Contests

Check out four great Girls' Life contests this month: be a star, read about boy bands or win great holiday gifts.

Meet Christina and be a star for a day.

She sings, she dances, she really annoys Eminem! Ever wish you could be with Christina Aguilera for a day? Well here's your chance! Girls' Life, Power Plant Livin', and Port Discovery: the Kid Powered Museum want you to imagine what it would be like to be the divine Miss A for a day.

What would you do? Cut a new single? Star in your next hit video? Perform at the MTV Video Awards and spend the rest of the evening in Fred Durst's limo?

Tell us in 100 to 500 words how you would spend your 24 hours in Christina's heels and your rock 'n' roll dream could come true!

If your essay is the best, we'll fly you, your guardian and two other guests to Baltimore for your own personal rock 'n' roll fantasy day, December 9, 2000. First you'll spend the afternoon letting your imagination run wild at Port Discovery, the Kid Powered Museum. Next it's off to dinner at the Hard Rock Café (Christina can't live without burgers!). Then you'll be our very special guest at the biggest concert of the season, the B102 Mistletoe Melt Down 2000. Catch Christina, Brian McKnight, BB Mak, the Baha Men and more from your primo seats. You'll even dash backstage to meet Christina herself to compare diva dish!

E-mail your essay to glcontest@girlslife.com or snail mail your essay to:
Christina Contest, c/o Girls' Life, 4517 Harford Road, Baltimore, MD 21214. Your entry must include your name, address, age and a telephone number where your parent/guardian can be reached during the day!! If your entry doesn't contain this information, your essay will not be chosen!

Please note that the information you give us will only be used to contact you in case you win. We will not use this information for any other purpose.

Exhibit A-1

11/6/2000
Entries must be received by December 1. Winner will be notified on December 2, 2000. Tickets are on sale now at all Ticketmaster outlets or at www.ticketmaster.com! Tickets are $37.50 plus service charge.

The Ultimate Watch Kit

Doesn't it stink when your watch absolutely clashes with your outfit? You were trying to be funky when you bought that apple red watch band but now that your fav sweater is bubble gum pink. What are you going to do?

Why not design your own watch? Pop Design Watch Kit, made by Wild Planet, comes with four different colored bands, four funky watch frames, 12 watch faces and 80 rub-on/rub-off designs to match any stylin' outfit.

If you want to win this kit from Wild Planet, e-mail webmaster@girls-life.com (Subject: Pop Watch Design Contest) or send in a postcard with your name and address to: Pop Design Watch Contest, c/o Girls' Life, 4517 Harford Road Baltimore, MD 21214.

Contest ends Nov. 15.

The Ultimate Boy Band Book Giveaway

A whole book on the boy bands of your dreams—'NSync, 98 Degrees, Backstreet Boys—could come to your mailbox. Ditch after-dinner TV, and read exclusive scoops with members of No Authority, Plus One, Youngstown, BBMak and little-known trivia about MDO, LFO and 5ive. Each chapter is devoted to a band, outlining their success story, their hits and info on Web sites and fan clubs. Other chapters feature up-and-coming international bands and interviews with insiders in the boy band world like Lou Perlman, founder of Continental Records and creator of the Backstreet Boys, 'NSync and LFO.

If you want to win a free Ultimate Boy Band Book for you or your BFF, e-mail webmaster@girls-life.com (Subject: Boy Band Giveaway) or snail mail a postcard with your name and mailing address to:

Boy Band Giveaway, c/o Girls' Life, 4517 Harford Road,
Baltimore, MD 21214.
Contest ends Dec. 1.

Post Pal Giveaway

Don't know what to get your friends for the holidays? Don't go postal! Send 'em a Post Pal. For a little more than a greeting card, send your BFF a plush cow, pig, cat, dog, monkey or bear. Each stuffed animal comes with a greeting card and a pre-weighted envelope. It only costs 99 cents to mail, too. Be original—instead of Christmas cards, send Fluffy the Cow. They're also great for any occasion or birthday! Check out www.postpals.com for more information.

We're giving away 30 sets of Post Pals. Who would you send a Post Pal to and why? E-mail your short answer, name and address to webmaster@girlslife.com (Subject: Post Pal Giveaway) or send to: Post Pal Giveaway, c/o Girls' Life, 4517 Harford Road, Baltimore, MD 21214. Contest ends Dec. 1.

BFF Polaroid Results

Polaroid In September, Girls' Life held the BFF Polaroid Giveaway. We had tons of responses to the contest, but only five lucky girls walked away with a brand spankin' new Polaroid Digital Camera! We received some pretty crazy and wild photos of our readers with their BFFs livin' it up over the summer. Some were splish-splashin' in the pool and others were hangin' out at home. No matter where the friendships bloomed, we have the winning pictures for you to view. Here's Kelsey's—check the rest out!

Our lucky winners are:
Morgan W., Ohio
Anne K., California
Natalie A., Maine
Tara M., England
Kelsey R., New York

Congrats, girls! Enjoy your new Polaroid!

To Be Perfect
The world is spinning, round and round
And just as it is I have found
The world is superficially unreal
And this is truly how I feel
You have to have perfect eyes.
You have to have a perfect nose.
You have to have perfect lips,
Manicured hands and pedicured toes.
But you know what?
I don't care.
The fads aren't what I always wear.
My hair isn't full of gel or spray.
And you know what? I like it that way.
I'm not perfect looking; I know that's true.
But I don't mind and neither should you.
—Erica Z., 11

The Days Pass
The days pass
Flowers bloom
birds sing
and children laugh.
The sun falls
and the moon rises.
The clouds come when the stars set.
When the clouds come,
That is when all the colors blend.
—Amber

Perfect
Maria has the perfect smile
Ann has the perfect hair
Lisa has the perfect laugh
But I don't really care.
Suzy has the perfect teeth
Tina has the perfect eyes
To some, these things are important
But beauty's not what I prize.
I've not been that kind of perfect
Right from the very start
But that's not important to me
'Cause I'm perfect in the heart.
—Anna, 11

Waiting
Three cornstalks
Dignified, withered and brown
Wait for a promised summer
Bunches of mums
Blazing in a forgotten garden
Wait for their colors to be extinguished
Green-gold vines
Laden with sweet juicy grapes
Wait to be picked bare
Raspberry bushes
Rambling and thorny
Wait for a fresh dew
A bird house
Cheery and red but empty
Waits for a family of sparrows
A child
Lost, neglected and abused
Waits in this garden for someone to notice.
—Pamela, 15

Years of My Life
I dreamt...
I was a baby,
Sitting in a playpen,
Playing with a rattle...cute
I dreamt...
I was a six-year-old,
Going into school,
Jumping up and down...excited
I dreamt...
I was sixteen,
Sitting in a car,
Driving all around... speeding
I dreamt...
I was a college student,
Sitting at a desk,
Learning physics... hopelessly
I dreamt...
I was a mother,
Standing at a curb,
Sending my children to school... anxiously.
I dreamt...
I was a grandma,
Sitting in a chair,
Going through my memories... happily.
I dreamt...
I was ninety years old,
Lying in a hospital bed,
Breathing as I failed away.
—Jennifer

My Gift
I would write your name with raindrops
Spell it out with flowers
Play a beat with crickets' feet
Whispering winds
And fluttering wings
The meadows' grass would sway
The stream would tickle the stones
The ocean tides would move in and out
It's you they would think about.
Spider webs would gleam
Blue skies would be bright
The dark would settle in
Each and every night.
The sun would rise to wake you
The birds would call your name
May nature be my gift to you
I love you just the same.
The grass, so plush under your feet
The trees would give you shade
And the clouds would sing you lullabies
So you'd dream of happy days.
May the sun's warmth never end
May the stars be bright and clear
May nature be my gift to you,
The one I love so dear.
—Allison

Oh God, why?
Oh God, why?
Why do good friends have to die?
Leaving their family and friends
For a world that never ends.
It's not fair and it's not right.
Oh God, why that night?
I never knew life could end so fast.
Her dreams would never last.
Now all we can remember is her past.
I need an answer, God, why?!
Maybe life isn't what it seems
Because maybe not all friends get their dreams.
—Lizzie, for her friend who died.

Back In Reality
I stood at the top of the mountain and prepared myself for the plunge. I looked down at the water so faraway and counted down...
3...
2...
1...
and I jumped.
Body straight, toes pointed and I hit.
My body slipped into the cool water and I felt free...
My body was left behind as if nothing could every hurt me again,
No more pain
No more sorrow.
I could feel the rush of the water around me, enclosing around my body.
I started to come up when I realized I could no longer breath.
I struggled to reach the top.
My arms felt the air, then my head.
I breathed deep as I swam to the hot sand awaiting me. As I pulled myself to land, I felt the rough surface of the rocks and sand under my feet and I realized...
I was back in reality.

Best Friends

I can count on you,
In times of despair.
You listen to me,
When I have secrets to share.
You talk to me,
With a heart full of love.
You're an angel to me,
From heaven up above.
Whenever I'm afraid,
And have nowhere to go,
You hold me in your arms,
And say you love me so.
In times of love and joy,
In times of hate and sorrow,
You'll comfort me today,
You'll comfort me tomorrow.
Whatever happens in the future, whatever happens in the end,
You will always be,
My very best, best friend.

Just a Memory

As I look around at all my friends,
I see something I didn't see before.
As I realize I might never see them again,
I begin to wonder more and more.

What if I never see them again?
What if we don't keep in touch?
I never thought of these before,
But now I think of so much.

Tears fill my eyes,
And I see I'm not the only one.
I'll remember the secrets,
The crushes and all the fun!

Even the guys look a little teary-eyed,
But they're too tough to cry.
I see the girls sticking around after the bell,
Not wanting to leave, to say good-bye.

We sign each other's yearbooks,
Promising to write and call.
Deep in our hearts, we all know,
That we'll forget, we'll slip and fall.

Soon the tissues are all gone
And parents are starting to complain
We grab our things, holding back tears,
And take one last look around in vain.

We quickly head home,
To call and write,
To flip through photos,
Deep into night.

We try so hard to remember,
But soon our memories become old news.
The names and faces slowly fade,
Becoming new and improved.

Kite

I soar through the air,
The breeze at my wings,

I carry nothing,
Only a few microscopic things,

I need no engine,
Just the wind to guide me through the sky,

To make me the fastest,
And let me pass the others, right by,

I am a colorful gem flowing steady,
The wind will tell you when I'm ready

Exhibit E-2

Nothing can get in my path,
Except for those troublesome trees

My wings hate things too heavy,
Especially those leaves

My strings will become tangled,
In a mess of knots

You won't be able to save me,
So I'll be there until the tree rots

Eventually I'll be rescued,
In a tornado for it's the only thing that can set me free

I'll be thrashed around in chaotic winds,
Not even so kind to let a little old flying thing be

My wings will be torn,
My string unsalvageable,

I'll lay on the ground,
The gentle wind the only thing cravable

But that's ok,
Because it happens to almost all of my kind

The wind takes advantage of us,
We end up in trees, and our owners leave us behind

Now we live through wild humans and winds,
Someday we'll be treated with more care

So the wind doesn't toss us out on the top of the trees,
Where we'll only tear.

Stolen Innocence

A young boy plays quietly inside,
On a pock-marked wooden floor
He sees only the world he creates.
His tiny hands bring life
To battling action figures
While outside
His innocent game is real.

Exhibit E-3
In an alley
A few blocks away
A bullet sinks, with ease,
Through the flesh of a child
Not much older than he
Behind his house, a gang meets
And trades guns,
As easily as if they were baseball cards.
Children,
Their innocence stolen.
Flash drugs like badges,
Pretend not to be afraid,
And their minds
Are torn apart as
They struggle to refuse
To become a part
Of all of this.
The boy will grow
And run in fear every day to school.
He will get a gold star on a picture he drew
With a crayon
As true as the graffiti
That coats the walls of the city.
He'll take the long way home
To avoid the violence that
Surrounds him everywhere.
He'll burst through the front door
And crash on the floor
His heart pounding
Like the beat of the blaring rap music
That wakes him up at night
Until he hears the screech of tires
And the sounds vanish.
Now he looks at the spot
Where he used to play
And wonders why it couldn't have always
Been the way it used to
When he didn't know,
And it was only plastic toys
That lay broken
At his feet.

The Loon and the Moon

The water shined with the reflection of the moon,
And across it swam a calling loon.
It let out a long and mournful cry,
As it tilted its head back to the dark, black, sky.

It cried again as I stepped outside,
To take a closer look at what I saw through my eyes.
I saw a second loon swimming near by,
And it too let out a sad-toned cry.

The two swam on now side by side,
Occasionally taking a dip or dive,
Away they swam around the bend,
Which brought this beautiful scent to an end.

Then the next year, late in June,
I saw them again, followed by eight young loon.
And I smiled, and waved as they swam away.
On that bright sunny June day.

And that night, I waited to see,
If they would again fascinate me.
And sure enough, as I gazed at the moon,
I heard the beautiful call of the loon.

To be a girl

A scientist, a doctor, a writer, a genius,
An athlete, a banker, an accountant
She is an achiever of wisdom, strength and power.
She is special in her own way.
Loud or quiet, rowdy or shy
No matter what she ends up like,
She has goals, dreams, & fears.
She has thoughts, options and choices.
It doesn't matter if she is rich or poor, pretty or plain.
She has the potential to be anything she chooses.
She is a girl.

The Girls' Life Message Boards
Check out the new and improved Girls' Life Message Boards—the advice you need could be just a click away.

CATEGORIES
Girl Stuff : Body, Beauty, Other Girl Stuff
Boys
Friends
Family

These girl-friendly boards should be safe, fun and informative for those giving and getting advice. That's why they're monitored.

We do have a couple simple RULES:

1. Your message will NOT be posted if it includes profanity, insults, general chatting or advertising.

2. Include a clear title so everyone knows what your message is about. If you just put "Help," in the subject, your message will NOT be posted. So, use 2 or 3 words to let others know exactly what you need help with. For example, if you need answers on how to buy your first bra, don't just say "Help me!!" Instead, say "Need advice on how to buy a bra." Trust us, you'll get more help!

3. Do NOT put "Please Post" on your message. It will NOT be posted if you do.

4. We're very specific about what belongs on each message board. It's really easy: If you need advice about boys, go to the "Boys" board. Messages will only be posted on the appropriate boards. Please read the suggested topics on each board.

Follow these guidelines and your message WILL be posted. It's that simple.

If you or a friend is dealing with a serious issue like abuse or severe depression, immediately refer to the RESOURCES we've provided.

There are certain topics girls are awesome at dishing out advice on—please use these boards to do so. Under each board we have recommended great topics of discussion.
There are certain topics (like divorce, eating disorders and alcoholism) that girls are great at sharing advice on. But, these issues should also be addressed with a professional: A trusted parent, relative, psychologist, school counselor or a helpful ear at a hotline. Feel free to use the boards and one of the hotlines we've listed.

There are certain topics that belong to trained experts. There are professionals who can help you and your friends in serious situations—use them! See our RESOURCES below.

Oh, and if you keep up your end of the bargain, we promise the boards will be updated every three days (at least!) Any message board problems? Just e-mail us at boardmonitor@girlslife.com

Thanks a bunch!

Need some new hairstyles for the week-end? Curious about how to apply mascara? Worried about a blemish break-out? Go to the BEAUTY board.

For all other girl-related topics go to the OTHER GIRL STUFF board. Freaked about pressure to start smoking? Think your self-esteem could use a lift? Confused about eating disorders? We think you guys can really help each other. For issues like anorexia, bulimia and depression we think you can give out some helpful advice. But, please use the RESOURCES below, too!

We will NOT post any messages that discuss pregnancy, abortion, sexual assault, STD's, or suicide because you need immediate help. You'll get the best support and advice from adult professionals. If you can't talk with a school counselor or parent, don't be scared to call on these listed resources for help. These numbers will not show up on your parent's phone bill, and 800 numbers are always free. Please get help when you need it!

Fatty 2x4
Wednesday, 16-Aug-2000 10:56:05

I'm going into the 7th grade and I had anorexia last year and I weighed 100lbs and was 5'2" and now I weigh 109 and still am 5'2" and I feel SO fat! Some days I go without eating so I can get back down there, but nothing's helping! I don't know what to do and everyone's getting on my case about not having a relapse, but that's not what's happening, I swear! I just want to be thin again and get back to a size 3. Now I wear a size 5 and I feel bad about myself for going up a size. Do you guys think I'm fat or having a relapse? Thanks to all of you who answer. You can either e-mail me or post here. Thanks again!

Privacy Policy

Like any good friend, we at Girls' Life think your private stuff should stay private. We aren't about to gossip to any third parties about personal information like your name, address, age, gender or any other identifying info.

Here is the deal on our privacy policies so that you understand what we do with your personal information. By using the www.girlslife.com site, you agree to the terms and conditions outlined below. If you do not agree to these terms and conditions, please do not use this site. If you have any questions or want to contact us, please email us at webmaster@girlslife.com.

Girls' Life Privacy Statement
We want to keep all our site visitors in a safe and happy environment. It is our intention to strictly adhere to the rules and regulations regulated by COPPA (Children's Online Privacy Protection Act) and CARU (Children's Advertising Review Unit of the Council of Better Business Bureaus) in order to protect the privacy of children online. We hope this guide will help answer your questions about being on our site.

Do I have to give you personal information to see your site?
No. We don't ask for any registration or personal information to check out our site.

Do you ever need my personal information?
We have several helpful features on our web site that require asking for personal information. These parts of our site are for use only by people over the age of 13. If you are under 13, under no circumstances should you send us any personally indentifying information.

Our subscription department allows you to order the magazine, renew your subscription, give a gift subscription and change your address. In order to process those requests, we need to have the following information: Your name, address, e-mail address. We will also ask for the name, address and birthday of the girl you are sending the magazine to. If you are renewing or changing your address, we will also ask for your customer number. This number can be found on your magazine, right above your address. You can order our book, the Girls' Life Guide to Growing Up from Girlslife.com.

You can also order other merchandise on-line through our girlslifeshop.com site. These parts of our site are for use only by people over the age of 13. If you are under 13, under no circumstances should you send us any personally identifying information.

What Does Girls' Life do with the information?
Girls' Life stores its customer information in its secure database and does NOT share this information with anyone except for our contracted partners. Once a member or parent requests that we delete this information, it is suppressed from all marketing purposes immediately. Girls' Life NEVER sells a child's name to any third parties.

Who does Girls' Life share information with?
Girls' Life shares personal information with contracted partners exclusively for the purpose of mailing Girls' Life magazine. We may also send our customers renewal notices and promotional materials. From time to time, Girls' Life does make its mailing list available to marketers who have products we feel our customers may enjoy. To opt/out of any outside mailings, please see our opt/out information below.

Hurricane Electric: This company hosts Girls' Life.com and handles all front-end interface with visitors to the site. All contracted partners of Girls' Life are contractually bound to maintain the confidentiality and security of all customer information. Hurricane does collect personal information for any of our users.

Will anyone know how I answer questions on your site? Or if I ask them?
Questions of the Week, Ask Lucky, Dear Dave, Beauty Babe and Style File:
GirlsLife.com visitors can send questions to several different experts whose wisdom we share on our web site.

We ask that all girls sign their letters with a nickname or name related to the concern (i.e. Boy Baffled, In Need of a Mascara Master, Bewildered and Confused, etc). No personally identifiable data is collected from participants through any of these features.

For Question of the Week, girls are asked to submit their answers to different types of questions. Girls' Life publishes some of the results of these in the magazine, others may be used on-line. The information is collected and published without any personal data.

GirlsLife.com visitors can take quizzes on our site. We do not collect any quiz answers provided by participants.

Girls' Life also does polls from time to time. Some of the results of these polls will be in the magazine, others may be used on-line. The information is collected and published without any personal data. No personally identifiable data is collected from participants through any of these features.
What about cyber pals, electronic postcards and e-mail services?
Girls' Life has offered links to selected outside providers for certain services like cyberpals (A Girl's World Productions, Inc.) postcards (www.all-yours.net) and e-mail (BigMailBox.com, Inc.). Please be aware that you are leaving the Girls' Life site when you participate in those services. Girls' Life is in no way liable for the practices of these companies. If you engage in any of these outside services, you agree to the terms listed by those services. Girls' Life cannot be held responsible for the conduct of these companies in regard to their privacy, advertising and content policies. Please become thoroughly familiar with the privacy policies of these sites and adhere to all their guidelines. We offer these links as a service to our readers. In no way do we endorse their practices or policies. GirlsLife.com also contains hyperlinks to other websites operated by parties other than us. We do not control their websites and are not responsible for their contents.

Security
The importance of security for all personally identifiable information associated with our users is of great concern to us. Financial information is transmitted from your computer to our server utilizing encryption software. Only those employees who need access to our users' information in order to do their jobs are allowed access. Any employee who violates our privacy and/or security policies is subject to termination and civil and/or criminal prosecution.

Terms
Here is all the legal mumbo-jumbo that keeps us from being sued and our lawyer in expensive suits. Don't fall asleep reading this, you're agreeing to it by being part of our site!
