Analysis of Proposed Consent Order to Aid Public Comment

The Federal Trade Commission has accepted, subject to final approval, an agreement containing a consent order from Michael G. Chrisman and Michelle R. Chrisman, individually and doing business as DayTrading International (''respondents'').

The proposed consent order has been placed on the public record for thirty (30) days for receipt of comments by interested persons. Comments received during this period will become part of the public record. After thirty (30) days, the Commission will again review the agreement and the comments received, and will decide whether it should withdraw from the agreement or make final the agreement's proposed order.

Respondents sell and distribute recommendations for trading stock. Their trading products or services include the ''Live Interactive Trading Room,'' the ''Daily Picks Newsletter,'' and the ''Hot Small Caps Newsletter.'' The ''Live Interactive Trading Room'' is an Internet chat room where respondents provide ''live'' day trading advice during the day on when to buy and sell stocks. The ''Daily Picks Newsletter,'' and the ''Hot Small Caps Newsletter'' are in the form of e-mails delivered once per day which contain advice for stock trading. Respondents advertise on their Internet Web site, www.daytradingintl.com. This matter concerns allegedly deceptive representations of the earnings and profit potential, as well as the extent of risk involved in using respondents' stock trading program.

The Commission's proposed complaint alleges that respondents made unsubstantiated claims that users of respondents' ''Live Interactive Trading Room'' program can reasonably expect to achieve profits on their trades more than 85 percent of the time and achieve substantial profits on a consistent basis (e.g., $500 per trade, two or three times each day); and that users of respondents' ''Daily Picks Newsletter'' program can reasonably expect to make short term trades, held one to five days, that achieve a rate of return of between two percent and ten percent per trade.

In addition, the complaint alleges that respondents misrepresented that users of their trading programs can reasonably expect to trade stocks profitably with little or no risk. The complaint also alleges that respondents misrepresented that since January 1996, their ''Daily Picks Newsletter'' program has returned an average of 167 percent annually and that during 1996 and 1997, their ''Hot Small Caps Newsletter'' program returned an average annual return of 214 percent. The complaint explains that respondents did not begin to offer the ''Daily Picks Newsletter'' or ''Hot Small Caps Newsletter'' until 1998.

The proposed consent order contains provisions designed to prevent respondents from engaging in similar acts and practices in the future.

Part I of the proposed order requires respondents to have a reasonable basis substantiating any representation about the percentage, ratio, or number of trades that a user of any trading program could reasonably expect to be profitable; the amount of earnings, income, or profit that a user of any trading program could reasonably expect to attain; the rate of return that a user of any trading program could reasonably expect to attain or the length of time over which such a rate of return could reasonably be expected; or the past performance of a trading program. Part I also requires respondents to possess a reasonable basis substantiating claims about any financial benefit or other benefit from any trading program.

Part II of the proposed order prohibits respondents from misrepresenting that since January 1996, respondents' ''Daily Picks Newsletter'' program has returned an average of 167 percent annually or that during 1996 and 1997, respondents' ''Hot Small Caps Newsletter'' program returned an average annual return of 214 percent. It also prohibits respondents from misrepresenting that users of any trading program can reasonably expect to trade with little or no financial risk and from misrepresenting the extent of risk to which users of any such program are exposed.

Part III of the proposed order requires respondents to disclose, clearly and conspicuously, ''DAY TRADING involves high risks and YOU can LOSE a lot of money,'' in close proximity to any representation they make about the financial benefits of any day trading program. This disclosure is in addition to, and not instead of, any other disclosure that respondents may be required to make.

Parts IV–VII of the proposed order require respondents to keep copies of relevant advertisements and materials substantiating claims made in the advertisements; to provide copies of the order to certain personnel; to notify the Commission of changes in their employment status and any changes in the name of their business for a period of ten years; and to file compliance reports with the Commission. Part VIII provides that the order will terminate after twenty (20) years under certain circumstances.

The purpose of this analysis is to facilitate public comment on the proposed order. It is not intended to constitute an official interpretation of the agreement and proposed order or to modify in any way their terms.

By direction of the Commission.

Donald S. Clark,

Secretary.
