Lil' Romeo's about to perform at a local school, but body-snatching aliens have other plans!

When the action stops, help Lil' Romeo outsmart the evil Mazumians by mouse-clicking on various "hot" objects found on the screen. This will help move the story along, and as you go, you'll be able to solve math and history questions, and even make a clone of Romeo that you can control with a two-way wireless device.

The screenshot shows a website layout with a dark background. At the top right, there are navigation links: "FAN CLUB" and "> Send This Site To A Friend!". Below these is a large graphic featuring a character in a dark, possibly futuristic or industrial setting. The text "THE ROMEO FILES" is visible in a stylized font. At the bottom of the graphic area, there is a prominent button that says "Play the Romeo Files". The overall aesthetic is dark and thematic, consistent with the game's title.

Thanks for signing up to get info on this artist. It means a lot to us! You may have seen some reports on the news lately about the web and how there are a lot of people asking kids for their name and email address. Some of these people don't use the info for what they say they will and there are now some laws in place to make sure stuff like that doesn't happen anymore.

Since you are under 13 we have to let your parent know that you signed up for this list. We know -- total downer -- but it's really going to help keep the web a safe place for people to hang out.

Please enter your parent's email address below and we'll send them an email just to let them know you've signed up. If they are cool with it you are set to go and will begin receiving all the news and contest information on this band!
