

Harriet Ruschmeyer

June 13, 2011

Federal Trade Commission
Wash. DC

Thank you for trying to protect children from being victimized by advertising agencies serving the low cost food industries drive for profits.

The Nutrition Actions Healthletter which arrived today states that we only have until today, June 13, to comment on the proposal that would put some limit on how unhealthy fats, sodium and sugars are advertised to children.

For the sake of future generations, our government could make a stand on behalf of our children now. How shameful it is if we are craven again to corporate power and greed!

Yours truly,