Stop. Think. Connect Twitter Chat

On January 18, 2013, FTC staff participated in a Twitter Chat as part of promoting educational resources in advance of Data Privacy Day. The chat was hosted by Stop.Think.Connect campaign staff and their partners (including the FTC). Aditi Jhaveri and Nicole Vincent worked with the Office of Public Affairs to answer questions from the @FTC Twitter account.

Participants used two hashtags for the conversation: #DPD13 and #ChatSTC.

Note: These tweets only include responses from the @FTC account and are listed in order for ease of reading. Tweets in their original order and without handles redacted remain publicly available on Twitter.

FTC staff will participate in the Stop. Think. Connect. Data Privacy Day Twitter chat soon. Follow #ChatSTC at 3pm ET.

Hi, all. This is Aditi Jhaveri joining from the Division of Consumer and Business Education at the FTC. #DPD13 #ChatSTC

The FTC has resources for protecting your personal info online and off - Aditi http://go.usa.gov/4TBm DPD13 #ChatSTC

The best way to protect your kids online? Talk to them. - Aditi http://go.usa.gov/4Tk5 DPD13 #ChatSTC

▮▮▮▮▮▮▮▮ And you don't have to be a tech expert to talk to your kids about being online. - Aditi http://go.usa.gov/4TkH DPD13 #ChatSTC

Getting questions about cyberbullying from your kids? Share this video with them. - Aditi http://go.usa.gov/4Tkh DPD13 #ChatSTC

▮▮▮▮▮▮▮ Here are a few things everyone should know about #IDTheft. - Aditi http://go.usa.gov/4T8z DPD13 #ChatSTC

▮▮▮▮▮ Yes, and that includes when you get rid of an old phone or computer. - Aditi http://go.usa.gov/4T9W DPD13 #ChatSTC

▮▮▮▮▮▮▮ Some web activities can help kids B safe online. Check out http://OnGuardOnline.gov -Aditi http://go.usa.gov/4TX9 #DPD13 #ChatSTC

Thanks everyone for participating. More resources at http://consumer.ftc.gov - Aditi DPD13 #ChatSTC