RE: Business Opportunity Rule, R511993

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

I have been a Xango distributor since April 23, 2006.

I heard about the Proposed FTC Business Opportunity Rule and believe it would hurt my business. I am a stay at home mom for 14 years and have been over the past three years thinking of working full-time or part-time outside of my home to help my family finances but I realized this would be a hardship for my family. When I found out about this home based business opportunity with Xango, I was very interested and excited because I knew that this product would make a difference for everyone. This is my first direct selling experience and with free training, coaching, and team support it has been good for my personal development and my confidence.

Xango company, its management team, the product, and compensation plans are very good and I would rate it A++. The company gives 100-percent money back guarantee up to the first 30 days on the first initial order excluding the $35.00 membership fee, shipping, and tax. After 60 days, they give back 90-percent on the first initial order. I believe, Xango is a fair company and stands behind their product.

The seven-day waiting period would have a negative impact to my business making it look like something is wrong with the product and create suspicion on me.

Thank you for your concern and understanding about the success for my business.

Sincerely,

Valoree Cramer
