COMPLAINT FOR PERMANENT INJUNCTION AND OTHER
EQUITABLE RELIEF

Complaint

1 Plaintiff, the Federal Trade Commission (“FTC”), for its Complaint alleges:

2 1. The FTC brings this action under Section 13(b) of the Federal Trade Commission 3 Act (“FTC Act”), 15 U.S.C. § 53(b), to obtain permanent injunctive relief, rescission or 4 reformation of contracts, restitution, the refund of monies paid, disgorgement of ill-gotten 5 monies, and other equitable relief for Defendants’ acts or practices in violation of Section 5(a) of 6 the FTC Act, 15 U.S.C. § 45(a).

7 JURISDICTION AND VENUE

8 2. This Court has subject matter jurisdiction pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 1331, 1337(a), 9 and 1345, and 15 U.S.C. §§ 45(a) and 53(b).

10 3. Venue is proper in this District under 28 U.S.C. §§ 1391(b) and (c), and 15 U.S.C.
11 § 53(b) .

12 INTRADISTRICT ASSIGNMENT

13 4. Defendant Swish Marketing, Inc. (“Swish”) has its primary place of business in 14 the County of Santa Clara.

15 PLAINTIFF

16 5. The FTC is an independent agency of the United States Government created by 17 statute. 15 U.S.C. §§ 41 58. The FTC is charged, inter alia, with enforcement of Section 5(a) 18 of the FTC Act, 15 U.S.C. § 45(a), which prohibits unfair and deceptive acts or practices in or 19 affecting commerce.

20 6. The FTC is authorized to initiate federal district court proceedings, by its own 21 attorneys, to enjoin violations of the FTC Act and to secure such equitable relief as may be 22 appropriate in each case, including restitution and disgorgement. 15 U.S.C. § 53(b).

23 DEFENDANTS

24 7. Defendant Swish is a Delaware corporation with its principal place of business at 25 555 Bryant Street, No. 349, Palo Alto, CA 94301. Swish transacts or has transacted business in 26 this District and throughout the United States. At all times material to this Complaint, acting 27 alone or in concert with others, Swish has advertised and/or marketed prepaid debit cards to 28 consumers throughout the United States.

1 2007 to about August 2007, VirtualWorks marketed a Visa-brand prepaid debit card, called the 2 EverPrivate Card, for an enrollment fee ranging from $49.95 to $54.95. Hereinafter, the Secret 3 Cash Card and the EverPrivate Card are referred to collectively as the EverPrivate Card.

4 13. The EverPrivate Card was touted as a debit card that could be used to shop online 5 without anyone else knowing. It came with a zero balance and could be loaded with cash at 6 designated locations.

7 14. VirtualWorks marketed its EverPrivate Card primarily through marketing 8 affiliates. These entities marketed the EverPrivate Card and referred customers or potential 9 customers to VirtualWorks. These affiliates typically displayed an offer for the EverPrivate 10 Card on websites that market short-term, or “payday,” loan services.

11 15. During the period in which VirtualWorks marketed the EverPrivate Card, 12 Defendant Swish was VirtualWorks’ highest yielding marketing affiliate.

13 16. Defendants operated numerous payday loan websites that displayed offers for the 14 EverPrivate Card, including but not limited to the websites containing the webpages attached as 15 Exhibits A, B, and C.

16 17. Defendants operated numerous websites whose homepages were materially 17 similar to the one depicted in Exhibit A. These homepages, which featured an application form 18 for a payday loan, conveyed the general message that the consumer, in completing the 19 application form, was merely applying for a payday loan, as opposed to purchasing any good or 20 service. For example, in numerous instances, these homepages contained the following 21 attributes:

- 22 a. The headlines on the homepage contained various statements in large, bolded font 23 about payday loans, such as the available loan amounts and possible uses for the 24 loan, and contained no reference to the EverPrivate Card or to any product or 25 service other than the payday loan matching service.
- 26 b. The homepage displayed a fillable loan application form that required, among 27 other things, a consumer’s bank name, bank routing number, and bank account 28 number.

- 1 c. The homepage contained no statement suggesting that there were any charges 2 associated with submitting the payday loan application.
- 3 d. The homepage contained no reference to the EverPrivate Card or to any product 4 or service other than the payday loan matching service.
- 5 e. Below the application form, the homepage displayed a submit button, with a label 6 in bold, prominent type, such as, “Get matched for your payday loan!”

7 18. In numerous instances, consumers who clicked on the submit button referred to in 8 Paragraph 17e were taken to a webpage materially similar to the webpage depicted in Exhibit B, 9 which displayed offers for several products or services unrelated to the loan. The webpage 10 conveyed that these offers were not linked to the loan application process and could be bypassed 11 without consequence. For example, in numerous instances, these webpages contained the 12 following attributes:

- 13 a. At the top of the webpage a headline in large, bolded text read, “Before you get 14 your loan, check out the limited time offers below!”
- 15 b. At the bottom of the page, a prominent submit button appeared. It contained 16 large, bolded text, with a label such as, “Finish matching me with a payday 17 loan provider!”
- 18 c. Sandwiched between the two prominent statements described in Paragraph 18a 19 and Paragraph 18b, this webpage displayed four boxes arranged in a two-by-two 20 grid. The grid contained four offers e.g., a credit repair kit, a free color printer, 21 the EverPrivate Card, and an auto loan quote and each had tiny “Yes” and “No” 22 option buttons, commonly referred to as “radio buttons.”
- 23 d. One of the four boxes displayed an offer for the EverPrivate Card. The 24 EverPrivate Card offer contained 15 17 lines of fine print disclosures that 25 appeared below the “Yes”/“No” radio buttons. This text was approximately 26 two-thirds the size of the bolded text of the headline described in Paragraph 18a 27 and of the submit button described in Paragraph 18b. The first six sentences of 28 text touted the features of the EverPrivate Card. The seventh, and second to the 1 last, sentence of the EverPrivate Card description read, “You hereby authorize 2 EverPrivate Card [Secret Cash Card] to debit your bank account for the one time

3 enrollment fee of [$39.95 $54.95].” The fee amount was not highlighted or 4 otherwise made prominent. The phrase “You hereby authorize EverPrivate Card 5 [Secret Cash Card]” appeared in all capitals, but shared the same font, color, and 6 prominence as the rest of the fine print disclosures.

- 7 g. In numerous instances, three of the four offerings including the first one on the 8 top left (e.g., credit repair) the “No” radio button was pre-clicked. However, 9 the EverPrivate Card offer, with no commentary or special notice, was pre-10 clicked “Yes.”

11 19. In numerous instances, consumers clicked on the submit button referred to in 12 Paragraph 18b without affirmatively clicking the “No” radio button above the EverPrivate Card 13 offer referred to in Paragraph 18d. In such instances, Defendants transferred to VirtualWorks 14 certain information that those consumers had provided on the loan application form, and that 15 information was used to debit, or attempt to debit, from those consumers’ bank accounts, 16 between $39.95 and $54.95. VirtualWorks agreed to pay Defendants $13 to $15 for each such 17 transaction.

18 20. At least two of Defendants’ websites had homepages that were materially similar 19 to the one depicted in Exhibit C. These homepages characterized the EverPrivate Card as a 20 “bonus” that comes with the payday loan. For example, in numerous instances, these homepages 21 contained the following attributes:

- 22 a. This statement appeared as a bolded headline claim at the top of the homepage: 23 “Apply now for a Payday Loan of up to $1500 and a BONUS $2,500 Prepaid 24 Debit Visa* [MasterCard*].”
- 25 b. The word “BONUS” in the headline claim, hereinafter referred to as the “BONUS 26 headline,” appeared in all capital letters. The BONUS headline was marked with 27 an asterisk.
- 28 c. Below the BONUS headline, the homepage displayed a fillable loan application

1 form that required, among other things, a consumer's bank name, bank routing 2 number, and bank account number.

3 d. Below the application form, the homepage displayed a submit button with a label 4 such as, "Activate your Prepaid Debit Visa card [MasterCard] and get 5 matched for a payday loan!"

6 e. The submit button did not alert consumers to the fact that any information 7 appeared below the submit button.

8 f. In numerous instances, consumers were not able to view the entire homepage 9 without affirmatively scrolling down. In such instances, consumers would have 10 had to affirmatively scroll down past the submit button to see any information 11 that appeared below the submit button.

12 g. There was no statement above the submit button disclosing that consumers would 13 be charged any fee for the "BONUS" prepaid debit card.

14 h. Below the submit button, six lines of fine print described the EverPrivate Card 15 offer (the "card description"). The font size of the text in the card description was 16 smaller than any other text on the homepage, and approximately three-quarters 17 the size of the font of the bolded BONUS headline. The text was separated into 18 two paragraphs, the first containing four lines and the second containing two 19 lines.

20 i. The card description did not disclose until the fifth line, in the second paragraph, 21 that consumers would have to pay an enrollment fee of $39.95 to $54.95 for the 22 "BONUS" prepaid debit card. That disclosure read, "You hereby authorize 23 EverPrivate Card [Secret Cash Card] to debit your bank account for the one time 24 enrollment fee of [$39.95 $54.94]." The fee amount was not highlighted or 25 otherwise made prominent. The phrase "You hereby authorize EverPrivate Card 26 [Secret Cash Card]" appeared in all capitals, but shared the same font, color, and 27 prominence as the rest of the fine print disclosures.

28 j. The first paragraph of the card description was marked by an asterisk, linking it to 1 the asterisk that followed the BONUS headline. This first paragraph did not 2 disclose the enrollment fee. The second paragraph, which was not marked by an 3 asterisk, was the only place on the webpage that disclosed the enrollment fee.

4 21. In numerous instances, after consumers clicked on the submit button referred to in 5 Paragraph 20d, Defendants transferred to VirtualWorks certain information that those consumers 6 had provided on the loan application form, and that information was used to debit, or attempt to 7 debit, from those consumers' bank accounts, between $39.95 and $54.95. VirtualWorks agreed 8 to pay Defendants $13 to $15 for each such transaction.

9 22. VirtualWorks provided Defendants with the basic text of the EverPrivate Card 10 offer that appeared on the websites referred to in Paragraphs 16 to 21. VirtualWorks and 11 Defendants communicated and worked together regarding the presentation of the offer on those 12 websites. Defendants, among other things, displayed the advertisements on Swish's websites, 13 had control over the manner in which they appeared, and earned money based on the number of 14 consumers who "signed up" for the offer.

15 23. Thousands of consumers who submitted loan applications on the websites 16 referred to in Paragraphs 16 to 21 incurred a debit of $39.95 to $54.95 for the enrollment fee for 17 the EverPrivate Card. Many of these consumers also incurred fees and penalties from their 18 banks because they did not have sufficient funds in their accounts to cover this debit.

19 24. Throughout the period during which the EverPrivate Card offer appeared on 20 Defendants' websites, numerous consumers who submitted loan applications on the websites 21 referred to in Paragraphs 16 to 21, upon learning that VirtualWorks had debited funds from their 22 bank accounts, complained that they had not authorized the debit. Consumers filed complaints 23 with VirtualWorks, Defendants, the Better Business Bureau, law enforcement agencies, banks, 24 and payday lenders during this period.

25 25. Many of the transactions described in Paragraph 23 were reversed, or "charged 26 back," by the consumers' banks.

1 VIOLATIONS OF THE FTC ACT

2 26. Section 5(a) of the FTC Act, 15 U.S.C. § 45(a), prohibits “unfair or deceptive acts 3 or practices in or affecting commerce.”

4 27. Misrepresentations or deceptive omissions of material fact constitute deceptive 5 acts or practices prohibited by Section 5(a) of the FTC Act.

6 Count I

7 28. In numerous instances, Defendants have represented, directly or indirectly, 8 expressly or by implication, that consumers who completed an online application and clicked on 9 a button labeled “Finish matching me with a payday loan provider” were only applying for a 10 payday loan.

11 29. In numerous instances, Defendants failed to disclose adequately to consumers 12 who completed an online application and clicked on a button labeled “Finish matching me with a 13 payday loan provider” that they were also purchasing an EverPrivate Card for a fee, typically in 14 the amount of $39.95 to $54.95, and that this fee would be debited from their bank accounts.
15 This additional information would be material to consumers in deciding to accept this offer to be 16 matched with a payday loan provider.

17 30. Defendants’ failure to disclose adequately the material information described in 18 Paragraph 29, above, in light of the representation described in Paragraph 28, above, constitutes 19 a deceptive act or practice in violation of Section 5(a) of the FTC Act, 15 U.S.C. § 45(a).

20 Count II

21 31. In numerous instances, Defendants have represented, directly or indirectly, 22 expressly or by implication, that consumers who submitted a payday loan application would 23 receive a “BONUS” prepaid card at no charge.

24 32. In truth and in fact, in numerous instances, consumers who submitted a payday 25 loan application did not receive a “BONUS” prepaid card at no charge. Consumers had to pay a 26 fee for the “BONUS” prepaid card, typically in the amount of $39.95 to $54.95, and this fee was 27 debited from their bank accounts.

28 33. Therefore, the making of the representation set forth in Paragraph 31 of this

1 Complaint constitutes a deceptive act or practice in or affecting commerce in violation of 2 Section 5(a) of the FTC Act, 15 U.S.C. § 45(a).

3 CONSUMER INJURY

4 34. Consumers have suffered and will continue to suffer substantial injury as a result 5 of Defendants’ violations of the FTC Act. In addition, Defendants have been unjustly enriched 6 as a result of their unlawful acts or practices. Absent injunctive relief by this Court, Defendants 7 are likely to continue to injure consumers, reap unjust enrichment, and harm the public interest.

8 THIS COURT’S POWER TO GRANT RELIEF

9 35. Section 13(b) of the FTC Act, 15 U.S.C. § 53(b), empowers this Court to grant 10 injunctive and such other relief as the Court may deem appropriate to halt and redress violations 11 of the FTC Act. The Court, in the exercise of its equitable jurisdiction, may award ancillary 12 relief, including rescission or reformation of contracts, restitution, the refund of monies paid, 13 disgorgement of ill-gotten monies, and other equitable relief, to prevent and remedy any 14 violation of any provision of law enforced by the FTC.

15 PRAYER FOR RELIEF

16 Wherefore, Plaintiff FTC, pursuant to Section 13(b) of the FTC Act, 15 U.S.C. § 53(b), 17 and the Court’s own equitable powers, requests that the Court:

18 A. Enter a permanent injunction to prevent future violations of the FTC Act by 19 Defendants;

20 B. Award such relief as the Court finds necessary to redress injury to consumers 21 resulting from Defendants’ violations of the FTC Act, including but not limited to rescission or 22 reformation of contracts, restitution, the refund of monies paid, disgorgement of ill-gotten 23 monies; and

24 C. Award Plaintiff the costs of bringing this action, as well as such other and 25 additional relief as the Court may determine to be just and proper.
