internet manager.
10 Her review also addressed Defendant West Covina Nissan's "many negative
11 reviews," stating "auto dealers have a bad rep and most dealers have bad yelp
12 reviews, I will not let it bother, go inn and ask for Internet department and they
13 will take a good car of you [sic]." Approximately four days later, another manager
14 posted a five-star review.

15 78. Defendants' websites also have included reviews from these third-
16 party websites, including reviews from individuals who purport to be, but are not,
17 object or independent consumers. For example, the landing page for Defendant
18 Kia of Downtown's website, www.kiaofdtla.com, has included a "Review" link
19 that opens a pop-up window of "consumer" reviews collected from ten different
20 online websites. These "consumer" reviews include reviews from an internet sales
21 employee. One of the employee's reviews has stated:

27
28

1 I would like to update my review to state that this dealership is truly
2 exceptional and I really appreciate the way they treat their clients. If
3 you have any issues you can just contact the dealership to speak to a
4 manager and they will help resolve any issue you might have. I say
5 this from experience, they are super helpful and they care about their 6 clients a lot.

VIOLATIONS OF THE FTC ACT

79. Section 5(a) of the FTC Act, 15 U.S.C. § 45(a), prohibits “unfair or deceptive acts or practices in or affecting commerce.”

80. Misrepresentations or deceptive omissions of material fact constitute deceptive acts or practices prohibited by Section 5(a) of the FTC Act.

81. Acts or practices are unfair under Section 5 of the FTC Act if they cause substantial injury to consumers that consumers cannot reasonably avoid themselves and that is not outweighed by countervailing benefits to consumers or competition. 15 U.S.C. § 45(n).

Count I:
Misrepresentations Regarding Lease, Credit, or Purchase Terms

82. In numerous instances, through the means described in Paragraphs 28-
55 Defendants have represented, directly or indirectly, expressly or by implication, that:

- (a) Consumers can finance or lease vehicles for prominently advertised monthly payment amounts;
- (b) Consumers can finance or lease vehicles for prominently advertised down payments or amounts due at signing; or

1 (c) Vehicles are generally available to consumers at prominently
2 advertised terms, such as price.

3 (d) Defendants will pay off the consumer's trade-in even if the
4 consumer owes money on the trade-in vehicle loan or lease.

6 83. In truth and in fact, in numerous instances in which Defendants have
7 made the representations set forth in Paragraph 82 of this Complaint:

9 (a) Consumers cannot finance or lease vehicles for the prominently
10 advertised monthly payment amounts. The specified monthly
11 payment amounts are limited to the first six months and 12 increase substantially thereafter.
13

14 (b) Consumers cannot finance or lease vehicles for the prominently
15 advertised down payments or amounts due at signing.
16 Consumers must pay substantially more than the prominently
17 advertised down payment amount or the amount due at signing.
18

19 (c) The vehicles are not available at the prominently advertised
20 terms, such as price, or are not generally available to consumers
21 at such terms.
22

23 (d) Defendants do not pay off the consumer's trade-in even if the 24 consumer owes money on the trade-in vehicle loan or lease.
25 Instead, Defendants include the amount owed on the trade-in 26
27
28

1 vehicle in the loan or lease for the newly purchased or leased
2 vehicle.

3 84. Therefore, the making of the representations as set forth in Paragraph
4 82 of this Complaint constitutes a deceptive act or practice in or affecting
5 commerce in violation of Section 5(a) of the FTC Act, 15 U.S.C. § 45(a).

8 Count II:
9 Misrepresentations Regarding Advertised Transaction

10 85. In numerous instances, through the means described in Paragraphs 28-
11 55 Defendants have represented, directly or indirectly, expressly or by implication,
12 that consumers can finance the purchase of vehicles for the prominently advertised
13 terms.

15 86. In truth and in fact, in numerous instances in which Defendants have
16 made the representations set forth in Paragraph 85 of this Complaint, consumers
17 cannot finance the purchase of vehicles for the prominently advertised terms. The 18 prominently advertised terms are components of lease offers and not credit offers.
19

20 87. Therefore, the making of the representations as set forth in Paragraph
21 85 of this Complaint constitutes a deceptive act or practice in or affecting
22 commerce in violation of Section 5(a) of the FTC Act, 15 U.S.C. § 45(a).
23
24

25 Count III:
26 Misrepresentations Regarding Add-On Products

27 88. In numerous instances in connection with the advertising, marketing,
28 promotion, offering for sale, or sale of vehicles or the financing of automotive

1 loans, Defendants have represented, directly or indirectly, expressly or by 2 implication, that (a) charges appearing on the contract for the purchase of the 3 vehicle are authorized by consumers, (b) consumers would not be charged the cost
4 of add-on products, or (c) add-on products are required to purchase or finance the 5 vehicle or will improve the consumer's chances of obtaining financing.

7 89. In truth and in fact, in numerous instances in which Defendants have
8 made the representation set forth in Paragraph 88 of this Complaint, (a) charges
9 appearing on the contract for the purchase of the vehicle include add-on products
10 that consumers had not authorized, (b) consumers are charged the cost of add-on 11 products, and (c) add-on products are not required to purchase or finance the 12 vehicle and will not improve the consumer's chances of obtaining financing.
13
15

16 90. Therefore, Defendants' representations as set forth in Paragraph 88 of
17 this Complaint are false or misleading and constitute deceptive acts or practices in
18 violation of Section 5(a) of the FTC Act, 15 U.S.C. § 45(a).
19

20 Count IV:
21 Unfair Practices Regarding Add-On Products

22 91. In numerous instances, Defendants have charged consumers for add-
23 on products for which consumers have not provided express, informed consent.
24

25 92. Defendant's practices as described in Paragraph 91 cause or are likely 26 to cause substantial injury to consumers that consumers themselves cannot 27 reasonably avoid and that is not outweighed by countervailing benefits to 28 consumers or competition.

2 93. Therefore, Defendants' practices as described in Paragraph 91
3 constitute unfair acts or practices in violation of Section 5 of the FTC Act, 15
4 U.S.C. §§ 45(a) and 45(n).

6 Count V:
7 Deceptive Yo-Yo Practices

8 94. In numerous instances after a consumer has signed a contract to 9 finance a vehicle, Defendants have represented, directly or indirectly, expressly or 10 by implication, that (a) the consumer is required to sign a new contract, (b)
11 Defendants are not required to return any consideration provided by the consumer, 12 including any down payment or trade-in vehicle, after demanding return of the 13 vehicle, or (c) the consumer will be liable for legal action, including lawsuits,
14 lawful repossession, criminal arrest, or debt collection if the consumer does not
15 return the vehicle.
16
17
18

19 95. In truth and in fact, in numerous instances in which Defendants have 20 made the representations set forth in Paragraph 94 of this Complaint, (a) the 21 consumer is not required to sign a new contract, (b) Defendants are required to 22 return any consideration provided by the consumer, including any down payment 23 or trade-in vehicle, after demanding return of the vehicle, and (c) the consumer will 24 not be liable for legal action, including lawsuits, lawful repossession, criminal
25 arrest, or debt collection if the consumer does not return the vehicle.
26
27
28

1 96. Therefore, Defendants' representations as set forth in Paragraph 94 of
2 this Complaint are false or misleading and constitute deceptive acts or practices in
3 violation of Section 5(a) of the FTC Act, 15 U.S.C. § 45(a).

5 Count VI:
6 Unfair Yo-Yo Practices

7 97. In numerous instances, Defendants (a) have refused to return or return
8 promptly consideration provided by the consumer, including any down payment or 9 trade-in, when Defendants have demanded return of the vehicle or (b) have or have 10 threatened to refer consumers for arrest or criminal prosecution, report the motor 11 vehicle as stolen, or repossess the motor vehicle when a consumer has requested
12 compliance with the terms of the valid, binding contract or has refused Defendants'
13 unlawful demands to sign a new contract or to return the vehicle.

16 98. Defendants' actions have caused or are likely to cause substantial 17 injury to consumers that consumers themselves cannot reasonably avoid and that is 18 not outweighed by any countervailing benefits to consumers or competition.
19

20 99. Therefore, Defendants' practices as described in Paragraph 97
21 constitute unfair acts or practices in violation of Section 5 of the FTC Act, 15
22 U.S.C. §§ 45(a) and 45(n).

24
25 Count VII
26 Deceptive Consumer Reviews

27 100. In numerous instances, through the means described in Paragraphs 73-
28 78, Defendants have represented, directly or indirectly, expressly or by

1 implication, that persons who have posted or provided reviews or other
2 information about Defendants' products and services are objective or independent.

3 101. In truth and in fact, in numerous instances in which Defendants have
4 made the representations set forth in Paragraph 100, the persons who have posted
5 or provided the reviews or other information are not objective or independent.

7 102. Therefore, the making of the representations as set forth in Paragraph
8 100 of this Complaint constitutes a deceptive act or practice in or affecting
9 commerce in violation of Section 5(a) of the FTC Act, 15 U.S.C. § 45(a).
10

11 VIOLATIONS OF THE TRUTH IN LENDING ACT AND REGULATION Z
12

13 103. Under Section 144 of the TILA and Section 226.24(d) of Regulation
14 Z, as amended, advertisements promoting closed-end credit in consumer credit
15 transactions are required to make certain disclosures ("TILA additional terms") if 16 they state any of several terms, such as the monthly payment ("TILA triggering 17 terms").

19 104. Defendants' advertisements promote closed-end credit, including but 20 not necessarily limited to those described in Paragraphs 28-55, and Defendants are 21 subject to the requirements of the TILA and Regulation Z.
22

24 Count VIII:
25 Failure to Disclose or Disclose Clearly and 26 Conspicuously Required Credit Information

27 105. Defendants' advertisements promoting closed-end credit, including,
28 but not limited to, those described in Paragraphs 28-55 have included TILA

1 triggering terms, but have failed to disclose, and/or failed to disclose clearly and
2 conspicuously, TILA additional terms required by the TILA and Regulation Z,
3 including one or more of the following:

- 4 (a) The amount or percentage of the down payment;
- 5 (b) The terms of repayment, which reflect the repayment
6 obligations over the full term of the loan, including any balloon
7 payment; and
9 (c) The “annual percentage rate,” using that term, and, if the rate
10 may be increased after consummation, that fact.

13 106. Therefore, the practices as set forth in Paragraph 105 of this
14 Complaint have violated Section 144 of the TILA, 15 U.S.C. § 1664, and Section
15 226.24(d) of Regulation Z, 12 C.F.R. §226.24(d), as amended.
16

17 VIOLATIONS OF THE CONSUMER LEASING ACT & REGULATION M

18 107. Under Section 184 of the CLA and Section 213.7 of Regulation M,
19 advertisements promoting consumer leases are required to make certain disclosures
20 (“CLA additional terms”) if they state any of several terms, such as the amount of 21 any payment (“CLA triggering terms”). 15 U.S.C. § 1667c; 12 C.F.R. § 213.7.

24 108. Defendants’ advertisements promoting consumer leases, including but
25 not necessarily limited to those described in Paragraph 107, are subject to the 26 requirements of the CLA and Regulation M.
27
28

Count IX:

Failure to Disclose or to Disclose Clearly and Conspicuously Required Lease Information

3 109. Defendants' advertisements promoting consumer leases, including but
4 not necessarily limited to those described in Paragraphs 28-55, have included CLA
5 triggering terms, but have failed to disclose or to disclose clearly and 6 conspicuously CLA additional terms required by the CLA and Regulation M,
7 including one or more of the following:

- 10 (a) That the transaction advertised is a lease;
11 (b) The total amount due prior to or at consummation or by 12 delivery, if delivery occurs after consummation;
13 (c) Whether or not a security deposit is required;
14 (d) The number, amount, and timing of scheduled payments; and 15 (e) With respect to a lease in which the liability of the consumer at 16 the end of the lease term is based on the anticipated residual 17 value of the property, that an extra charge may be imposed at 18 the end of the lease term.
19
20
21
22

23 110. Therefore, the practices as set forth in Paragraph 109 of this
24 Complaint have violated Section 184 of the CLA, 15 U.S.C. § 1667c, and Section
25 213.7 of Regulation M, 12 C.F.R. §213.7.
26

CONSUMER INJURY

27
28 111. Consumers have suffered and will continue to suffer substantial injury

1 as a result of Defendants' violations of the FTC Act, TILA, Regulation Z, the 2 CLA, and Regulation M. In addition, Defendants have been unjustly enriched as a
3 result of their unlawful acts or practices. Absent injunctive relief by this Court,
4 Defendants are likely to continue to injure consumers, reap unjust enrichment, and
5 harm the public interest.

7 THIS COURT'S POWER TO GRANT RELIEF

9 112. Section 13(b) of the FTC Act, 15 U.S.C. § 53(b), empowers this Court
10 to grant injunctive and such other relief as the Court may deem appropriate to halt
11 and redress violations of any provision of law enforced by the FTC. The Court, in 12 the exercise of its equitable jurisdiction, may award ancillary relief, including 13 rescission or reformation of contracts, restitution, the refund of monies paid, and 14 the disgorgement of ill-gotten monies, to prevent and remedy any violation of any
15 provision of law enforced by the FTC.
16

18 PRAYER FOR RELIEF

19
20 Wherefore, Plaintiff Federal Trade Commission, pursuant to Section 13(b)
21 of the FTC Act, 15 U.S.C. § 53(b), TILA and its implementing Regulation Z, 12
22 C.F.R. § 226, CLA and its implementing Regulation M, 12 C.F.R. § 213, and the 23 Court's own equitable powers, requests that the Court:
24

25 A. Award Plaintiff such preliminary injunctive and ancillary relief as 26 may be necessary to avert the likelihood of consumer injury during the pendency
27
28

1 of this action, and to preserve the possibility of effective final relief, including but
2 not limited to a temporary and preliminary injunction;

3 B. Enter a permanent injunction to prevent future violations of the FTC
4 Act, TILA, Regulation Z, the CLA, and Regulation M by Defendants;

6 C. Award such relief as the Court finds necessary to redress injury to 7 consumers resulting from Defendants' violations of the FTC Act, TILA,
8 Regulation Z, the CLA, and Regulation M, including but not limited to, rescission
9 or reformation of contracts, restitution, the refund of monies paid, and the 10 disgorgement of ill-gotten monies; and

13 D. Award Plaintiff the costs of bringing this action, as well as such other 14 and additional relief as the Court may determine to be just and proper.
