

Bios

Boston University School of Management
 Boston, Massachusetts
 October 14, 2008

Kevin Arquit

Kevin Arquit is a partner in the New York City office of Simpson Thacher & Bartlett LLP. His practice focuses on antitrust litigation, transactional and counseling issues. Prior to joining private practice, Mr. Arquit was General Counsel of the Federal Trade Commission, and then Director of its Bureau of Competition. Mr. Arquit represents a wide variety of companies in high profile antitrust litigation as well before Government competition regulatory authorities. He is currently advising Sirius Satellite Radio in antitrust aspects of the announced merger with XM radio. He also represents DoubleClick in its proposed acquisition by Google, and is defending MasterCard in two related actions brought by American Express and Discover. He recently represented Weyerhaeuser in a series of monopolization cases concerning its purchases of logs in the Pacific Northwest. He also recently represented Rinker Group Limited in an antitrust investigation arising from a takeover offer by a competing firm, Cemex.

Mr. Arquit is a member of the Board of Directors of The Appleseed Foundation, a nonprofit network of public interest law centers. He is also Chairman of the Board of Children for Children, a non-profit organization dedicated to service learning among children, and is a Member of the Board of The Adirondack Museum.

Einer R. Elhauge

Einer Elhauge is the Petrie Professor of Law at Harvard Law School and faculty director of the Petrie-Flom Center for Health Law Policy, Biotechnology and Bioethics. He teaches a gamut of courses ranging from Antitrust, Contracts, Corporations, Health Care Law, and Statutory Interpretation. Before coming to Harvard, he was a Professor of Law at the University of California at Berkeley, and clerked for Judge Norris on the 9th Circuit and Justice Brennan on the Supreme Court. He received both his A.B. and his J.D. from Harvard, graduating first in his law school class.

He is an author of numerous pieces on range of topics even broader than he teaches, including antitrust monopolization and tying doctrine, antitrust petitioning and state action immunity, statutory interpretation, legislative term limits, the 2000 Presidential election, the implications of interest group theory for judicial review, sacrificing corporate profits in the public interest, corporate sale of control doctrine, whether lawyers improve the legal system, medical technology assessment, and how to devise a morally just and cost effective medical system. His most recent books include "Statutory Default Rules" (Harvard University Press 2008), "U.S. Antitrust Law and Economics" (Foundation Press 2008), and "Global Competition Law and Economics" (Hart Publishing 2007). Currently he is working on books about Contract Theory, Health Law Policy, and Re-engineering Human Biology, as well as articles on sundry other topics.

Hillary Greene

Hillary Greene is an Associate Professor of Law at the University of Connecticut School of Law and Director of the Law School's Intellectual Property and Entrepreneurship Law Clinic. Professor Greene is a graduate of the Yale Law School and of Yale College where she earned her bachelors degree in Economics and Political Science (summa cum laude, Phi Beta Kappa, and with distinction in her major). Most recently, Professor Greene was Associate Professor at the S.J. Quinney College of Law at the University of Utah where she taught intellectual property, antitrust, and patent law. Two of her most recent publications include Guideline Institutionalization: The Role of Merger Guidelines in Antitrust Discourse in the William and Mary Law Review (2006), and Articulating Trade-Offs: The Political Economy of State Action in the Utah Law Review (2006). She has also been a Visiting Scholar at the University of Pennsylvania Law School and a Visiting Researcher at Harvard Law School.

Prior to law teaching, Greene served as Project Director for Intellectual Property at the Federal Trade Commission and as a litigation associate at Cahill, Gordon & Reindel in New York City. She is admitted to practice in New York and before the U.S. Supreme Court and the U.S. District Court, Eastern District in New York. Professor Greene currently serves on the advisory board of the American Antitrust Institute and is a contributing editor to the Antitrust Law Journal. Professor Greene's research and teaching interests focus upon intellectual property (with a particular emphasis on patent law), antitrust/competition policy and First Amendment Law.

Keith N. Hylton

Keith Hylton is the Paul J. Liacos Scholar in Law and Professor of Law at Boston University School of Law. Widely recognized in the area of law and economics, Keith Hylton has published numerous articles in American law journals and peer-reviewed law and economics journals. His textbook, Antitrust Law: Economic Theory and Common Law Evolution, was published by Cambridge University Press in 2003. Professor Hylton joined the Boston University School of Law faculty in 1995 after teaching for six years and receiving tenure at Northwestern University School of Law. At BUSL, he teaches courses in antitrust, torts, and labor law. In addition to teaching, he serves as Co-Editor of Competition Policy International, and Editor of the Social Science Research Network's Torts, Products Liability and Insurance Law Abstracts. He also is a former Chair of the Section on Torts and Compensation Systems of the American Association of Law Schools, a former Chair of the Section on Antitrust and Economic Regulation of the American Association of Law Schools, a former Director of the American Law and Economics Association, a former Secretary of the American Bar Association Labor and Employment Law Section, a former member of the editorial board of the Journal of Legal Education, and a current member of the American Law Institute.

Robert M. Langer

Robert Langer is a partner in the Hartford office of Wiggin and Dana and head of the firm's Antitrust and Trade Regulation Practice Group. Mr. Langer is involved in all aspects of antitrust, consumer protection and trade regulation counseling and litigation, representing clients before the Federal Trade Commission, the Antitrust Division of the United States Department of Justice, as well as offices of state attorneys general throughout the United States.

Before joining Wiggin and Dana in 1994, Mr. Langer was the Assistant Attorney General in charge of the Antitrust and Consumer Protection Department of the Office of the Connecticut Attorney General, where for more than twenty years he litigated numerous antitrust and consumer matters in both federal and state trial and appellate courts. A graduate of Franklin & Marshall College, Lancaster, Pennsylvania (A.B. 1970) and the University of Connecticut School of Law (J.D. 1973), Mr. Langer was admitted to practice and became an Assistant Attorney General in the Antitrust Unit in 1973. He was appointed head of Consumer Protection in 1976, and head of both Antitrust and Consumer Protection in 1980.

Mr. Langer served as Chair of the National Association of Attorneys General (NAAG) Multistate Antitrust Task Force from 1990 to 1992, and in that capacity served as the NAAG Representative to the Council of the Section of Antitrust Law of the American Bar Association (ABA). Mr. Langer currently serves as the Finance Officer and previously served as a member of the Council, Chair of the Consumer Protection Committee, Co-Chair of the Legislation Committee, Co-Chair of the Federal and State Legislative Policy Task Force, Vice-Chair of the Continuing Legal Education Committee and Chair of the State Antitrust Enforcement Committee, of the Section of Antitrust Law of the ABA.

Mr. Langer is a member of both the Bureau of National Affairs Antitrust and Trade Regulation Report Advisory Board and the Board of Editors of the Matthew Bender Antitrust Report. He is the past Co-Chair of the Antitrust & Trade Regulation Committee of WESFACCA (formerly the Corporate Bar Association of Westchester and Fairfield). Since 1979, Mr. Langer has served as an Adjunct Professor at the University of Connecticut School of Business Administration, MBA Program, where he teaches constitutional, antitrust and trade regulation law.

Mr. Langer lectures and writes regularly on antitrust, consumer protection, and health care topics. Mr. Langer is the co-author of a treatise, entitled Unfair Trade Practices, published by Thomson West in 2003 as Volume 12 of its Connecticut Practice Series. He has also written several Op-ed articles on a variety of legal issues for publications such as The New York Times and The Hartford Courant and has been the subject of numerous interviews for publications such as FTC: WATCH, International Merger Law and the ABA's Antitrust magazine.

Nancy L. Rose

Nancy L. Rose is Professor of Economics at MIT and Director of the National Bureau of Economic Research program in Industrial Organization. Professor Rose's research focuses on the empirical analysis of firm behavior and the economics of regulation. Her best-known work in regulatory economics includes studies of the efficiency effects of regulation in the electric utility industry, the scope of labor rent-sharing and impact of deregulation in the U.S. trucking industry, and political constraints on top executive compensation in regulated industries. Her research on firm behavior includes analyses of the airline competition and the determinants of CEO compensation. She is a co-author with Kira Fabrizio and Catherine Wolfram of the recent American Economic Review article "Do Markets Reduce Costs? Assessing the Impact of Regulatory Restructuring on U.S. Electric Generation Efficiency."

Professor Rose received her A.B. magna cum laude in Economics and Government from Harvard University and her Ph.D. in Economics from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. She was a faculty member of the MIT Sloan School of Management from 1985-1997, and has been a member of MIT's Department of Economics faculty since 1994. Professor Rose has received numerous professional honors and recognitions, including fellowships from the John M. Olin, Alfred P. Sloan, and Guggenheim Foundations and the Center for Advanced Study in Behavioral Sciences and the National Science Foundation Faculty Award for Women Scientists and Engineers. She has served on the Board of Editors of the American Economic Review and the Journal of Industrial Economics and as associate editor for several journals. Professor Rose has been on the American Economic Association Executive Committee, the Board of the AEA's Committee on the Status of Women in the Economics Profession, and on program committees for the AEA and the Econometric Society annual meetings. She currently serves as an independent director for CRA International and the Sentinel Investments mutual funds.

Dennis Yao

Dennis Yao is the Lawrence E. Fouraker Professor of Business Administration and member of the Strategy Unit at Harvard Business School. He joined the faculty in 2004 after having been at the Wharton School, University of Pennsylvania. From 1991-1994 he served as Commissioner, U.S. Federal Trade Commission where he and his four colleagues had decision responsibility for antitrust and consumer protection matters in both prosecutorial and judicial roles. Professor Yao has a BSE in civil engineering from Princeton, an MBA from the University of California, Berkeley, and a Ph.D. from the Graduate School of Business (economics group) at Stanford. Before beginning his doctoral studies he was a car product planner at Ford Motor Company. He also has served on the National Advertising Review Board.

Professor Yao's research involves the application of microeconomics and game theory to incentive and information problems affecting firms. His recent work has focused on understanding contracting and knowledge flow issues in markets for ideas and inventions. Earlier he worked on problems involving procurement and on technology-forcing regulation. Professor Yao has also written extensively in the areas of antitrust policy and non-market strategies. His work has been published in top economics, strategy, political science, and public policy journals. Professor Yao is associate editor of Management Science, associate editor of Antitrust, and is on the board of the Strategic Management Journal.

