

Question Card For Panel

Some organic advocates claim that products produced organically are more environmentally friendly than conventional fibers. How can one reconcile the fact that there are often lower yields, more soil losses, more water pollution FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION and ultimately <sup>more</sup> loss of wild life habitat in organic methods?

2

Andy Jordan
(Jordan Associates, Consulting)