Take Control Of Credit Card Debt...

Keeping finances under control these days can be harder than ever.

Facts indicate that over 400 million credit cards were in use at the end of 1996. That number has grown even more over the last year. The numbers are significant when you realize that's an average of four credit cards per household.

The fact is, debt can be difficult. Many families spend paychecks as fast as they come in, and use credit cards to make up the difference.

But times are changing... people are taking control, and you can too!

Take control. Many people are deciding to take control of their financial situation by consolidating their credit card and other debt under one account.

It's the smart thing to do, because the less debt obligations you have, the better. Why write ten minimum-payment checks every month when you could be paying off one lower-interest account?

The solution. Americans today are discovering a valuable asset in their own homes. This discovery is allowing them to consolidate their debt under one account, pay less interest, owe less money every month, and have the opportunity to deduct their interest at tax time. The solution is a home equity line of credit — a type of second mortgage that allows individuals to customize loans to their individual needs and take advantage of tax deductibility. HOME EQUITY ADVISOR

While home equity lending isn't new, there's one question about home equity that we're frequently asked . . .

Q _Exactly what is home equity and how can I find out how much I have?_

A Basically, your equity is the appraised value of your home less any outstanding mortgage balances or other liens. With a home equity line of credit from Associates Home Equity Services, you could borrow as much as 100% of your equity, putting the cash you need at your fingertips to use as you need it.

Here's a simple worksheet to help you figure out approximately how much equity you have and how much you could borrow:

1) Approximate value of your home $_____

2) Current first mortgage balance $_____

3) Total of other loans secured by your home $_____

Subtract lines 2 & 3 from line 1 $_____

This is approximately how much you could borrow.
The Smart Way To Manage Your Credit.

Why should you keep paying the high interest rates on most credit cards and other forms of credit? As a homeowner, you can lower your monthly payments, pay off those high-interest debts, get extra cash and maybe even enjoy a great tax break if you itemize your deduction.

By using the equity in your home, you can get the cash you need to pay off those debts with a home equity line of credit from Associates Home Equity Services. When you consolidate outstanding balances into one lower-rate line of credit, you'll be managing your money the smart way:

LOWER YOUR MONTHLY PAYMENT.
Consolidating your debts into one amount means your monthly payment amount will be lower, leaving more of your paycheck in your pocket. Wouldn't it be great to have cash left to use for other things? Fill out our easy-to-use home equity worksheet to find out just how much money you could borrow.

PAY LESS INTEREST.
By using your equity to secure your line of credit, you could pay a lower rate — a variable rate as low as 9.08% APR* — instead of the standard 18%, 20%, even 23% APR on credit cards and other installment loans. Why pay more?

SAVE ON TAXES.
Unlike credit cards and other personal loans, the interest you pay on a home equity credit line may be tax deductible. Of course, you should consult your tax advisor, but your savings could go on year after year.

*IMPORTANT TERMS. The Annual Percentage Rate on your account will be a variable rate that is adjusted monthly and will be equal to your margin, determined by your creditworthiness, plus the highest prime rate published in The Wall Street Journal on the first business day of the month on which the billing cycle begins. (For the most creditworthy, the margin is as low as .56%.) Based upon a prime rate of 8.5% as of February 1996, the APR may be as low as a variable rate of 9.08%, based on your creditworthiness. The lifetime maximum APR is 18%. If allowed by state law, you could pay a loan fee of up to 5% of the credit line. Closing costs can be a one-time fee averaging approximately $800. If you prefer, we may finance these charges as part of your line of credit. (A balloon payment will be due at the end of 10 years if only the minimum monthly payments are made.) The minimum monthly payment of $182 assumes a balance of $24,000 with interest at 9.08% APR payable over 120 months.
