Regarding: Opposition of debt settlement regulations

Dear Sir or Madam,

I saw where the government is wanting to make debt settlement companies wait until after ~~if~~ they perform their services before they charge their customer. I strongly oppose this !!! How would you expect a debt settlement company to deliver a high quality of customer service if they can't bill someone until after they have done the work? The answer is: you can't. You would be tying the debt settlement company's hands and there is no way they could help all those people they are currently helping. Please, do not regulate fees for debt settlement companies.

Sincerely,

/ Jason Hargrove
