

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Stephen P. Leoni
State of New Jersey

Dear Mr. Leoni:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Mel Ashton
State of Utah

Dear Mr. Ashton:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Alwin Farr
State of Washington

Dear Mr. Farr:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Bob Shadix
State of Texas

Dear Mr. Shadix:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Robert S. Radus
State of California

Dear Mr. Radus:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Roger Byrd
State of Louisiana

Dear Mr. Byrd:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Deanne Acuna
State of California

Dear Ms. Acuna:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Andrea Orozco
State of Colorado

Dear Ms. Orozco:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Fred Ritz
State of California

Dear Mr. Ritz:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Alexander Toia
State of New Jersey

Dear Mr. Toia:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Darcy Fossum
State of North Dakota

Dear Mr. Fossum:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Larry Amaker
State of North Carolina

Dear Mr. Amaker:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Theodore Swift
Commonwealth of Virginia

Dear Mr. Swift:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Matthew Garrison
State of Missouri

Dear Mr. Garrison:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Nicholas Sastavano
State of California

Dear Mr. Sastavano:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Allan Wilcox
State of Arizona

Dear Mr. Wilcox :

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. William A. Anderson II
State of Georgia

Dear Mr. Anderson:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Sherri Anderson
State of Georgia

Dear Ms. Anderson:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Andrew Saucedo
State of California

Dear Mr. Saucedo:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Pamela Angelo
State of California

Dear Ms. Angelo:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Becky Altringer.
State of California

Dear Ms. Altringer:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. John W. R. MacIntire Jr.
State of Arizona

Dear Mr. MacIntire:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Richard Tieplinsky
State of Arizona

Dear Mr. Tieplinsky:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Ty Larkin
State of Florida

Dear Mr. Larkin:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Joseph Biondo
State of New York

Dear Mr. Biondo:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Kent Breeze
State of California

Dear Mr. Breeze:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Francis Ritter
State of California

Dear Mr. Ritter:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Darwin Wisdom
State of California

Dear Mr. Wisdom:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Rex Bartholme

Dear Mr. Bartholme:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. John Fox
State of New York

Dear Mr. Fox:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Marianne O'Keefe
State of California

Dear Ms. O'Keefe:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. John Blackburn
State of California

Dear Mr. Blackburn:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Viki Childs
State of South Carolina

Dear Ms. Childs:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Jeff Ellis
State of Texas

Dear Mr. Ellis:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Lisa Erdrich
State of Texas

Dear Mr. Erdrich:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Julius Bombet
State of Louisiana

Dear Mr. Bombet:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Steven Wachtel
State of California

Dear Mr. Wachtel:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Linn Scalzo
State of Florida

Dear Ms. Scalzo:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. James Olsen
State of Texas

Dear Mr. Olsen:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Eugene Ferraro
State of Colorado

Dear Mr. Ferraro:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Jim Zimmer
State of California

Dear Mr. Zimmer:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Luke Patterson
State of California

Dear Mr. Patterson:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Robert Garcia
State of Louisiana

Dear Mr. Garcia:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Central Intelligence
State of Maine

To whom it may concern:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Terry Gilbeau
State of California

Dear Mr. Gilbeau:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Deborah Cody
State of California

Dear Ms. Cody:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Mark Murnan
State of Florida

Dear Mr. Murnan:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. James Kirby
State of Washington

Dear Mr. Kirby:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. James Magdeleno
State of California

Dear Mr. Magdeleno:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Marian Crozier
State of Florida

Dear Ms. Crozier:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Cynthia Erdelyi
State of California

Dear Ms. Erdelyi:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Daniel Jones
State of South Carolina

Dear Mr. Jones:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. David Smothers
State of California

Dear Mr. Smothers:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. George Day
State of Louisiana

Dear Mr. Day:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. David Williams
State of California

Dear Mr. Williams:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Nancy Gillis
State of Florida

Dear Ms. Gillis:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Gary Hoffman
State of California

Dear Mr. Hoffman:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Jason DeWitt
State of California

Dear Mr. DeWitt:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Dana Young
State of Arizona

Dear Ms. Young:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Tammy Davidson
State of California

Dear Ms. Davidson:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Edward W. Brown
State of Georgia

Dear Mr. Brown:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Edmund Oasa
State of California

Dear Mr. Oasa:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Steven Kirby
State of Illinois

Dear Mr. Kirby:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Jonathan Girard
State of Nevada

Dear Mr. Girard:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Dan Larsen
State of Nebraska

Dear Mr. Larsen:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Luis Rosado III
State of Florida

Dear Mr. Rosado:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Anne Cawood
State of California

Dear Ms. Cawood:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Forrest Farmer
State of Tennessee

Dear Mr. Farmer:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Scott Filley
State of California

Dear Mr. Filley:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Alison Blakeslee
State of Florida

Dear Ms: Blakeslee:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Michael Frame
State of California

Dear Mr. Frame:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Fred Waters
State of California

Dear Mr. Waters:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Gary Bartolotti
State of California

Dear Mr. Bartolotti:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Jennifer Mulhearn
State of Florida

Dear Ms. Mulheran:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Minnie Sue Moyer
State of Florida

Dear Ms. Moyer:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Michael Gerdeau
State of Oregon

Dear Mr. Gerdeau:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Nancy Barber
State of California

Dear Ms. Barber:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Harriet Gold
State of Georgia

Dear Ms. Gold:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Richard Miller
State of California

Dear Mr. Miller:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Mark Gravel
State of Louisiana

Dear Mr. Gravel:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Trish DeVore-Gray
State of California

Dear Ms. DeVore-Gray:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Joseph Cabrejos
State of Hawaii

Dear Mr. Cabrejos:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Ellis H. Armistead
State of Minnesota

Dear Mr. Armistead:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Leonard Bacani
State of California

Dear Mr. Bacani:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Jordan Ulery
State of New Hampshire

Dear Mr. Ulery:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Ronda Godard
State of Utah

Dear Ms. Godard:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Kris Cantil
State of Utah

Dear Ms. Cantil:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Nicole Bocra
Commonwealth of Virginia

Dear Ms. Bocra:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Stephanie Pappas
State of California

Dear Ms. Pappas:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Paul Dryman
State of California

Dear Mr. Dryman:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Candice Tal
State of California

Dear Ms. Tal:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. William Lamb
State of Illinois

Dear Mr. Lamb:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Ronald DeCaro
State of California

Dear Mr. DeCaro:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Michael Ferrari
State of California

Dear Mr. Ferrari:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Virginia Speed Christian
State of California

Dear Ms. Christian:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Barbara Burr
State of California

Dear Ms. Burr:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. James Carino Jr.
Commonwealth of Pennsylvania

Dear Mr. Carino:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Kenneth Landry
State of Louisiana

Dear Mr. Landry:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. George Memolo
State of Georgia

Dear Mr. Memolo:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Larry Zilloux
Commonwealth of Virginia

Dear Mr. Zilloux:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Patricia Shaughnessy
State of Arizona

Dear Ms. Shaughnessy:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Anthony DiVirgilio
State of Colorado

Dear Mr. DiVirgilio:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Jennifer Brown
State of Colorado

Dear Ms. Brown:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. John Eppick
State of Missouri

Dear Mr. Eppick:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. John Talagains
State of California

Dear Mr. Talagains:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Robert Jakucs
State of California

Dear Mr. Jakucs:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Jean Kyles
State of California

Dear Mr. Kyles:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. John Nobriga
State of California

Dear Mr. Nobriga:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Joseph Memolo
State of Georgia

Dear Mr. Memolo:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Ric Cawood
Commonwealth of Kentucky

Dear Mr. Cawood:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Sheila Klopper
State of California

Dear Ms. Klopper:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Mimi Kochuba
State of California

Dear Ms. Kochuba:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Lori Galvin

Dear Ms. Galvin:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Eddy McClain
State of Louisiana

Dear Mr. McClain:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Lee McClain
State of Louisiana

Dear Mr. McClain:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Lynn Levy
State of Maryland

Dear Ms. Levy:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Anne La Jeunesse
State of California

Dear Ms. La Jeunesse

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Linda Montgomery
State of Washington

Dear Ms. Montgomery:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Edward Lopez
State of California

Dear Mr. Lopez:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Roger Schmedlen

Dear Mr. Schmedlen

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Robert Garcia
State of Louisiana

Dear Mr. Garcia:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Denise Savastano
State of California

Dear Ms. Savastano:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Alexander Randall
State of California

Dear Mr. Randall:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Lawanda Lyons-Pruitt
State of California

Dear Ms. Lyons-Pruitt:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. John MacIntire
State of Arizona

Dear Mr. MacIntire:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Jennifer Maghinay
State of Oregon

Dear Ms. Maghinay:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Carrie Kerskie
State of Florida

Dear Ms. Kerskie:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Kathy Morris
State of Maryland

Dear Ms. Morris:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Francine McDermott
State of California

Dear Ms. McDermott:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Michele McGarraugh
State of California

Dear Ms. McGarraugh:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Brian McGuinness
State of Florida

Dear Mr. McGuinness:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Rory McMahon
State of Florida

Dear Mr. McMahon:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Michael Martin
State of California

Dear Mr. Martin:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Peter Psarouthakis
State of Michigan

Dear Mr. Psarouthakis:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Mike Moore
State of Minnesota

Dear Mr. Moore:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Monte Beers
State of California

Dear Mr. Beers:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Robert Montgomery
State of California

Dear Mr. Montgomery:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Andi Murphy
State of Arizona

Dear Ms. Murphy:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Terry Wright
State of Utah

Dear Mr. Wright:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Norene Fambrini-Rusteen
State of California

Dear Ms. Fambrini-Rusteen:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Bruce Hodge
State of Florida

Dear Mr. Hodge:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Francie Koehler
State of California

Dear Ms. Koehler:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Bruce Hulme

Dear Mr. Hulme:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Cliff Goldsmith
State of New Jersey

Dear Mr. Goldsmith:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Jimmie Mesis
State of New Jersey

Dear Mr. Mesis:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Ryan Johnston
State of Colorado

Dear Mr. Johnston:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Nancy Pemberton
State of California

Dear Ms. Pemberton:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Richard Payton
Commonwealth of Pennsylvania

Dear Mr. Payton:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Daniel Conroy
State of Iowa

Dear Mr. Conroy:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Anthony Perrin
State of California

Dear Mr. Perrin:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Rosemarie Mesis

Dear Ms. Mesis:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Gene Cella
State of California

Dear Mr. Cella:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Dale N. Dorning
State of Ohio

Dear Mr. Dorning:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Teresa Vila
State of Florida

Dear Ms. Vila:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Anita Mason
State of Georgia

Dear Ms. Mason:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Kris Cantil
State of Utah

Dear Ms. Cantil:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Susan Wakeman
State of Washington

Dear Ms. Wakeman:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Stanley Morgan
State of California

Dear Mr. Morgan:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Notty Bumbo
State of California

Dear Mr. Bumbo:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Gary Brummond
State of California

Dear Mr. Brummond:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Randy Ontiveros
State of California

Dear Mr. Ontiveros:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. David W. Lott
State of Texas

Dear Mr. Lott:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Gerald Rounbehler
State of South Carolina

Dear Mr. Rounbehler:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Randy Ontiveros
State of California

Dear Mr. Ontiveros:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Rich Ramirez
State of California

Dear Mr. Ramirez:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Richard L. Barnes and Associates
State of California

To whom it may concern:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Robert Nagle
State of California

Dear Mr. Nagle:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Dan Brake
State of California

Dear Mr. Brake:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Eric Wall
State of Florida

Dear Mr. Wall:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Raymond Moore
State of California

Dear Mr. Moore:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Michael Myers
State of Utah

Dear Mr. Myers:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Scott Brydon
State of Maine

Dear Mr. Brydon:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. John Schwenk
State of Florida

Dear Mr. Schwenk:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Steve Sessler
State of Florida

Dear Mr. Sessler:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Vicki Siedow
State of California

Dear Ms. Siedow:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Thomas Nixon
State of California

Dear Mr. Nixon:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Montie Rasure
State of Georgia

Dear Mr. Rasure:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. John Hullar
State of California

Dear Mr. Hullar:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. David Warkentine
State of California

Dear Mr. Warkentine:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Jeff Stearman
State of California

Dear Mr. Stearman:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Stephen Craig
State of Florida

Dear Mr. Craig:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Mary Ann Carmazzi
State of California

Dear Ms. Carmazzi:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Jeremiah Scott
State of California

Dear Mr. Scott:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Steven Stansbury
State of Florida

Dear Mr. Stansbury:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Sherrie Lacy
State of Texas

Dear Ms. Lacy:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Jeff Crawford
State of California

Dear Mr. Crawford:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Scott J. Stys
State of California

Dear Mr. Stys:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Nancy Swaim
State of California

Dear Ms. Swaim:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Thomas Taylor
State of California

Dear Mr. Taylor:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Tom Taylor
State of California

Dear Mr. Taylor:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Edward Torres
State of California

Dear Mr. Torres:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Jamison Travis
State of Texas

Dear Mr. Travis:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Cookie Schwartz
State of California

Dear Ms. Schwartz:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Russ Andrews
State of California

Dear Mr. Andrews:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Donald Thorn
State of California

Dear Mr. Thorn:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Jordan Ulrich
State of New Hampshire

Dear Mr. Ulrich:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Suzi Vasylionis
State of California

Dear Ms. Vasylionis:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Rick Vigil
State of California

Dear Mr. Vigil:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Maria Vinson Landry
State of Louisiana

Dear Ms. Vinson Landry:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Wayne Bullen
State of Michigan

Dear Mr. Bullen:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Wm. Robert Wall
State of Colorado

Dear Mr. Wall:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. David Wallace
State of California

Dear Mr. Wallace:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Lisa Wallace
State of California

Dear Ms. Wallace:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Jeffery Wells
State of California

Dear Mr. Wells:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Bryan Littlejohn
State of California

Dear Mr. Littlejohn:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Mr. Gregory Caldwell
State of Florida

Dear Mr. Caldwell:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Elizabeth Wilkel
State of Vermont

Dear Ms. Wilkel:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Wendy York
State of California

Dear Ms. York:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary

Office of the Secretary

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20580

June 1, 2009

Ms. Dana Miller
State of Texas

Dear Ms. Miller:

Re: In the Matter of Reed Elsevier NV, a corporation; Reed Elsevier PLC, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Group plc, a public limited company; Reed Elsevier Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Inc., a corporation; ChoicePoint Services Inc., a corporation; and ChoicePoint Government Services LLC, a limited liability company, File No. 081-0133

Thank you for your comments regarding the proposed consent order accepted by the Federal Trade Commission for public comment in the above-captioned matter. In your letter, you expressed concern that Reed Elsevier's acquisition of ChoicePoint will harm consumers of electronic public records other than law enforcement customers. The Commission has reviewed your comments in connection with its decision concerning whether to accord final approval to the proposed consent order and has also placed your comments on the public record.

After careful consideration of your comments, the Commission has determined that the public interest would be best served by issuing the Decision and Order in final form without modification. We note, however, that the consent order maintains competition in non-law enforcement markets by requiring the divestiture of assets related to ChoicePoint's CLEAR electronic public records services to Thompson Reuters Legal Inc. ("West"). Under the terms of the consent order, West obtained the rights to sell CLEAR to all customers, including those in the insurance, private investigation, and background screening markets.

A copy of the final Decision and Order, and copies of other relevant materials, can be reviewed on the Commission Website, at <http://www.ftc.gov/os/caselist/0810133/index.shtm>.

It helps the Commission's analysis to hear from a variety of sources in its work on antitrust and consumer protection issues, and we appreciate your interest in this matter.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark
Secretary