EXIDE TECHNOLOGIES' MOTION FOR LEAVE TO FILE A REPLY BRIEF IN SUPPORT OF ITS MOTION TO MODIFY THE PROTECTIVE ORDER

Pursuant to Rule 3.22 of the Rules of Practice for Adjudicative Proceedings, Exide Technologies respectfully moves for leave to file the attached two page reply brief in support of its motion to modify the Protective Order. In support of this motion for leave to file, Exide states as follows:

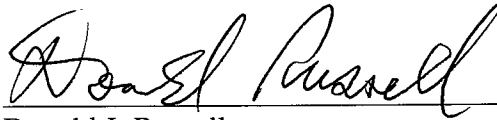

1. Respondent's opposition to Exide's motion relies heavily upon a "Confidential" letter to Complaint Counsel from Polypore Special Counsel Michael Shor. Respondent's Response To Exide Technologies' Motion To Modify The Protective Order, Exhibit A. This confidential letter was not available to Exide when Exide filed its motion. Exide's reply brief explains why this newly-disclosed letter provides additional support for Exide's motion to modify the Protective Order and why it does not support Respondent's opposition to that motion.

2. Respondent's opposition accuses Exide of filing its motion for purposes of harassment. Exide should be permitted a reply to respond to this baseless and unsupported accusation.

3. Exide's motion concerns an imminent threat to the integrity of the Commission's processes and a risk of substantial commercial harm to Exide.

EXIDE TECHNOLOGIES' REPLY BRIEF IN SUPPORT OF MOTION TO MODIFY THE PROTECTIVE ORDER

Respondent's opposition ("Opposition") to Exide's Technologies' Motion To Modify The Protective Order ("Motion") fails to respond at all to Exide's central point: that persons who have had access to confidential information about Exide's strategies for negotiating a contract with Daramic (and with Daramic's competitor) should not participate in Daramic's ongoing contract negotiations with Exide, or advise those who are conducting those negotiations. The Commission should not permit its processes to be invoked by Daramic to demand production of confidential information from Exide, then allow Daramic to use that information for its own commercial advantage. The use of confidential information in commercial negotiations, not merely the "disclosure" of that information, is improper.

The Opposition does not deny that Parker Poe or Michael Shor have participated in or advised Daramic in its negotiations with Exide. Respondent cannot deny that Mr. Shor has done so, because his letter to Exide (Motion, Exhibit 1) clearly constitutes such participation, in direct contravention of his representations to the Commission (see Motion at 3) and to Complaint Counsel (see Opposition, Exhibit A at 1).¹ And whatever Mr. Shor and Parker Poe may have done in the past, they make no representation in the Opposition that they will refrain from participating in or advising on negotiations in the future. Respondent does not even concede that such activity would be improper.

To the limited extent that the Opposition addresses the merits,² it focuses entirely on whether Mr. Shor has seen Exide confidential information in the past. But the Opposition relies on Mr. Shor's letter to Complaint Counsel in which he stated (in May 2009) that in the future, he will "continue to have access to the designated [hearing] exhibits of the remaining Permitted Parties" – which are defined in the letter to include Exide. Moreover, there can be no dispute that Parker Poe has had, and will continue to have, complete access to confidential Exide information.

In short, the Opposition makes clear that (1) Parker Poe has complete access, and Mr. Shor believes he is entitled to have access, to Exide's confidential information, (2) Parker Poe and Mr. Shor have advised or participated, or may in the future advise or participate, in Daramic's contract negotiations with Exide, and (3) Parker Poe's and Mr. Shor's position is that such conduct is entirely proper and permissible. Under these circumstances, modification of the Protective Order is needed to prevent Respondent's misuse of confidential information for commercial advantage and to protect the integrity of the Commission's processes.

² The Opposition (at 3) implies that the Motion was filed for the purpose of "harassment" and suggests, without explanation, that the timing of the motion two weeks before a hearing was suspicious. There is no harassment here. Exide's concerns about the misuse of confidential information were greatly increased when it became apparent that its ongoing negotiations with Daramic would be a central focus of the re-opened hearing, and that Daramic would seek additional discovery by deposition of up-to-the-minute confidential information, simultaneously with a critical period in the ongoing contract negotiations.

CONCLUSION

Exide's motion to modify the Protective Order should be granted.
