World Patent Marketing aims to reduce the 58,000 children abducted a year statistic with a state of the art child safety invention.

The New York Inventor Exchange approves Kidz 1st Alert, a World Patent Marketing child safety invention, for licensing and trading intellectual property rights.

New York, New York - March 20, 2015 -

World Patent Marketing, the world's fastest growing vertically integrated manufacturer of patented products, releases Kidz 1st Alert, a child safety invention that improves child tracking in a non-intrusive way by using a child bracelet and mobile app.

"With almost 900 reported cases in the past year alone," says Scott Cooper, CEO and Creative Director of World Patent Marketing. "This revolutionary child safety invention will give parents valuable insight to their child's location at all times, highlighting the importance of a quick and effective national response to child abductions and kidnappings."

Popular statistics show that 58,000 children are abducted or lost every year. This data has been proven to be outdated, false and doesn't even come from the FBI. The data comes from a study by the Justice Department. The study itself used a small sample population which misrepresents national statistics. In addition, the original study was conducted before 1990, when the use of cell phones was not at all common. We currently have no reliable data on actual numbers of child abduction, lost children, or kidnappings. Estimates are as high as four times the cited 58,000 children abducted or as low as 2,000 per year. Meanwhile, all over the world, the reality about child abductions remain grim.

An effective child safety invention is necessary for the future of our nation. The basic elements of Kidz 1st Alert are bracelets worn by the child, and the mobile app which is paired to the bracelet. The app would give an alert when the child falls within 25 feet of the parent holding the smartphone, and a separate alert when the child strays farther than a hundred feet. This child safety invention will make use of any available technology including GPS, cell signal triangulation, and Bluetooth.

"This child safety invention can transmit data from the bracelet to the smartphone," said Tim C., the inventor of Kidz 1st Alert. "It is so easy to lose a child at a mall, a park or any public place. Losing your child for even a few minutes can be a traumatic experience for both the parent and the child."

"The biggest problem parents have is that there are too many distractions." Explains Casey Turner, a Parental Advice Blogger from Miami Beach, "This child safety invention can increase a parents comfort level in any public environment."

The greatest gifts you can give your children are the roots of responsibility and the wings of independence. With the Kidz 1st Alert child safety invention we can allow future generations to experience freedom in a whole new way.

Beauty Buzz: World Patent Marketing Introduces a Cosmetic Invention In Time For Both New York and Paris Fashion Week

The New York Inventor Exchange approves the Compact Magic, a cosmetic invention, for licensing and trading intellectual property rights

New York, New York - March 17, 2015 -

World Patent Marketing, the world's fastest growing vertically integrated patented product development company, breaks the cosmetic industry with its revolutionary compact cosmetic invention, the Compact Magic. This is an invention that will maximize compact cosmetics. With the use of Compact Magic, women would be able to use every fleck of pressed powder contained in the round, flat containers.

"It is in human nature to always strive for perfection and new ways to express ourselves," says Scott Cooper, CEO and Creative Director of World Patent Marketing, "Innovation combines beauty with convenience and affordability as Compact Magic was a hit at New York Fashion Week."

"Beauty products come and go, but there are those few that have changed the makeup industry as we know it," says Lorraine K. from PA, who came up with the compact cosmetic invention, "This invention is going to help everyone, not just women who use makeup. It can make makeup more affordable in the long run."

"Seriously, some women think that makeup can be a waste, however, with the compact cosmetic invention, Compact Magic, nothing goes to waste," said Christi Pegan, a professional makeup artist from New York, "This device helps men, women, and even professional makeup artists like myself, make use of every last wisp of makeup in the pressed powder makeup container."

According to the latest fashion and makeup trends, the natural look is in for 2015. This means, more powder will be used and less foundation or heavy colors. For a lot of people, this look is not an easy one to pull off. They have to work for it, with healthy skin, and natural makeup colors. The cosmetic makeup industry can be in a great position to take advantage of this trend, at the same time continue to create or influence trends in makeup.

World Patent Marketing believes that Compact Magic, a compact cosmetic invention that maximizes compact cosmetic use, is a step in the right direction. Make up users usually stick to a particular color, blend, and brand, for years and years. The invention can influence them to not worry about maximizing the use of their cosmetic products and help them save money in the long run.

There would be less wastage when using pressed powder, and this savings can be translated to better opportunities for cosmetics users to buy more products.

Press Release

MAGIC Trade Show Transforms Las Vegas into Fashion Capital as World Patent Marketing Shows Off Its Latest Inventions

World Patent Marketing Trade Show Division networks with fashion entrepreneurs
Las Vegas, Nevada - February 22, 2015 - World Patent Marketing sent its company's trade show division to Las Vegas this week in full force to rub elbows with the elite of the fashion industry. MAGIC, the world's largest fashion marketplace, held its annual event where the retail industry convenes to spot and shop the latest trends in men's, women's, juniors' and children's apparel, footwear, and accessories.

"Fashion has to do with ideas," said Nadia Amarillo, Business Development Manager of World Patent Marketing. "It's a new era in fashion. It is a time of innovation and empowerment. Fashion and Invention are the very fabric of life."

World Patent Marketing Trade Show Division Delivers

The semiannual Sourcing at MAGIC show opened a day early on Feb. 16. Nearly 40 countries represented at the gargantuan show showed their expertise in manufacturing everything from athletic wear to zippers. Chinese exhibitors made up more than half of the show. This season, there was a focus on Egypt and its 25 qualifying industrial zones, where apparel made there gets duty-free entry into the United States under a trade preference program. The World Patent Marketing Trade Show Division was right in the thick of things, showing it had what it takes to get premium visibility on the floor for its fashion entrepreneur clients.

World Patent Marketing Trade Show Division Busy at Mandalay Bay

At Project at the Mandalay Bay Convention Center, Christopher Yoo, wholesale director of the Los Angeles-based Andrew Christian fashion underwear brand, said that his booth had 50 appointments. "Every hour was double booked," he said. Mario Pasillas, West Coast sales for 7 Diamonds, said he saw "an upswing in the way people are spending." The 7 Diamonds booth was in the same place it's been for the last three years, Pasillas said. "It's tried and true," he said. "People know where to find us. It's great." The World Patent Marketing Trade Show Division was right in the middle of the action. In all, 83,000 attendees were in Las Vegas for the show. MAGIC officials said Las Vegas is a huge draw for industry people from all around the world. "We all think, 'Let's go to Paris or Florence, and how romantic that is.' Well, they love Las Vegas, and let's face it, who doesn't? There's something for everyone," said Leslie Gallin, MAGIC president of footwear. Gallin said that in addition to the Las Vegas Strip - including the shows, food and nightlife - there is something else convention goers love about Sin City. "A lot of our customers are coming from the East Coast, so they're really happy to get out of Dodge, as they say, in February," Gallin said. Companies such as World Patent Marketing bring their trade show division to hobnob with fashion greats such as Gallin and get to know the industry leaders firsthand.

Clean Water Bill Moves Forward as World Patent Marketing Floods the Market With A Breakthrough Water Filter Invention

The New York Inventor Exchange approves the Hose Filter, a water filter invention, for licensing and trading intellectual property rights.

New York, New York - March 7, 2015 -

World Patent Marketing, the world’s fastest growing vertically integrated patented product development company, has announced the release of the hose filter, a water filter invention which aims to filter impurities out of tap water.

"Over the years, Americans and millions more around the world, have depended on bottled water due to the dangers brought about by drinking contaminated water," said Scott Cooper, CEO & Creative Director of World Patent Marketing. "Our push for innovative products makes the world a safer place to live in, one invention at a time."

According to the Rutland Herald (March 05, 2015), "Vermont's 2015 legislative session is on track to be the year of clean water. Gov. Peter Shumlin opened the session with a State of the State speech that outlined an ambitious yet practical plan to clean up our state's waters, including Lake Champlain. Weeks of clean water testimony from farmers, business owners, state and local officials, scientists and environmental advocates have been delivered to House and Senate committees. Vermonters can be assured that their legislators have been fully engaged in tackling the challenge of reducing pollution and restoring our streams, rivers, lakes and ponds to full health."

Since that speech, the full General Assembly has gathered twice to learn about and discuss the importance of clean water and the critical role it plays in our lives and the state’s economy. The water filter invention assures the public that they can have their water clean and safe for drinking at any time.

The inventor, Kenji Q from Waipahu, Hawaii says “the water filter invention is a concept whose time has arrived. People from cities and towns across the country have long asked the question about what makes water potable, and yet, studies have shown that there are a lot of carcinogenic and biohazard risks in the water that we drink.”

The developer of the water filter invention notes that his product provides a simple solution which people can easily install. It does not have to be limited to the garden hose; for instance, it can be used for the whole family’s water supply.

“Wherever water flows through, this can also be put in place,” says Camry, an environmentalist blogger from Iowa. He notes that the water filter invention is not just for playground or park use, but can be utilized to solve water problems all over the world. It can also save Americans millions of dollars each year which they spend on buying expensive, bottled water.

Even with water utilities in developed urban and suburban communities, the age of underground pipes makes the delivery of drinking water unreliable.

Hello
I need your help.

A website you are currently hosting called globalresourcebroker.com is engaged in a smear campaign against my company and others in the industry. The company has no real business operations and uses this site for the sole purpose of disseminating false information about my company and competitors.

We have sued this company in Federal Court and they quickly moved their domain out of the country to Panama to avoid being shut down.

I have prominent politicians that sit on my board of directors, including Former United States Attorney and United States Senate Candidate Matthew G. Whitaker. This is creating an embarrassing situation for them and myself.

Global Resource is controlled by two men named Adam Russell and Mohammed Assaf born in Jordan. He goes by several fake names in the United States including George Montana and Rick Blake.

I respectfully request that you strongly reconsider supporting this person by hosting his website or other web properties.

I am happy to provide you with additional information regarding this individual's past.

Please do not hesitate to contact me should you require further information.

Press Release

World Patent Marketing Expands Its International Footprint As China Surpasses the United States To Become Largest World Economy

World Patent Marketing expands its China presence and announces plans to open offices in Hong Kong and Shanghai.

New York, New York - February 6, 2015 - World Patent Marketing, the world’s fastest growing patent, idea protection and inventor services organization, announced plans earlier this week to include three China Patents as part of its core product portfolio. As reported by China Law and Practice, "China’s State Intellectual Property Office released its draft patent administrative enforcement rules for public comment on January 27. The draft places greater emphasis on the quality and professionalism of local Intellectual Property officials, tackles procedural issues and provides greater guidelines for online infringement."

"China has become the largest economy in the world." says Scott Cooper, Managing Director of World Patent Marketing, "The US is still the richest, but we can not ignore the global power tilt and I am encouraging all of our inventors and manufacturers to take a very careful look at the opportunity loss by not seeking patent protection and licensing in China."

"I am pleased to announce that once again World Patent Marketing is on the cutting edge of the worldwide patent protection industry," says Jay J. Ward, Director of Strategic Planning, "We are now offering to our more discerning clientele access to three types of China patents. This is not for everybody but for those who are forward thinking, the potential licensing opportunities in China could be limitless."

China doesn’t seem to want the crown according to China Daily. "The [National Bureau of Statistics] does not countenance these claims by some scholars and media organizations [that China has overtaken the US as the world's largest economy]." said Ma Jiantang, head of China's National Bureau of Statistics (NBS) said in a press conference. Why is China being so defensive? Being the "biggest" comes with expectations. And especially dangerous for China's leaders are those from its own people.

Please just take a look at it I'll try to get you more information about it. If we can get it it will save us money that would be spent to build a building. Wouldn’t you think it would be best to considering where I live is in the center of the oil economy and also you told me we could keep our name rods I mean I already filed for it I don’t want it to be a waste of money. Consider this we have a building in midland / big spring either or that manufactures and we set up one international to lower disturbance cost. I would like it to be here so I can keep an eye on things and run it with your help here. 70% percent of the oil in the United States come from big spring and midland area. Go on google and see all the company’s that set up shop here in big spring and midland and Odessa it’s crazy. We are sitting on 60 billion barrels of oil. Just please give it a thought I think that would be a great geographica location to set up at. Plus I think it would be hard to have just one Manufacturing site

THE AQUA BRUSH — CLEANING THE POOL BETTER, FASTER

Swimming pools are a great way to cool down and have fun—especially during the hot, summer months. However, they need constant cleaning to prevent them from becoming dirty and harboring pathogens. Since the pool is filled with water, it is a great breeding spot for pathogens. The pool water itself might be safe due to the chemical treatments, but the tiles will eventually grow mold and mildew if left unattended. Also, since the tiles and surroundings are constantly wet, they attract mud, dirt, and sludge like a magnet.

Pool cleaning is also back-breaking work and it may take hours—or even days—just to finish cleaning one. Even then, the job might not be satisfactory as the sides are high and the tiles are hard to reach. Fortunately, this is easily solved by using the Aqua Brush—the greatest pool cleaning invention in recent times.

Less Cleaning Time, More Fun

The Aqua Brush is a long pool brush that is attached to a hose. The main head has spray nozzles to make cleaning faster and more effective. It is portable, convenient, and lightweight making it the best option to clean the pool with. Since cleaning is done faster, there will be very little downtime and the pool can be used again quickly.
The Aqua Brush is a cleaning invention which will enable pool owners to clean their swimming pools quickly and effectively. It has all the advantages of other pool cleaners in the market without any of the disadvantages.

Top 5 Reasons Why You Should Use the Aqua Brush

1. Cleaner pool
2. Cleaning the pool will be easier
3. Exert less force when cleaning
4. Cleans the pool faster
5. Less pool downtime so people can enjoy the pool longer

Why use the Aqua Brush?

The Aqua Brush has a spray nozzle in the brush head and can be connected to a hose which essentially halves the amount of work you need to do. Also, the pressure watered will be able to clean the tiles and divots faster making the cleaning process even faster. With the Aqua Brush, you get cleaner pools, faster cleaning times, and more time to relax in the water.
We're Swimming in Cleaner Pools Because of World Patent Marketing's Latest Invention, The Aqua Brush

The New York Inventor Exchange approves the Aqua Brush for licensing and trading intellectual property rights.

MIAMI, FL (PRWEB) SEPTEMBER 22, 2015

World Patent Marketing, a vertically integrated manufacturer and engineer of patented products, announces the Aqua Brush, an aquatic invention that aids pool owners in cleaning the sides and bottom of the pool quickly and easily.

"US revenues for contract cleaning services will be increasing 4.8 percent yearly and will reach $68.3 billion in 2016," says Scott Cooper, CEO and Creative Director of World Patent Marketing. "Interior cleaning services will still have the largest share, but revenue from exterior cleaning services will grow the fastest. The industrial, institutional and residential markets will be experiencing above-average growth."

"Swimming is one of man's favorite sport and leisure activities," says Cattya Bella, Director of Product Development for World Patent Marketing. "However, not all of us are blessed to live near the seaside, which is why many people opt to have pools built in their yards. Having a pool has its own share of dilemmas such as cleaning and maintenance; this is where our new aquatic invention, the Aqua Brush, can help."

This aquatic invention easily eliminates algae and dirt that may often be found in the bottom and sides of a swimming pool. The Aqua Brush is a long brush connected to a water source or hose. It makes use of the pressure from the nozzle, removing dirt and washing them away, turning pool cleaning easier.

This aquatic invention is unique because swimming pool brushes just have bristles that loosen up the dirt whereas the Aqua Brush has a water pressure that will get the dirt in the divots and make it cleaner and with less effort," says Rosa M., inventor of the Aqua Brush. "This invention cleans off the algae and dirt that is attached to the walls and bottom of the pool. This specially created brush will greatly impact the swimming pool industry, especially during the hot summer months, as it helps people have a cleaner pool with..."
James Telling, a pool owner from Providence, RI, has this to say about the Aqua Brush: "It seems like a simple invention but it does clean the pool better and a lot faster. Now, there is no need to exert all that extra effort when pool cleaning. It saves me money and time."

With the Aqua Brush you and your family will have more time to enjoy swimming on the pool rather than cleaning it.

We're Swimming in Cleaner Pools Because of World Patent Marketing's Latest Invention, The Aqua Brush

Posted: Sep 22, 2015 7:00 PM

The New York Inventor Exchange approves the Aqua Brush for licensing and trading intellectual property rights.

Miami, FL (PRWEB) September 22, 2015

World Patent Marketing, a vertically integrated manufacturer and engineer of patented products, announces the Aqua Brush, an aquatic invention that aids pool owners in cleaning the sides and bottom of the pool quickly and easily.

"US revenues for contract cleaning services will be increasing 4.8 percent yearly and will reach $68.3 billion in 2016," says Scott Cooper, CEO and Creative Director of World Patent Marketing. "Interior cleaning services will still have the largest share, but revenue from exterior cleaning services will grow the fastest. The industrial, institutional and residential markets will be experiencing above-average growth."

"Swimming is one of man's favorite sport and leisure activities," says Cattya Bella, Director of Product Development for World Patent Marketing. "However, not all of us are blessed to live near the seaside, which is why many people opt to have pools built in their yards. Having a pool has its own share of dilemmas such as cleaning and maintenance...this is where our new aquatic invention, the Aqua Brush, can help."

This aquatic invention easily eliminates algae and dirt that may often be found in the bottom and sides of a swimming pool. The Aqua Brush is a long brush connected to a water source or hose. It makes use of the pressure from the nozzle, removing dirt and washing them away, turning pool cleaning easier.

This aquatic invention is unique because swimming pool brushes just have bristles that loosen up the dirt whereas the Aqua Brush has a water pressure that will get the dirt in the divots and make it cleaner and with less effort," says Rosa M., inventor of the Aqua Brush. "This invention clears off the algae and dirt that is attached to the walls and bottom of the pool. This specially created brush will greatly impact the swimming pool industry, especially during the hot summer months, as it helps people have a cleaner pool with less effort."

James Telling, a pool owner from Providence, RI, has this to say about the Aqua Brush: "It seems like a simple invention but it does clean the pool better and a lot faster. Now, there is no need to exert all that extra effort when pool cleaning. It saves me money and time."

With the Aqua Brush you and your family will have more time to enjoy swimming on the pool rather than cleaning it.

"This invention cleans off the algae and dirt that is attached to the walls and bottom of the pool. This specially created brush will greatly impact the swimming pool industry, especially during the hot summer months, as it helps people have a cleaner pool with less effort."

James Telling, a pool owner from Providence, RI, has this to say about the Aqua Brush: "It seems like a simple invention but it does clean the pool better and a lot faster. Now, there is no need to exert all that extra effort when pool cleaning. It saves me money and time."

With the Aqua Brush you and your family will have more time to enjoy swimming on the pool rather than cleaning it.

We're Swimming in Cleaner Pools Because of World Patent Marketing's Latest Invention, The Aqua Brush

Miami, FL (PRWEB) September 22, 2015

World Patent Marketing, a vertically integrated manufacturer and engineer of patented products, announces the Aqua Brush, an aquatic invention that aids pool owners in cleaning the sides and bottom of the pool quickly and easily.

"US revenues for contract cleaning services will be increasing 4.8 percent yearly and will reach $68.3 billion in 2016," says Scott Cooper, CEO and Creative Director of World Patent Marketing. "Interior cleaning services will still have the largest share, but revenue from exterior cleaning services will grow the fastest. The industrial, institutional and residential markets will be experiencing above-average growth."

"Swimming is one of man’s favorite sport and leisure activities," says Catryn Bella, Director of Product Development for World Patent Marketing. "However, not all of us are blessed to live near the seaside, which is why many people opt to have pools built in their yards. Having a pool has its own share of dilemmas such as cleaning and maintenance; this is where our new aquatic invention, the Aqua Brush, can help."

This aquatic invention easily eliminates algae and dirt that may often be found in the bottom and sides of a swimming pool. The Aqua Brush is a long brush connected to a water source or hose. It makes use of the pressure from the nozzle, removing dirt and washing them away, turning pool cleaning easier.

This aquatic invention is unique because swimming pool brushes just have bristles that loosen up the dirt whereas the Aqua Brush has a water pressure that will get the dirt in the divots and make it cleaner and with less effort," says Rosa M., inventor of the Aqua Brush. "This invention cleans off the algae and dirt that is attached to the walls and bottom of the pool. This specially created brush will greatly impact the swimming pool industry, especially during the hot summer months, as it helps people have a cleaner pool with less effort."

We're Swimming in Cleaner Pools Because of World Patent Marketing’s Latest Invention, The Aqua Brush

Post: Sep 22, 2015 7:00 PM

The New York Inventor Exchange approves the Aqua Brush for licensing and trading intellectual property rights.

Miami, FL (PRWEB) September 22, 2015

World Patent Marketing, a vertically integrated manufacturer and engineer of patented products, announces the Aqua Brush, an aquatic invention that aids pool owners in cleaning the sides and bottom of the pool quickly and easily.

"US revenues for contract cleaning services will be increasing 4.8 percent yearly and will reach $663.3 billion in 2016," says Scott Cooper, CEO and Creative Director of World Patent Marketing. "Interior cleaning services will still have the largest share, but revenue from exterior cleaning services will grow the fastest. The industrial, institutional and residential markets will be experiencing above-average growth."

"Swimming is one of man's favorite sport and leisure activities," says Catlyn Bella, Director of Product Development for World Patent Marketing. "However, not all of us are blessed to live near the seaside, which is why many people opt to have pools built in their yards. Having a pool has its own share of dilemmas such as cleaning and maintenance. This is where our new aquatic invention, the Aqua Brush can help."

This aquatic invention easily eliminates algae and dirt that may often be found in the bottom and sides of a swimming pool. The Aqua Brush is a long brush connected to a water source or hose. It makes use of the pressure from the nozzle, removing dirt and washing them away, turning pool cleaning easier.

This aquatic invention is unique because swimming pool brushes just have bristles that loosen up the dirt whereas the Aqua Brush has a water pressure that will get the dirt in the divots and make it cleaner and with less effort," says Rosa M., inventor of the Aqua Brush. "This invention cleans off the algae and dirt that is attached to the walls and bottom of the pool. This specially created brush will greatly impact the swimming pool industry, especially during the hot summer months, as it helps people have a cleaner pool with less effort."

James Telling, a pool owner from Providence, RI, has this to say about the Aqua Brush: "It seems like a simple invention but it does clean the pool better and a lot faster. Now, there is no need to exert all that extra effort when pool cleaning. It saves me money and time."

With the Aqua Brush you and your family will have more time to enjoy swimming on the pool rather than cleaning it.

WPM Capital Ventures: provides seed funding for startups. Seed funding is the earliest stage of venture funding. WPM’s goal is to get you through the first phase. This usually means: get you to the point where you've built something impressive enough to raise money on a larger scale. Then we can introduce you to later stage investors—or occasionally even acquirers.

WPM Social Media: has created an innovative, specialized approach that we use to power social media marketing for some of the world's best brands. Brands choose us because, as one of the world's most innovative companies, we know how to turn business objectives into realities in creative, strategic and measurable ways.

WPM Retail: Offers shopping online, in person, on mobile devices and with social media. To be successful today, companies need to be able to sell products in as many different ways as possible.

We're Swimming in Cleaner Pools Because of World Patent Marketing's Latest Invention, The Aqua Brush

The New York Inventor Exchange approves the Aqua Brush for licensing and trading intellectual property rights.

Miami, FL (PRWEB) September 22, 2015

World Patent Marketing, a vertically integrated manufacturer and engineer of patented products, announces the Aqua Brush, an aquatic invention that aids pool owners in cleaning the sides and bottom of the pool quickly and easily.

"US revenues for contract cleaning services will be increasing 4.8 percent yearly and will reach $68.3 billion in 2016," says Scott Cooper, CEO and Creative Director of World Patent Marketing. "Interior cleaning services will still have the largest share, but revenue from exterior cleaning services will grow the fastest. The industrial, institutional and residential markets will be experiencing above average growth."

"Swimming is one of man's favorite sport and leisure activities," says Cattya Sella, Director of Product Development for World Patent Marketing. "However, not all of us are blessed to live near the seaside, which is why many people opt to have pools built in their yards. Having a pool has its own share of dilemmas such as cleaning and maintenance; this is where our new aquatic invention, the Aqua Brush, can help."

This aquatic invention easily eliminates algae and dirt that may often be found in the bottom and sides of a swimming pool. The Aqua Brush is a long brush connected to a water source or hose. It makes use of the pressure from the nozzle, removing dirt and washing them away, turning pool cleaning easier.

This aquatic invention is unique because swimming pool brushes just have bristles that loosen up the dirt whereas the Aqua Brush has a water pressure that will get the dirt in the crevices and make it cleaner and with less effort," says Rosa M., inventor of the Aqua Brush. "This invention cleans off the algae and dirt that is attached to the walls and bottom of the pool. This specially created brush will greatly impact the swimming pool industry, especially during the hot summer months, as it helps people have a cleaner pool with less effort."

James Talling, a pool owner from Providence, RI, has this to say about the Aqua Brush: "It seems like a simple invention but it does clean the pool better and a lot faster. Now, there is no need to exert all that extra effort when pool cleaning. It saves me money and time."

With the Aqua Brush you and your family will have more time to enjoy swimming on the pool rather than cleaning it.

EVERY INVENTOR DESERVES A CHANCE

World Patent Marketing launched The New York Inventor Exchange on January 1, 2015. It is the first marketplace of its kind. It levels the playing field for independent inventors who have historically been bullied by multi-national corporations with deep pockets. The New York Inventor Exchange offers diverse markets which span inventors, entrepreneurs, manufacturers, engineers, and mobile app developers. "Launching the New York Inventor Exchange is a very proud day for us," said Scott Cooper, CEO and Creative Director of World Patent Marketing. "This has been my dream for almost five years. America was built on the premise that a small inventor can have a dream, work hard and make that dream a reality. The American Dream today doesn't seem real to many average Americans. I work with inventors every day who have great ideas but can't afford to go through an expensive patent, prototyping and manufacturing process. Our goal is to change that. Our members stay ahead of the curve by participating in a new marketplace intended to spur innovation with low-cost solutions."

PRINT GLOW
What is a Smart Product Sell Sheet?
WORLD PATENT
MARKETING
In most aspects, a brochure (link to page) and a Smart Product Sell Sheet (link to page) have many similarities. Both are great marketing tools to present the company and the product. Typically, they are used in support of your sales efforts, given in business conventions and exhibitions or presented to potential consumers. They are mostly printed on similar sizes on the same type of paper. The most noticeable difference, however, is that a Smart Product Sell Sheet is not folded. Also, the information presented can be technical and more in-depth than a brochure.

Why is it important?

A Smart Product Sell Sheet answers the following questions:

- What products or services do you offer?
- How will these products and services benefit me?
- How much will I will pay for them?
- How do I contact you?

A WORLD PATENT

MARKETING

Phone: (888) 926-8174 | Fax: (888) 689-2485

WorldPatentMarketing.com | info@worldpatentmarketing.com

With all this information, it is important to present your Smart Product Sell Sheet in a clear and precise manner to retain your customer’s interest. Before you create yours, here are a few essential things to know before you start designing.

What are the essential elements of creating a Smart Product Sell Sheet?

It should contain the following:

- Your logo and product name
- A catchy headline
- Intro paragraph
• High-resolution product pictures (including product SKU numbers)
• Benefits backed by data
• Contact info and a call-to-action

Despite being a technical document, a Smart Product Sell Sheet should still contain a concise headline and a call-to-action. The intro paragraph should provide a succinct summary of the information about the products and services. The bulk of it should contain the specifications of your product or service, and if possible, comparative data against your competitors. Finally, it should give your potential client information about your company, particularly your contact details.

A Smart Product Sell Sheet may be more technical and informative than a flyer or brochure, but that doesn't mean design is just a second thought. When designed properly, it can become a virtual tour of your product or services. Use the large space provided by the flat sheet to create a design consistent with your product and your company.

It goes without saying that a company with multiple products to sell would illustrate each item with a corresponding picture.

However, ALL company Smart Product Sell Sheet should try to include some relevant images to break up the copy elements and to make the overall piece more interesting for the viewer. Use pictures of your staff in action, customers enjoying your products, or your products in action to communicate something unique about your company.

When should I use a Smart Product Sell Sheet?

While the flyer or brochure can provide a brief overview of your product and service, a Smart Product Sell Sheet can give a more in-depth approach to marketing a product. Technical products such as equipment or software can greatly benefit from this format as well. Real estate services can also take advantage of it, especially if it includes comparative data between competitors. It can be a persuasive part of a marketing plan, especially for customers who are on the fence and want to know more about the product. It is also useful for press releases where reporters and content creators need specific details for factual reporting. Finally, you can give them to potential distributors and store owners who would be interested in putting it on their shelves.
Licensing Negotiations

Inventor Friendly

With the pace of innovation and shorter product life cycles, companies are in need of new inventions.

Distribute Worldwide

Licensing allows inventors to leverage a company’s brand and position in the marketplace.

Lower Cost and Risk

The inventor supplies the intellectual property while the company ramps up manufacturing and sales.

Key Components to Licensing

Licensing could very well be the most lucrative way to make a living today. At its basics, licensing is the selling of intellectual property to a person or business that wishes to produce it for a profit. The intellectual property could be a patent, copyright, or an idea.

Actually, licensing got much of its start with Disney’s creation of Mickey Mouse some 80 years ago. As the character took off in popularity a businessman who wanted to put the character on 10,000 wooden pencil boxes paid for permission to do so. Thus, licensing was born. Since then, there has been all sorts of products with the Disney characters on them, from shirts to lunch boxes. In all of these items Disney receives a percent of the wholesale price of anything depicting its characters. They don’t need to manage all sorts of factories, worry about payroll to all of its employees, find distributors, nothing. After the manufacturer does all the work to make and sell the product, Disney receives a lion’s share of sales. If this is not an argument for licensing, I don't know what is!

Common Licensing Questions...
But wouldn't I make more money if I manufactured it myself?
The short answer is "yes". But then reality hits. Handling the manufacturing either domestically or overseas requires a large investment of time and money. First you will need a rock-solid business plan, inventory financing and product liability insurance. You must work with engineers, industrial designers, sourcing agents and establish a sales and marketing team for distribution. Tooling can cost 10s of thousands of dollars and commonly exceeds $100,000 - and that is before you have manufactured or sold a single unit. Becoming a vendor to the large retail stores is extremely difficult especially if you only offer a single product, and if you do, you often don't get paid until 90 days later.

It is a tough road and very few ever become successful. But if you are willing to risk your home, car, and financial security and have the needed skills to manage a factory and make your product sell, I hope the best for you. It is an option and some people do succeed. Yet the main question for any investment ought to be, "How can I limit my risk as much as possible and maintain the greatest reward possible?" And I would suggest the best answer to this question is found in licensing.

Will companies actually pay me for my invention?
Not only will they pay you, but if your invention sells, they will pay you handsomely. There is a reason why these businessmen are where they are. They did not get to the top of a company through a lack of business sense. Rather, they understand that good business transactions reward those who make you money and increase the value of your stock.

So, if you make them a profit they are more than willing to compensate you. They have good reason to treat you well. Their sole business is to manufacture and distribute products that will sell, and since the market is changing so often, they are always in need of new ideas.

Which company should I license my invention to?

Picking the right company to license your invention is crucial in the first stages. Without knowing where to go you are destined to endlessly search in the wrong places. It is important to research the specific industry and markets to understand where your invention would sell and which company has a strong brand and the distribution channels to fully exploit your invention. Be sure to avoid companies that manufacture a product on a job basis. They have no distribution channels and are quite expensive. To get your product on the shelves you still have to do all of the work of packaging, marketing, and distribution. There is a great financial risk in the beginning when working with these manufacturers since they require upfront money to produce your product on a per unit basis.
What aspects of the licensing agreement should I be aware of?

As we have always said, we seek to establish fair and lucrative deals for the inventors that we represent. But to do this there must be certain elements present in the licensing agreement. The following is a short list of some of these elements that you should be aware of.

1. Advance in royalty fees: For exclusive license agreements, it is very common that the licensee would pay an advance toward the first year's royalty.

2. Yearly minimum royalty or performance requirements: This is either a yearly minimum payment or a yearly unit volume that the licensee must hit to retain exclusivity. The amount usually gets larger every year to allow for the licensee to ramp-up and distribute your product. Also, it provides the inventor with assurance that the licensee will seek to develop your invention and not just let it sit dormant.

3. Insurance covering the inventor: This is an agreement that the licensee will, at their cost, buy an insurance policy covering the inventor for $1,000,000 in damages and send the inventor a certificate which shows that they are on the policy. Such a clause in the agreement provides protection for the inventor in the event that the invention causes harm or injury to those who use it.

4. Right to an audit: If the numbers do not seem accurate, we can arrange for an audit to be done by an accounting firm in order to determine if the royalty checks received were fairly distributed.

When you enter into a relationship with a well-known invention powerhouse like World Patent Marketing, you create instant "brand credibility" in the market, with both consumers and investors. World Patent Marketing brings you the power of a team that includes government leaders, academic institutions and major corporations the world over.

We respect that message and that relationship, building upon the positive elements while updating and modernizing to adapt to new products and new conditions while retaining loyal customers.

PRODUCT NAME
You need a fabulous name for your new product. A great name makes it clear that your product is different from all existing products in your category. It should be instantly recognizable. The name can be descriptive, as in Goodyear Tires, or a new word, as in Kleenex or iPod.

Your logo is the "avatar" of your brand. It often contains the brand name, but not always. It will appear on your website, packaging, letterhead and all advertising; the logo must be instantly recognizable.

WEB BANNER
Think of your web banner as the entrance to your store. Like a physical store, that entrance says a lot about your product and brand. The web banner conveys your brand image at the first glance. It needs to be targeted to your customer demographic.

The tagline is a one-line summary of your product and brand. Famous taglines include, "It's the Real Thing" for Coke, "The Ultimate Driving Machine" for BMW, and "Think Small" for Volkswagen. We will help you to distill your product image into a winning tagline.

Our social media experts will create professional quality accounts for your product on all of the top platforms, such as Facebook, Twitter, and Pinterest. Facebook

Facebook is the social media giant. It is the largest social media network on the web and the best known. Facebook boasts more than 1.71 billion active users, an active user is anyone who has signed on in the last 30 days. Since its inception, Facebook has grown from a website devoted to college students at Harvard, to eventually include a worldwide user interface. Facebook offers an easy convenient way for family and friends to keep in touch on every continent, as well as an easy way to check up on news, shopping, restaurants and celebrity gossip.

Facebook is an essential social media platform for every business, it offers a bonanza of options for delivering your message to fans and potential customers. On Facebook you can share stories, photos, and videos about your product. Maintaining a Facebook account is easy, there are many tools available for businesses, including scheduled sharing and paid reach. This can be one of the best ways to target new customers and create buzz.

Twitter

Twitter is the social media platform with the broadest reach. It is incredibly easy to spread the word on Twitter. With a single Tweet, you can deliver your message instantly to millions of potential customers. And Tweets are incredibly easy to do. A Tweet consists of a short text message that is less than 140 characters. You have to keep it short on the Twitter Feed. But, while the text message length is short, you can upload and send photos, videos, and links to your own or other webpages. Twitter is one of the top ten websites in the United States and has 320 million active users around the world. As with Facebook, content on Twitter can go viral, as it is incredibly easy for your customers and fans to share and reTweet your messages. Interesting and varied content is the key to getting viral sharing on Twitter. Because it is so easy to reTweet content with hashtags, a great post can spread fast. If you can tap into a user with a lot of Twitter followers, your content can go viral. Twitter experts point out that posting a balanced variety of media is important on Twitter. People want to see new and interesting stories about a variety of topics, not just a reTweet of your latest announcement. So mix up your own original content with interesting stories and articles you find on the web or create yourself.

Pinterest

Pinterest is a digital bulletin board. It is all about visuals. This makes it a great platform for inventions and products that easily convey through pictures, like fashion, food, gifts, crafts, and inspirational posts. The tagline is "Pin what you love." Fans of Pinterest create bulletin boards of pictures around their favorite interests, like coats and shoes, gardening, lattes, or quilts, for example. It is incredibly easy to use and has a dedicated user base. If you have great pictures of your product, especially if it looks good in photos of it being used, this can be a great way to create buzz and interest for your product.

Pinterest is different from Facebook and Twitter, in that the majority of the users are women. It is dominated by women's topics like fashion, diet, exercise, beauty products, pretty pictures, crafts and recipes. Products geared to these demographics tend to do

A MARKETING VIDEO
Tell your product story, with the power of video. No other media is as compelling as video in conveying the purpose, promise, image, and emotional appeal of your product. Video can quickly show how your product is used, what problems it solves, and why they need it. Also, watching video is simply more fun and engaging than scanning pages of texts. Video creates the emotional connection that leads to sales conversions.

Video has been proven to be a key component to any online campaign. It increases conversions dramatically. When customers "see" a product in action, it is much easier to understand and more potent than long pages of product descriptions and text. Video can convey the entire message in seconds. In 2015, over $6 billion was spent on video advertising. And video is critical to search, Google automatically ranks websites with video on them higher than other websites with similar authority. It's no longer a choice, video is now integral.

BLOG ARTICLE

When it comes to product branding, reputation building and sales, a blog is considerably more than just a quick couple of paragraphs tossed off when you have a free moment. Writing a professional quality blog that will get results is a specialized process that takes knowledge and creativity. The purpose of blog posts is to keep your product uppermost in the mind of your customers, with engaging stories about your product and other topics they may find interesting. Blogs are also designed to reach new customers. In order to reach new customers, blog posts need to rank well with search engines. This is done through careful selection of keywords, which can draw potential customers to your website through search engines like Google.

Blog posts are also more than just text, they need to look great too. Interesting images and videos not only help to tell the story, they also help to create interest. On business websites, you can't simply share images found elsewhere on the internet. Images need to be selected or created that are original and can legally be used for commercial purposes. Our bloggers have experience creating and editing images, as well as providing the correct sizing, optimization and tags which are important for ease of use and search engines.
And of course, the purpose of the post is to build brand awareness and sales. Every post contains a strong “call to action.” In the case of a sales message, the “call to action” is obvious, push the button or go to the store and buy the product now. However, there are also more subtle actions in brand building. Commonly you will find suggestions to “go to our website,” “read more,” or “stay updated,” in many commercial blog posts. These are important in building interest for future products and releases, and as a way to maintain contact with buyers.

Digital content is the backbone of every online marketing campaign. The content needs to be organized and coordinated for maximum benefit and reach. Brand features, target audience, media platform, and product all need to be taken into account and balanced into an effective, engaging campaign that drives sales and growth. It’s not an easy task, but because of our vision, World Patent Marketing excels at influential content marketing.

SOCIAL MEDIA COMPETITOR ANALYSIS

A first step in developing your social media voice and strategy is a thorough analysis of the competition. This is an essential task for many reasons. First of all, as you develop your unique voice and brand image, you need to What is Direct Response TV?

Direct Response TV, also known as DRTV, is a particular type of television advertising. It is designed to allow the customer to purchase the product immediately, while watching television, either by calling in to a toll-free 800 number, or by using the web. This form of advertising is also known as Direct Response Marketing. It is very powerful, because it allows for immediate feedback, there is no waiting or tracking sales over days or weeks. A DRTV campaign produces results in real-time. These ads can range from 30 second to two minute television commercials, and even to 30 minute infomercials. DRTV varies from brand building and awareness commercials in that the response is immediate and measurable.

What is Direct Response TV good for?
Direct Response TV harnesses the power of television with immediate customer feedback.
This makes it a fantastic medium for launching new products. The feedback is immediate and the "impulse to buy" can be strongly measured in real time. The instant feedback loop can provide valuable information on customers' needs and attitudes toward the product and message.
And success can be stunningly fast. DRTV is responsible for numerous overnight success stories and any number of products that have become household names. DRTV is a strong way to build a brand and product awareness, brand loyalty and a strong customer base.

What are the benefits of a Direct Response TV campaign?

The greatest benefit of DRTV is the ability to create instant sales and return on investment. These sales tend to be high-margin sales that yield quick profits in a short time-frame. Both shorter 30 second and longer 60 second spots provide management with instant information regarding the effectiveness of their messaging and consumer reaction to the product. We can take that feedback, assess it, refine it, and improve it to yield continually stronger results over time.

DRTV campaigns build strong consumer interest and a loyal customer base, with high return on investment sales.

What kinds of products do best with DRTV infomercials?

DRTV is a great place for new inventions and innovative new products. Products that solve real world everyday problems and offer affordable solutions are likely to do well on DRTV. Ideally, DRTV products have broad consumer appeal, at an affordable "impulse buy" price point. Beauty products, kitchen and household products, appliances, gardening products, and personal care products have all found success on DRTV.

How does DRTV media differ from other commercial media?
The most important aspect of DRTV is the strong call to action. In traditional branding media, the goal is not to create an immediate purchase, but to cement the product in the customer's mind for later purchase. With DRTV there is no waiting time, the message is to buy the product now, immediately, from the comfort of the couch.

Does anybody buy that stuff that you see advertised in the middle of the night?
Yep. They buy a lot of it. Fortunes have been made from late night DRTV marketing. But, DRTV is not just a 'middle of the night,' 'low rent' tactic. DRTV can air at any time of day, the particular time is chosen for maximum return on investment, and that can vary by product.

How is success measured with DRTV?
It depends on the particulars of your product, your market, and the details of your media campaign. There is no single success metric. But, most professionals in the industry use one or a combination of the following; Cost Per Order (CPO), Media Efficiency Ratio (MER), or Customer Acquisition Cost (CAC). CPO is the cost for each order for a campaign, you arrive at this number by dividing the cost for the media by the number of orders. MER looks at how much you bring in, the revenue, compared to the cost for the campaign. CAC is often used for products like prescription drugs, which bring in revenue for a long period of time into the future. In this case, they are most concerned about the customer acquisition cost, as profits are realized in the future.

These metrics are important snapshots of DRTV campaign success. The lower the CPO, the better. The higher the MER, as in the revenue compared to the cost, the better. CAC provides a snapshot of the cost to acquire each customer. Industry trade groups and television marketing teams have developed database information on rates of return for different industries, time slots, and demographics. You can plan your campaign with these metrics, and compare its success against these benchmarks.

Does DRTV become less effective over time?

All television advertising, including DRTV, needs to be fresh and original. Typically, DRTV campaigns are refreshed after a year of air-time. This "refresh" may not entail an entirely new production, often editing can change the campaign enough to make it feel new.

Are upsells essential for a successful DRTV campaign?

Industry research shows that upsells account for 15% to 29% of orders. That's a big chunk of revenue. The creation of new and related products can help your new product become financially viable. When using DRTV, don't discount your upsell sales options.

Is DRTV the only thing I need to do to market my product?

You don't want to stop marketing with DRTV only. While it is a powerful sales and revenue generator, it also opens many new options for marketing and merchandising your product. The DRTV campaign creates a lot of orders through the immediate purchase process, but it also creates powerful brand awareness and follow on purchases, particularly in the digital media. Your campaign should have a mix of DRTV, digital marketing, email marketing, websites and SEO, radio advertising, public relations, and celebrity endorsements.

How long does it take to produce a DRTV commercial?

It varies by product and production values, but typically it takes from 2 to 6 months. This includes the entire process, from the beginning of the creative process, through scripts, shoots, and post-production. It can vary depending on the availability of talent, locations, production value, and available footage.

What is the proportion of DRTV sales online vs. phone orders?

This varies tremendously depending on the product. Different target audiences have different habits and expectations. An older audience may tend to use the phone for orders, while a millennial audience will order online. The trend favors online, with this sector growing rapidly and approaching 80% in some cases.

Is a website necessary for DRTV campaigns?

Yes. The website is essential for on-the-spot orders for people who prefer to order online rather than call, as well as for follow-on orders. The DRTV website should be optimized for all formats, with a call to action that supports your DRTV campaign.

Do I have to take phone orders, requiring a call center to take orders?

DRTV campaigns usually offer customers the choice of calling in their order or placing an order on the website. Ignoring phone orders eliminates one of the great strengths of a DRTV campaign. People can place a phone order immediately, without even leaving the couch; they can dial the number and speak to a helpful representative immediately without booting up a computer that might be in another room, waiting for the site to load, etc. World Patent Marketing provides overseas call centers that can provide real results at a reasonable cost, that can turn your campaign into a success.

Is My Product Right for DRTV?
Is the product unique and revolutionary?
Is your DRTV commercial new and exciting?
Boring and everyday is not going to cut it. If you can buy it cheap at Wal-Mart, why would a customer bother to get excited?
DRTV is all about new and different products. They don't have to be on the level of rocket science, but they should be original and solve real world problems. And the message must be compelling. It may not sound tough, but it takes a heck of a lot of interest to get someone who is happily relaxing in front of the TV to pick up the phone, fish out the credit card, and make that call. That's not easy. The key is to have a product that is revolutionary. This means, lots of people need it and can't get it anywhere else. Or, that you offer the same product for a far superior price. Or that the customer gets a lot more product and value than they could anywhere else.

Do I need a mobile website for DRTV?
Yes. A huge percentage of the public now access the web exclusively on their phones, and this percentage is growing every year. You do not necessarily need to have a dedicated mobile website, a responsive version of your website will do. But, it must be easy to use in the mobile version. Mobile websites are no longer option, they have become integral to the web experience, and thus to the online shopping experience.

Have you experienced dramatic results with DRTV products?
Yes, one product alone, The Snuggie, sold over 30 million units and grossed $500 million. That's a pretty solid case for the power of DRTV. And The Snuggie is just one among many successful products that made their mark in this market.

Does the infomercial product have mass appeal?

DRTV is all about reaching a large broad-based audience. To do well and justify the costs of DRTV, a product must have mass appeal. It isn't that niche products aren't worthy or capable of success in the marketplace, it is simply that DRTV is not the place for them. Products that do well on DRTV can appeal to millions of users, rather than thousands. Among the long-term best products are acne creams and weight loss aids. 30 million Americans suffer from acne, providing a market of suitable size. These is mass appeal for skin care products. Combined with a great DRTV ad and high production values, this has been a win year after year.

Weight-loss is also another hit on DRTV. More than half of Americans are clinically obese. Every one of them can use a weight loss program. Some other categories are products to combat hair loss, fitness, and anti-aging. Notice a common trend here, all of these products solve problems that are embarrassing. The ability to order the product anonymously online through a DRTV ad may be particularly appealing. After all, who wants to stand in line at the store with the hair replacement formula in hand?

Ideal DRTV candidates are products with mass appeal for a huge audience.

What are the typical margins for DRTV?

DRTV products should sell for at least 5 times the cost of goods. If you are selling a product for $20, it should not cost more than $4. The margin allows you to comfortably cover the high media costs required in a DRTV campaign. Many newcomers grossly underestimate their required margin, and even if successful in sales volume, can actually lose money on every sale.

However, there is an exception to the rule. Products that generate ongoing sales, such as a diet pill, skin care line, or prescription drug, that continue to generate sales over a long period of time may have dramatically lower margins for the initial purchase. The lower margins at the front end, are made up for with additional purchases of the product later on. Also, products that are available in stores and can be continually purchased again and again can have lower margins, as the DRTV is not the only driver of sales, but an addition to a complete retail merchandising chain.

Can the product be demonstrated on TV?
This is critical for DRTV success. You will need to show your product in action. Is it fun to use? Easy to use? Fast acting?
Does the viewer know exactly what is going on just by watching your DRTV commercial? They need to be able to see it working. That is how they come to imagine what it will do for them. When it comes to DRTV, seeing is believing.
Your product needs to be easily understood by the viewer just by watching.
Does the product offer a unique opportunity and great value? Everybody loves a good deal. A great deal can be the key to success in the world of DRTV, where strong value statements are king. No matter what the actual cost/benefit, the DRTV ad should make a direct appeal to "perceived value." World Patent Marketing will help you to develop your messaging so that the perceived value in your offer shines through. We can take your initial product and expand it into an entire value system, by piling on the product benefits and offers. Since consumers love to get a lot for a little, expanding the offering can be a key to success.
Is celebrity talent necessary for DRTV? Not for every product. There have been plenty of DRTV campaigns that didn't have a star or celebrity in sight. Often real people, folks like your viewers, offer more credibility for a given product. On the other hand, celebrities offer a certain type of instant credibility and name recognition. The right star can help to establish an immediate rapport with the audience and can truly move a product.

It's easy to know what elements you need on the screen. But laying them out is the tricky part.

Have you ever had an app react perfectly on cue and feel totally natural? That's the sign of an expert UI. Achieving this means taking our work beyond mere wireframes. At the end of the UX phase, we will present you with your app's blueprints.

USER INTERFACE

Once wireframes & blueprints are created, we formulate the UI. The UI extends upon the language of your brand to create a fully fledged identity.

We select key screens from the blueprints to begin our creation process. Once the UI is finalized, most developers would move on to development. But at World Patent Marketing, that's when we get started with polish.

Your app comes to life during UI and UX, but our round of polish is where the magic happens. It's where we add that extra little something that is World Patent Marketing's signature style.
Notice how this site you're on is a bit slicker than the others you've visited lately?
That's polish. We perfect animations, transition states, and add all the fine details and special touches that make an app a World Patent Marketing app.

Concepting & Strategy
From fully fleshed-out concepts to one-sentence pitches, this is where our team stress-tests every project that comes through World Patent Marketing's doors. We want to know why your idea makes sense, why it's going to be successful, why anyone would care about it. This is where our expert strategists will challenge assumptions and overhaul business plans.
Working hand-in-hand with our clients, we take your initial concept and merge it with everything the World Patent Marketing team knows about mobile, about startups, about what does and doesn't work. We turn ideas into actual products.
Once we all agree on a general direction, World Patent Marketing's team fleshes out all the details. One of the great benefits of this process is that minutes in strategy translate to an hour in wireframing, a few hours in design, and days or even weeks in development.

Deliverable: The Feature Set

The feature set is your project's bible. It's a plain-English, written description of how your app is going to work. It's what our designers use to come up with designs and our developers use as a guideline for coding. It is the foundation for all the steps to come.

Branding & Design

One of the biggest is the solid design behind everything we do. In a crowded marketplace, the perfect design will help your product stand out. It's the first touchpoint you'll have with users, and it's important to make it count.

Our diverse group of designers are united by their passion for good design and high-end aesthetic. No matter which of our

The functionality of your app and how solidly it's coded is critical. But when it comes to first impressions, it's all about design. The look and feel of your app will set the tone for everything else. Our team is deeply experienced and well-trained, with each designer balancing illustrative creativity with a deep understanding of app layout.

Development & Launch

Development isn't just about writing code.
The very first step in developing a perfect app is figuring out its architecture. We loop in our lead architect and a team of senior developers to pick the perfect technology stack for your product.

When it's time for development to actually start, we assign specialists that match with the technologies selected during the architecture phase. Our agile-based development runs in two-week sprints that result in a new, incremental build at the end of each fortnight.

Incremental quality assurance analysis means that there are no surprises at the end.
And once the app is ready for the public, we launch it to the store and your app goes live. Our team does everything from making sure your desired app name is available in the store to ensuring every app gets through Apple’s notoriously fickle acceptance process.

Marketing

Launching an app is no easy feat. But getting your app to the store is only half the battle.
When it comes to marketing, there is no one-size-fits-all solution. And so World Patent Marketing has built a robust network of in-house marketing experts.

DESIGN AND ENGINEERING

Concept Generation
Three Dimensional Virtual Prototype
Industrial Design Services
Three Dimensional Product Animations
At World Patent Marketing, concept development begins with a team effort, to collaborate, share ideas, and work out the details of your invention idea. This is a critical phase of the project, where we seek input from all of the different departments, engineering, design, marketing, manufacturing, in order to arrive at the best solutions quickly. From these sessions, models and drawings are created for your feedback and approval. These sessions are creative storms, brainstorming is commonly used. Our multi-disciplined team examines the product from various angles, offering input and ideas, trying out all of the possibilities. They look at the project from every possible angle, including engineering, design, materials, manufacturing methods, functionality, details, color and finish. The drawings and models bring these ideas to life and become the starting point for your product.

We have many design choices, the particular product dictates the best method for presenting product drawings and models. When the details are finished, your product is ready to be made into a presentation prototype.
INDUSTRIAL DESIGN SERVICES

The World Patent Marketing design team works closely with our manufacturing department to create your final product designs. These designs build upon the best aspects of your unique vision, while adapting it to high quality manufacturing requirements. Our goal is to create a product that is useful, elegantly designed, durable, stands out in the marketplace, and can be manufactured at a price point that ensures success in the marketplace. Our teams have extensive experience in designing, refining, developing, and manufacturing successful products. The team incorporates the skills of designers, as well as in the fields of electrical, mechanical, materials, and industrial engineering. This technical knowledge, expertise, and experience are invaluable when it comes to efficiently developing and manufacturing successful, functional products.

Three-Dimensional Product Animation

Our 3D product animations are an important step in the design process. At World Patent Marketing, we have found that 3D product animations, or 3D prototypes as they are also called, are one of the best low cost ways to demonstrate how your product works, what it looks like from every angle, and to refine design details.

Demonstrate Product Details

Video is a great way to advertise and market your product. But during the development stage, 3D animations are superior. With 3D animation, you can test your product without having to go through the expense of making a physical prototype. The 3D animation allows you to look at the product from every angle, almost pick it up and turn it around, and even look at the details inside. And you can zoom in or out, to perfect the smallest details.

Get to Market Faster

3D animation doesn't require a physical prototype, as video or photography does. So you can begin marketing your product to investors, and retailers faster with 3D animation. With 3D animation you can present your product at meetings and trade shows, without going through the expense of manufacturing the product first.

Save Time and Production Costs

You don't need to hire a film crew and production team to produce a 3D animation. This can save a tremendous amount of time and money. Plus, 3D animations are usually developed from your engineering CAD files, they take advantage of essential work that has already been done. 3D animation can be a real time and money saver over video, particularly in the early stages of the invention process. And product details can be easily changed, allowing for market tests and changes to made easily and efficiently.

Prototypes are essential to the product development process. High quality prototypes are essential to design, manufacturing, and marketing plans. Technology has rapidly advanced and altered the process of prototype design and production. World Patent Marketing uses the most advanced techniques, selected on a case by case basis to best suit each particular project. We offer four types of prototypes:

PROTOTYPE
FOUR TYPES OF PROTOTYPE
PRESENTATION PROTOTYPE
The first phase of product production involves creating a presentation prototype. This prototype has the look and feel of the actual finished product. It should look and feel like the finished product. It is used to for marketing presentations and to test and finalize design details like the color, texture and finish.

PROOF-OF-CONCEPT PROTOTYPE

The second phase of a product prototype process involves the creation of a proof-of-concept prototype. This prototype usually doesn't look like the finished product, it is created to test if the concept works. These are sometimes necessary for the patent application and investment.

FUNCTIONAL PROTOTYPE

The third phase of a product prototype is the building of a finished model. These are often done in small run manufacturing facilities. It will look and work just like the finished product, but it is not necessarily built in the same manufacturing plant or on the same machines. It is useful for creating an actual physical model of the final product.

PRODUCTION PROTOTYPE

The fourth and final phase of a prototype is an actual working product. It is built on the exact same machines and assembly lines as your final invention. This prototype allows you to approve the details of your invention. It is very important to have a perfect production prototype before proceeding to mass manufacture of your product.

This product is offered by the World Patent Marketing Custom Products Group. Please call for pricing.
CREATING THE PROTOTYPE

Your Design Becomes Reality

World Patent Marketing uses prototypes as a design tool. They help us to refine the product concept, they are models of the final product.

Prototyping is crucial to product development since you’re creating a unique product.

Prototypes allow you to thoroughly examine your design, test it and alter it and test it again. Prototyping allows the developer to check for flaws and to make sure the product works correctly and is easy to use. In addition, the prototype is a physical version of your idea that can be shown to potential investors. One other crucial part of prototype testing is safety. The prototypes offer the chance to test for both safety and durability. The prototype allows designers to create product care and safety instructions.
ADVANTAGES OF PROTOTYPES

1. Prototypes enable you to test and refine your design. This includes functionality, appearance, and cost of manufacturing. There is no substitute for a physical model when it comes time to make the final assessment on these processes and features. A physical prototype allows you to determine if the product works as expected, and eliminate unforeseen issues or potential problems.

2. Prototypes allow you to test the performance of different materials. The only way to be sure that particular materials will be durable and stand up to the required use for a new invention, is to build a prototype and test it. The prototype allows you to discover and repair design flaws early in the invention process.

3. Prototypes help you to communicate the features and function of your product more easily; that includes to investors, buyers, and most importantly your product development team.

4. Great prototypes encourage others to take your product seriously. There is simply no question that in a head to head competition between two product ideas, the inventor with the superior prototype is going to shine and have greater credibility. It's simply human nature. A high quality prototype can put you over the top and provide an edge in attracting investors and a quality team.

THE BUILD PROCESS

VETTED FACTORIES

Choosing the right factory is one of the most important aspects of production. It is also the one in which most lone entrepreneurs make their biggest mistake. They simply do not know what to look for or how to protect their interests. World Patent Marketing overcomes this problem by having a core group of factories at our disposal. These facilities are carefully vetted and over time we have established trust and confidence with the staff. Our facilities have varying specialties and we are aware of which factories are best for particular inventions and products. With our network of facilities we can manufacture products in almost any product category. We have bullet-proof supplier agreements that protect your interest in both production quality and protection of intellectual property.

INDUSTRY EXPERTS

Over the last several decades, Asia has become the manufacturer of the world. As such, they have the most experienced experts and manufacturing talent on the planet. World Patent Marketing has attracted the best of them, creating a team of qualified™ industry experts in a wide field of manufacturing services. Whether you require plastic injection molding, material stamping, PCB fabrication, high-

MERCHANDISING HUBS
World Patent Marketing incorporates merchandise hubs to keep projects on track. Our product teams oversee and coordinate the entire product development process. Through a variety of proprietary communications technology and communication software, we manage tasks, track discussion, maintain files on changes and sign-offs, and make it available online so the entire team can stay current on development progress. Frequent communication is required to successfully complete projects. We have developed a system to maintain clear, transparent and open communication at all times. Our hubs keep everyone in touch and projects on track.

SMALL BATCH MANUFACTURING
First orders are usually for small-runs of a product. These do not require large-scale manufacturing. We have facilities in China that are dedicated to smaller production runs. They coordinate with other facilities, to easily transfer tooling and technology to larger factories.

PRODUCT CERTIFICATION

Product certification is critical in almost every industry, from consumer products, to electronics, and medical devices. We partner with various agencies and companies to make the process smooth and efficient. FREE PATENT REFERRAL
Is your idea protected?
World Patent Marketing can refer you to an independent patent attorney or agent that is part of WPM's Patent Referral Network. He or she can help prepare a utility, design or plant patent application with the US Patent and Trademark Office. World Patent Marketing is not a law firm and does not provide legal advice. All legal questions regarding the patent filings must be communicated directly with your selected patent practitioner.

THE PROVISIONAL PATENT APPLICATION ◆ Allows you up to a year of protection, during which time you can determine the commercial potential of your invention. This is a window of opportunity before you need to commit to the cost of filing and prosecution of a regular application for a patent. When you file the provisional patent application, you are a lowed a year to assess the potential. A year may not be enough time to fully assess the value and potential of an invention, but it is nonetheless a valuable window that protects your invention while you begin the steps of production and marketing. If you have not found any interest at all in a year, you may want to rethink going through the time and expense of filing fora regular patent.

- When you have a provisional patent, you use a "Patent Pending" notice to prevent people from infringing upon or copying your invention. The notice lets people know that you have gone through the appropriate steps to protect your invention, and that they cannot copy it or reproduce it. It may seem to be a small protection, but most of the types of people who actively look for good ideas to steal and copy, will automatically stay away from those marked "patent pending." It isn't worth it to them to get involved in a patent battle or lawsuit. The "patent pending" notice has much the same effect as a sign on the front of a house stating that there is monitored burglar surveillance; thieves leave both of them alone.

- An important aspect of the provisional patent application filing is that it established a fixed and legal date. If the provisional patent is granted, it is enforced from the day of the filing. The United States is now a first-to-file country, so the filing date is important for inventors' rights.

- The provisional patent application offers inventors privacy along with protection. Provisional patents are confidential, unlike regular patents. During the 12 month period, no one can find out information about your patent, and no information can be disclosed, except under two cases:

A WORLD PATENT
MARKETING
1680 Meridian Ave., Suite 600, Miami Beach, FL 33139
1. When you make regular patent application in that time.
2. When there is a dispute regarding your rights to the patent.

With these two exceptions, the provisional patent is a confidential document that keeps the details regarding your invention safe.

UTILITY PATENT PROTECTION
(U.S. Protection Only)

Issued for the invention of a new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or a new and useful improvement thereof. The utility patent generally permits its owner to prevent others from making, using or selling the invention for a period of up to twenty years from the date of patent application filing. Approximately 90% of the patent documents issued by the USPTO in recent years have been utility patents, also referred to as "patents for invention".

DESIGN PATENT APPLICATION
(U.S. Protection Only)

In the United States, a design patent is a form of legal protection granted to the ornamental design of a functional item. Design patents are a type of industrial design right, a bit like copyright for products. Ornamental designs of jewelry, clothing, food containers and computer icons are examples of objects that are covered by design patents. The Design Patent permits its owner to exclude others from making, using, or selling the design. Design patents are granted for the term of fifteen years.

Auto Makers Enter Untested Waters As World Patent Marketing Introduces Rim-A-Tatch, A Stylish And Timeless Invention For The Automotive Industry

CHICAGO, IL (PRWEB) SEPTEMBER 13, 2015

World Patent Marketing, a vertically integrated manufacturer and engineer of patented products, announces the Rim-A-Tatch, an automobile invention that covers and protects the rims of car wheels.

"The Auto Mechanics market is worth $62 billion," says Scott Cooper, CEO and Creative Director of World Patent Marketing. "The years of recession led to a drop in disposable income, causing many consumers to turn to auto parts retailers or fix their vehicles on their own. Others opted to delay non essential car and truck repairs as long as possible with different devices and contraptions."

"Cars are a way to define one's lifestyle," says Cathy's Bella, Director of Product Development for World Patent Marketing. "Swanky cars mean that a man has made a name for himself. It is not just the body of the car that we see, but also the wheels. We all know that rims are not that dirt cheap, in fact they are even costly. Auto Makers Enter Untested Waters As World Patent Marketing Introduces Rim-A-Tatch, A Stylish And Timeless Invention For The Automotive Industry

Posted: Sep 14, 2015 4:31 AM

Chicago, IL (PRWEB) September 13, 2015

World Patent Marketing, a vertically integrated manufacturer and engineer of patented products, announces the Rim-A-Tatch, an automobile invention that covers and protects the rims of car wheels.

“The Auto Mechanics market is worth $62 billion,” says Scott Cooper, CEO and Creative Director of World Patent Marketing. “The years of recession led to a drop in disposable income, causing many consumers to turn to auto parts retailers or fix their vehicles on their own. Others opted to delay non-essential car and truck repairs as long as possible with different devices and contraptions.”

“Cars are a way to define one’s lifestyle,” says Cathy Bella, Director of Product Development for World Patent Marketing. “Swanky cars mean that a man has made a name for himself. It is not just the body of the car that we see, but also the wheels. We all know that rims are not that dirty, cheap, in fact they are even costly. That is why having a protective accessory for car parts is an absolute must to any car enthusiast. Our newest automobile invention, Rim-A-Tatch does just that.”

The Rim-A-Tatch is a protective car accessory that will help prevent dents, paint sprays, and other forms of damage for your set of wheel’s rims. This automobile invention is fitted with a rim hook that covers the rims keeping them in good condition, especially after a cleaning or painting job. It has been designed with a circular shape to complement all types and sizes of rims. This automobile invention will help decrease the vehicle expenses of any owner that may be caused by frequent damage to the car's rims.

“This is easy to use, stylish and timeless, as well as convenient and lightweight,” says Vladimir P., inventor of the Rim-A-Tatch. “This automobile invention will help car owners protect their vehicle’s rims. It will also decrease their car expenses because of needed rim replacements. It will also be a breakthrough automobile invention for car detailing and automobile shops that does cleaning and paint jobs. It covers the rims well, thus reducing the frequency of rim damage and increasing client satisfaction.”

Rex Roth, a car owner from Cincinnati, OH, has this to say about the Rim-A-Tatch: “This automobile invention is a great way to protect your wheels. It certainly helps vehicle owners like myself steer clear of unnecessary expenses and keep your wheels looking new. Rim replacements will certainly be less frequent with this on hand.”

The Rim-A-Tatch not only is a protective car accessory, it also helps keep the car rims look new and clean.

Auto Makers Enter Untested Waters As World Patent Marketing Introduces Rim-A-Tatch, A Stylish And Timeless Invention For The Automotive Industry

Chicago, IL (PRWEB) September 13, 2015

World Patent Marketing, a vertically integrated manufacturer and engineer of patented products, announces the Rim-A-Tatch, an automobile invention that covers and protects the rims of car wheels.

"The Auto Mechanics market is worth $62 billion," says Scott Cooper, CEO and Creative Director of World Patent Marketing. "The years of recession led to a drop in disposable income, causing many consumers to turn to auto parts retailers or fix their vehicles on their own. Others opted to delay non essential car and truck repairs as long as possible with different devices and contraptions."

"Cars are a way to define one’s lifestyle," says Gattya Bella, Director of Product Development for World Patent Marketing. "Swanky cars mean that a man has made a name for himself. It is not just the body of the car that we see, but also the wheels. We all know that rims are not that dirt cheap, in fact they are even costly, that is why having a protective accessory for car parts is an absolute must to any car enthusiast. Our newest automobile invention, Rim-A-ATCH does just that.

The Rim-A-ATCH is a protective car accessory that will help prevent dents, paint scrapes, and other forms of damage for your set of wheel’s rims. This automobile invention is fitted with a rim hook that covers the rim keeping them in good condition, especially after a cleaning or painting job. It has been designed with a circular shape to complement all types and sizes of rims. This automobile invention will help decrease the vehicle expenses of any owner that may be caused by frequent damage to the car’s rims.

“This is easy to use, stylish and timeless, as well as convenient and lightweight,” says Vladimir P., inventor of the Rim-A-ATCH. “This automobile invention will help car owners protect their vehicle’s rims. It will also decrease their car expenses because of needed rim replacements. It will also be a breakthrough automobile invention for car detailing and automobile shops that does cleaning and paint jobs. It covers the rims well, thus reducing the frequency of rim damage and increasing client satisfaction.”

Rex Roth, a car owner from Cincinnati, OH, has this to say about the Rim-A-ATCH: “This automobile invention is a great way to protect your wheels. It certainly helps vehicle owners like myself steer clear of unnecessary expenses and keep your wheels looking new. Rim replacements will certainly be less frequent with this on hand.”

The Rim-A-ATCH not only is a protective car accessory, it also helps keep the car rims look new and clean.

Auto Makers Enter Untested Waters As World Patent Marketing Introduces Rim-A-Tatch, A Stylish And Timeless Invention For The Automotive Industry

Chicago, IL (PRWEB) September 13, 2015

World Patent Marketing, a vertically integrated manufacturer and engineer of patented products, announces the Rim-A-Tatch, an automobile invention that covers and protects the rims of car wheels.

"The Auto Mechanics market is worth $62 billion," says Scott Cooper, CEO and Creative Director of World Patent Marketing. "The years of recession led to a drop in disposable income, causing many consumers to turn to auto parts retailers or fix their vehicles on their own. Others opted to delay non-essential car and truck repairs as long as possible with different devices and substitutions."

"Cars are a way to define one's lifestyle," says Catia Belli, Director of Product Development for World Patent Marketing. "Skanky cars mean that a man has made a name for himself. It is not just the body of the car that we see, but also the wheels. We all know that rims and tires are not that dirt cheap, in fact they are even costly! It is why having a protective accessory for car parts is an absolute must for any car enthusiast. Our newest automobile invention, Rim-A-Tatch does just that!"

The Rim-A-Tatch is a protective car accessory that will help prevent dents, paint sprays, and other forms of damage for your set of wheel's rims. This automobile invention is filled with a rim lock that covers the rim, keeping them in good condition, especially after a cleaning or painting job. It has been designed with a circular shape to complement all types and sizes of rims. This automobile invention will help decrease the vehicle expenses of any owner that may be caused by frequent damage to the car's rim.

"This is easy to use, stylish and timeless, as well as convenient and lightweight" says Vladimir P., inventor of the Rim-A-Tatch. "This automobile invention will help car owners protect their vehicle's rims. It will also decrease the cost for everyone because of needed rim replacements. It will also be a break through automobile invention for car detailing and automobile shows that does cleaning and paint jobs. It covers the rims, which reduces the frequency of rim damage and increasing client satisfaction."

Rex Roth, a car owner from Cincinnati, OH, has this to say about the Rim-A-Tatch: "This automobile invention is a great way to protect your wheels. It certainly helps vehicle owners like myself slower down unnecessary expenses and keep your wheels looking new. Rim replacements will certainly be less frequent with this in hand."

The Rim-A-Tatch not only is a protective car accessory, it also helps keep the car rims look new and clean.

Hipster's Skinny Jeans Are Out And World Patent Marketing's Miller Industrial Jeans Are In For Hard Labor

The New York Inventor Exchange approves the Miller Industrial Jeans for licensing and trading intellectual property rights.

Los Angeles, CA (PRWEB) September 13, 2015

World Patent Marketing, a vertically integrated manufacturer and engineer of patented products, announces the Miller Industrial Jeans, an apparel invention that gives industrial workers comfort in a pair of trousers.

"The Global Apparel Manufacturing industry earns $618 billion a year," says Scott Cooper, CEO and Creative Director of World Patent Marketing. "The industry is growing rapidly in Asia while declining severely in the United States. Firms in developed nations take advantage of cheaper labor costs in emerging markets. In fact, an increasing number of manufacturers are leaving the United States and Europe and setting up operations in North and Central Asia."

"The Miller Industrial Jeans offer comfort and protection," says Catoya Bella, Director of Product Development for World Patent Marketing. "Clothes are great for making a fashion statement but, sometimes, its primary purpose of protecting the body has been forgotten. This apparel invention is made of impenetrable material and is designed for hard labor."

The Miller Industrial Jeans have pockets that industrial workers and people on the move can easily use as well as having removable knee pads that help protect the wearer. It also ensures comfort as the user walks, kneels, and moves around. This apparel invention makes use of rectangular and flexible pads that allows for air flow and doesn’t impede blood circulation. It has a snug fit and makes use of hook and loop fasteners that secure the knee pads in place. It can be used in any environment, be it hot or cold and will not wear down due to constant use.

"Most jobs, like those of plumbers, electricians, carpenters, and mechanics require people to stand, kneel, and move around a lot," says inventor Gilbert M. "For people working in a construction site, they may not be aware of the presence of a nail on the floor as they kneel. The Miller Industrial Jeans is an apparel invention that can save people from these accidents while being ergonomic and comfortable to wear."

Nick Davis, a foreman and blogger from Kinston, NC, has this to say about the Miller Industrial Jeans: "Working on one’s knees has proven to be uneasy and difficult. Fortunately, the Miller Industrial Jeans is an apparel invention that provides plumbers and carpenters a little comfort while protecting them from a lot of possible accidents and injuries."

The Miller Industrial Jeans is an apparel invention that will make the already hard labor of construction a bit easier to bear.

Hipster’s Skinny Jeans Are Out And World Patent Marketing’s Miller Industrial Jeans Are In For Hard Labor

The New York Inventor Exchange approves the Miller Industrial Jeans for licensing and trading intellectual property rights.

LOS ANGELES, CA (PRWEB) SEPTEMBER 13, 2015

World Patent Marketing, a vertically integrated manufacturer and engineer of patented products, announces the Miller Industrial Jeans, an apparel invention that gives industrial workers comfort in a pair of trousers.

"The Global Apparel Manufacturing industry earns $618 billion a year," says Scott Cooper, CEO and Creative Director of World Patent Marketing. "The industry is growing rapidly in Asia, while declining severely in the United States. Firms in developed nations take advantage of cheaper labor costs in emerging markets. In fact, an increasing number of manufacturers are leaving the United States and Europe and setting up operations in North and Central Asia."

"The Miller Industrial Jeans offer comfort and protection," says Cattya Bella, Director of Product Development for World Patent Marketing. "Clothes are great for making a fashion statement but, sometimes, its primary purpose of protecting the body has been forgotten. This apparel invention is made of impenetrable material and is designed for hard labor."

The Miller Industrial Jeans have pockets that industrial workers and people on the move can easily use as well as having removable knee pads that help protect the wearer. It also ensures comfort as the user walks, kneels, and moves stuff around. This apparel invention makes use of rectangular and flexible pads that allows for air flow and doesn't impede blood circulation. It has a snug fit and makes use of hook and loop fasteners that secures the knee pads in place. It can be used in any environment, as it not so cold and will not wear down due to constant use.

"Most jobs, like those of plumbers, electricians, carpenters, and mechanics require people to stand, kneel and move around a lot," says Inventor Gilbert M. "For people working in a construction site, they may not be aware of the presence of a nail on the floor as they kneel. The Miller Industrial Jeans is an apparel invention that can save people from these accidents while being ergonomic and comfortable to wear.”

Nick Davis, a foreman and blogger from Kingston, NC, has this to say about the Miller Industrial Jeans: “Working on one’s knees has proven to be uneasy and difficult. Fortunately, the Miller Industrial Jeans is an apparel invention that provides plumbers and carpenters a little comfort while protecting them from a lot of possible accidents and injuries.”

The Miller Industrial Jeans is an apparel invention that will make the already hard labor of construction a bit easier to bear.

Subject: RE: World Patent Marketing

Mr. Levi,

What I am asking of you and by extension your client is not beyond the realm of reasonableness nor comprehension.

Put simply, when a patent application is filed, an official filing receipt is sent back confirming the patent in question and name of the patent applicant and future patent holder.

http://www.uspto.gov/web/offices/pac/mpep/s503.html

Your client, however, has only sent me a report that they themselves devised, which is neither the official USPTO patent application receipt that I am demanding, nor something incapable of being a complete falsification.

Additionally, you and by extension your client have completely and conveniently ignored the concerns that I addressed in an email 3 weeks ago, which I will again display here for your reference:

World Patent Marketing (whose very name implies the marketing of patents) ends their contractual obligation to their clients once their patent is filed AND YET also has a website that sells it's clients' inventions? Yeah, that makes absolutely no sense unless that website is a ruse and it's sole purpose of existence is to attempt to disqualify it's parent company as an invention promoter as defined by AIPA. If you try to click on the shopping section from the official website, it is a dead link, but the hyperlink you sent me again conveniently works just fine. Many of the things sold on that site are clearly NOT inventions that WPM had anything to do with (phone cases, printer ink, three-ring binders... are you kidding me?). The "as seen on TV" section is a laughable assortium of products that were definitely not advertised on television. Am expected to believe that WPM also sells copyrighted materials such as music and movies on that site too? Really? Did WPM help patent those things?

I was conveniently never told until now that WPM sells their inventions online. I was expressly promised that WPM attends tradeshows and will then market (again, as the names implies) it's patents so that when the patent does make money, WPM collects 10% of royalties while I keep the remaining 90%. I was told specifically that either I could pursue the patenting and promotion process all on my own and attend tradeshows with my patent by myself OR having WPM do all of that for me. Again, none of this would make any sense if WPM ends it's contractual obligations at patent filing.

Another aburdity is claiming that a website disparaging invention promotion schemes would be composed by a competitor. That's like Subaru trying to lower Porsche car sales by commissioning an article for the New York Times on how terrible of an idea it is to buy a new car; it's a lose-lose.

Also, why would so many reputable people work for a company that apparently just assess ideas and files patents? Theoretically WPM's only income is from the Global Invention Royalty Analysis fees, as the second fee is supposedly only used for filing the patent.

So to be crystal clear, if I do not receive BOTH the official patent application receipt from the USPTO proving that my patent was filed and that I am the future patent holder AND a detailed acknowledgement of and explanation for the aforementioned valid concerns, I will exercise my legal right to file legitimate complaints against WPM that in no way, shape, or form constitute punishable slander.

Prove that my specific claims are baseless. Prove that a legitimate patent application was indeed filed and that I am the future patent holder. Again, these are easily understandable and perfectly reasonable demands.

Dear Mr. Levi,

Your refusal to address the concerns that I raised about WPM nearly 3 weeks ago is indicative of a few possible scenarios:

1) You are deliberately ignoring me out of denial

2) You did, in fact, research the absurdities of your client and thus decided to cease representation

3) Or something else entirely...

Whatever the case, I expect a prompt explanation for your lack of correspondence AND an official patent application receipt NOT created by WPM proving that I am indeed the patent holder. If this does not happen within a reasonable time frame, I can and will use my legal rights to file the aforementioned complaints against WPM.

Dear Mr. Levi,

I do not have any agenda of defaming a legitimate company, nor do I care to get involved in a slander lawsuit.

I do, however, believe that I have been swindled out of a large sum of money by a skilled group of people knowledgeable of legal loopholes. Your client promised me things like weekly update correspondence, but instead exhibited a number of suspicious business behaviors mirroring EXACTLY the kind of scam artists that AIPA protects against, which conveniently does not apply to WPM.

This page sums explains what I’m talking about...

https://inventorwarning.wordpress.com/tag/world-patent-marketing/

I fully understand that you’ve no obligation to care at all about what I saying, much less give me any advice on the matter, but if you do have any input on what you as a skilled laywer think I should do, I would greatly appreciate it. Otherwise, I just threw away over $10,000 on a patent that I have no proof exists and services that most certainly won’t continue.
Thank you for your time,

Subject: RE: World Patent Marketing

Dear b

Your assertion that World Patent Marketing was required to make the disclosures below is based on your mistaken belief that WPM is an “invention promoter,” as defined by the American Investors Protection Act of 1999 (“AIPA”). It most certainly is not.

The AIPA also excludes from the definition of invention promoter “any person or entity involved in the evaluation to determine commercial potential of, or offering to license or sell, a utility patent or a previously filed nonprovisional utility patent application.” 35 U.S.C. § 297(c)(3)(C). Your patent falls within the United States Patent and Trademark Office definition of a utility patent, which is:

“Issued for the invention of a new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or a new and useful improvement thereof, it generally permits its owner to exclude others from making, using, or selling the invention for a period of up to twenty years from the date of patent application filing, subject to the payment of maintenance fees.”

http://www.uspto.gov/web/offices/ac/ido/oeip/taf/patdesc.htm. Notably, approximately 90% of the patent documents issued by the USPTO in recent years have been utility patents, which are also referred to as “patents for invention.” Id.

Should you continue with your current course of conduct, our correspondence with you would serve as evidence, in any legal proceeding, that you were fully informed about the governing law and deliberately chose to ignore it. You are once again warned to immediately stop your threats and harassment of our client or we will seek any and all remedies available under the law.

Very truly yours,

Andrew K. Levi, Esquire
LEHR, LEVI & MENDEZ, P.A.
Hello Andrew,

I noticed that the Cease and Desist letter that you sent stated that my claims of your client’s fraudulence are "baseless"...

Unfortunately this is not true and your client has indeed already broken the law. According to the USPTO, a company such as your client is legally required to furnish to those interested in its services a disclosure form which includes the following:

1. The total number of inventions evaluated by the invention promoter for commercial potential in the past 5 years, as well as the number of those inventions that received positive evaluations, and the number of those inventions that received negative evaluations

2. The total number of customers who have contracted with the invention promoter in the past 5 years, not including customers who have purchased trade show services, research, advertising, or other non-marketing services from the invention promoter, or who have defaulted in their payment to the invention promoter

3. The total number of customers known by the invention promoter to have received a net financial profit as a direct result of the invention promotion services provided by such invention promoter

4. The total number of customers known by the invention promoter to have received license agreements for their inventions as a direct result of the invention promotion services provided by such invention promoter

5. The names and addresses of all previous invention promotion companies with which the invention promoter or its officers have collectively or individually been affiliated in the previous 10 years
Not only has your client failed to disclose ANY of this information prior to entering into a contract with me (or indeed at any time), but they have also clearly failed to inform you of this illegal omission of information.

Attached are the new sales scripts and a draft of the Patent and Invention Intelligence Agreement. This agreement is a draft. There are still some legal and grammatical changes being made. Do not send out to customers under any circumstances. They will not be accepted and commission will not be paid to project managers if it is done. Small changes are made to this agreement daily. All the agreements are going out via HelloSign and project managers will be copied.

Your project manager can go straight from Script 1 to Script 2 if the customer completes his idea on the phone... There is no reason the close should take more than 2 to 3 days.

Make sure your project manager reads the agreement and understands it. Make sure they also read the blog post on the Patent and Invention Intelligence Group on the NEWS page of our web site.

There are going to be some significant changes to the PPPC as well...more focused on product development and the packages will not be sold by Patent type...more info to follow in the next few days...

Any questions, let me know.

Hi _____, it’s _____ from World Patent Marketing, how are you?

I wanted to go over a few things on the agreement that we emailed you.

This agreement might seem a bit overwhelming, and it was to me at first also. I want you to be aware that the patent and invention intelligence we use is also used by NASA and the National Institute of Health so it is going to be complicated and thorough, but I will walk you through it.

PAUSE

We are essentially a product development company. We have a word “patent” in our name because nobody today develops a product without protecting it, so we maintain a network of patent attorneys and agents that work for our clients. When a product is developed correctly, the patent can be a very valuable asset – worth millions of dollars.

There is a reason why Apple and Google spend a combined $20 billion dollars a year on patents.

PAUSE

We provide all the services that are necessary to take a product from an idea stage where it is now all the way to retail, television, and e-commerce. We provide all these different services, but we don’t know what services make sense for you until we can get some intelligence back on your idea.

PAUSE

Let’s talk about the report

There are four sections:

Search – we have a database of over 110 million patents in 128 jurisdictions worldwide. We pull up patents that are relevant to your idea.

Analysis – We analyze the patent trends and give you a list of patent valuations which shows what similar patents are worth.

Business Intelligence – Whereas a single patent deals with one invention, which may or may not be revolutionary and wide-ranging in its impact, the intelligence report examines that information in the aggregate, spotting trends and future market moves.
Industry Statistics – which is easier to understand and gives up-to-date industry information and market trends having nothing to do with the patent.

It should take about seven days from the time we receive payment to complete the intelligence report. You will receive the intelligence report by encrypted email, and a Senior Product Director will schedule a call to review the results with you and discuss next steps.

I want to point out that a lot of people call us and want to skip over this step. We don’t allow it. It doesn’t matter who you are. Everybody goes through the same process – even when the CEO launches his products, he goes through the same process.

We want you to know exactly what you are getting into. You don’t want any surprises down the road.

So, CLIENTS NAME, do you have any questions about moving forward with your project? (Wait for response)

CLOSE THE DEAL.
Hello CUSTOMER,

This is [YOUR NAME] with World Patent Marketing. Your idea was received and I want to take the opportunity and discuss it with you.

In your own words, can you tell more about the idea. I especially want to know how and you came up with the idea...

LET THEM TALK – DO NOT INTERRUPT – LISTEN TO THEM AND TRY AND UNDERSTAND THEIR IDEA – TAKE NOTES

Some ideas are perfect for TV, some are good just for the internet and others are perfect for retail stores.

I want to give you some examples of products that our CEO has manufactured:
Safetyblade.com
Squatchworld.com
Januscase.com

I want you to keep in mind that most inventors fail and most inventions do not go to market. Most companies are not going to tell you that. Our philosophy at World Patent Marketing is “brutal honesty” and we if we decide to move forward on your project, it’s important to me that you have realistic expectations.

Hopefully within a day or two, we will have a proposal for you and it will come by email.

Let us review the idea and I will get back to you tomorrow either way.

Have a good day.

Hey Scott, you asked me what my goal is and what I wanted. Honestly, my goal is to achieve 20,000 dollars to start my own business. I know it's little but coming from nothing I know I can make 20,000 dollars work for me. I'll sell the idea for that price or work something out with you. I'll guarantee you your money back if you want to right a contract up. I already started looking at locations for a grocery store. My father owned a supermarket before I am taking the route of a grocery store because I know it's supply and demand and people always need food and trust me, I can definitely turn 20,000 dollars to 50 dollars, and so on. I'm just taking a leap of faith maybe you would be interested in working with me. The way it sounds like to me we are alike. I'm just trying to better my situation. Hey you can even make money off of my story and how I came to World Patent Marketing for help. Really good publicity for you. Just think about it, I am very business oriented and maybe we can work on something. Thank you.

Bingo! After Learning that Proficient Bilinguals See Higher Earnings, World Patent Marketing Announces an Invention to Help You Make Mucho Dinero

New York, New York - February 20, 2015 - Studies have shown that proficient bilinguals see higher earnings than others who speak only one language. In response, World Patent Marketing is entering the language education invention game with Dual Language Bingo.

"There is a huge education problem in this country," said Scott Cooper, CEO and Creative Director of World Patent Marketing, "We are developing a product that can do a lot more for students than the No Child Left Behind Act. We need to compete globally. We need to give our students and future workforce every advantage to bring back America's middle class."

As the world shrinks, people from different backgrounds are encouraged to intermingle, and those that learn to adapt soon rise above the rest. Language is one aspect wherein people can adapt, and studies indicate that bilinguals make more money than others who speak only one language.

With this in mind, World Patent Marketing, the world’s fastest growing patent protection and inventor services organization, announces Dual Language Bingo, an education invention that enables students to learn two languages effectively through a set of tools, including, as the name suggests, a bingo game.

The idea that bilinguals make more money, however, isn't the only reason it's good to know more than one language. Research has shown that bilinguals are more resistant than others to brain deterioration brought on by advanced age.
Other studies have made a connection between multilingualism and the ability to multitask. This ability to juggle several tasks could help bilinguals make more money than their single-language colleagues. Multilingualism has also been connected with improved cognitive ability and more efficient brain function, which could, again, give bilinguals an edge over others.

Of course, one of the simplest explanations for bilinguals making more money than others could be that speaking more than one language opens up a wider array of career opportunities.

None of this really matters, however, unless people can actually learn more than one language. Dual Language Bingo combines a series of tools and activities, from flash cards and coloring books, to a bingo game, that are designed to engage different areas of the brain. While designed primarily for a classroom, Dual Language Bingo can also be utilized in several other environments, and can also be adapted to suit different age groups.

"I created Dual Language Bingo," developer Dalia S. explains, with a focus on "making the learning process fun and engaging." Thanks to World Patent Marketing, Dalia's education invention can help many more become bilinguals.

INDEX NO.: 510559/2015
Justice __________________________

AFFIRMATION IN SUPPORT OF MOTION FOR TEMPORARY RESTRAINING ORDER AND
PRELIMINARY INJUNCTION

ZACHARY S. TAYLOR, an attorney duly admitted to practice law in the courts of the State of New York, hereby affirms as follows under penalty of perjury, pursuant to CPLR § 2106 that the following is true and correct:

1. I am an attorney Of Counsel of the law firm Creizman PLLC, with offices located at 565 Fifth Avenue, 7th Floor, New York, New York 10017.

2. I represent Plaintiffs DESA Industries, Inc. d/b/a World Patent Marketing (“WPM”) and Scott J. Cooper and submit this Affirmation in support of Plaintiffs’ motion, pursuant to CPLR § 6201 et seq. for (1) a Preliminary Injunction enjoining Defendant from (a) publishing online or elsewhere false statements concerning WPM and/or Cooper and (b) threatening WPM or Cooper with publishing false statements about them online for the purpose of extortion or blackmail and (2) a Temporary Restraining Order enjoining Defendant from (a) publishing online or elsewhere false statements concerning WPM and/or Cooper and (b) threatening WPM or Cooper with publishing false statements about them online for the purpose of extortion or blackmail pending a hearing of the Motion for Preliminary Injunction.

3. As detailed in the accompanying Complaint, attached hereto as Exhibit A, the Plaintiffs in this action seek compensatory and punitive damages; injunctive relief requiring Defendant and any partners, agents, employees, representatives, assignees, and all persons acting in concert or participation with him (a) to refrain from publishing online or elsewhere false statements concerning Plaintiffs and (b) to desist from threatening WPM or Cooper with publishing false statements about them for the purpose of extortion or blackmail; reasonable attorneys’ fees and costs of this action; and all such other relief as the Court deems just and proper.

4. Plaintiffs’ Complaint alleges causes of action for libel and injurious falsehood.

5. A Preliminary Injunction should be granted because Plaintiffs satisfy each of the grounds for a grant of such relief.

6. First, Plaintiffs have a likelihood of success.

7. Specifically, as detailed in the Complaint, Cooper is the CEO of WPM, a provider of patent services.

8. Alexander Rudsky is a former employee of Cooper from a former business. It has been approximately eight years since he was last employed by Cooper.

9. On or about July 29, 2015, Rudsky began threatening Cooper and WPM by emails and voice message. At first the threats were veiled and accompanied by proposals to form a “partnership.” On or about August 21, 2015, the threats became more pointed. Rudsky emailed Cooper the following message, which is attached hereto as Exhibit B:
“Scott, I sent you an email the other day. I left you a message this morning. My advise [sic] is not to ignore and hope I go away...

“You do not need our group to make things difficult on you. So please man up and let’s go over a few things that are needed to discuss. Have a good weekend. I expect to hear from you today.”

10. On August 25, 2015, Rudsky made multiple defamatory statements about WPM and Cooper personally in two e-mails to a third party, Matthew G. Whittaker, who is a member of WPM’s advisory board as well as the former U.S. Attorney for the Southern District of Iowa. Those emails are attached hereto as Exhibits C and D. In the first email, Rudsky falsely claimed that Cooper owed him $200,000 and demanded that Cooper pay him. In addition, he stated, without presenting any evidence to support his claims, that WPM is a “scam” and that the customer reviews on its website and others are “fake.” Rudsky threatened to “inform[] everyone via any source I feel necessary to advise them that WPM is a scam.” He concluded by stating, “You have 48 hours from today to come up with the money that is owed to me. I hope I make myself clear...” See Exhibit C. In the second email, Rudsky threatened Mr. Whittaker himself, stating, “You are party too a scam that is driving allot [sic] of traffic to WPM site. You will be exposed... I hope I make myself clear Mr. Whitaker.” See Exhibit D.

13. On August 26, 2015, Plaintiffs engaged Creizman LLC. Later that day, we filed the Complaint in this action and emailed a copy of the complaint to Rudsky.

14. On the following day, an investigator attempted to serve Rudsky with the Summons and Complaint in this action at Rudsky’s last known address in Brooklyn. He was informed by the building super that Rudsky had moved out abruptly several months earlier.

15. Rudsky’s forwarding address is a P.O. Box in Brooklyn. The P.O. Box was registered to two addresses, one of which was the address in Brooklyn and the other in Oceanside, New York. On August 29, 2015, our investigator attempted to serve Rudsky at the address in Oceanside. However, he learned that the house belonged to the parents of Rudsky’s girlfriend, who told our investigator that they were unaware of Rudsky’s whereabouts.

16. On September 1, 2015, our investigator called Rudsky on the mobile telephone number that Rudsky had provided in one of his emails to Cooper. Rudsky answered and agreed to speak to him. Rudsky told him that he was out of New York State because he wants to make sure that he is not served. He said that he does not want to hire an attorney and he knows that he will have no choice but to retain counsel if he is served. Rudsky asked why he and Cooper cannot settle the matter and said that he is owed $200,000 from his prior employment with Cooper. Rudsky also said that regardless of whether he receives the money, he intends imminently to post damaging statements online about WPM and Cooper to the effect that WPM is a scam. When questioned as to the basis for his accusation, Rudsky could not identify any personal knowledge to support it; he merely pointed to the number of “hits” WPM receives on the Internet as “proof” that WPM is somehow illegitimate.

17. Plaintiffs maintain that Rudsky’s claims are completely without any basis in fact and have been made maliciously for no other reason than to extort money from Cooper and to destroy the reputation of WPM and Cooper himself.

18. Second, Plaintiffs will suffer irreparable harm if an injunction is not granted.

19. Specifically, WPM has a stellar reputation for the quality of its customer service. WPM has earned an A rating with the Better Business Bureau, and has received five-star aggregate ratings on Consumer Affairs, Google, Trustpilot, Shopper Approved, Customer Lobby and ResellerRatings.com. WPM depends on its reputation in order to maintain its position with the industry.

20. WPM has spent and continues to spend a great deal of money and resources on online marketing, which to be successful relies on the company’s good reputation on the Internet.

21. Although Rudsky’s claims are ridiculous, they will cause great harm to WPM’s business reputation if they are not prevented. Rudsky’s defamatory posts will effectively cancel out the company’s online marketing efforts, especially if his posts are disseminated on the Internet using multiple anonymous addresses, as Rudsky has already insinuated he will do, when he threatened that his “group” will “make things difficult” for WPM and Cooper.

22. Third, the balance of equities clearly favors the Plaintiffs. If an injunction is not granted, it will be devastating to WPM and Cooper because Rudsky has threatened imminently to begin an Internet smear campaign against them, which will harm their reputation and steer away potential customers. On the other hand, if the injunction is granted, Rudsky will simply be delayed from writing online reviews and comments. He has no pressing need to publish them. It is important to note that Rudsky is not and has never been a customer of WPM and that he has zero first-hand basis for making any claims whatsoever about the services WPM provides. Moreover, as his own emails make clear, he is not motivated by a desire to express himself, but rather to collect money.

23. Fourth, public policy favors granting an injunction. On the Internet, content produced by a single individual can find an immediate nationwide, even global, audience. Posts on crowd-sourced review sites can make or break a company’s reputation. While the freedom of expression should extend to legitimate commentary, there should be no such protection afforded to bogus reviews that are intended solely to harm others’ reputation and to extort money from them. Rudsky’s statements and actions make clear that his threatened reviews and comments fall squarely in the latter category. He has no first-hand knowledge of WPM’s business, and he is brazenly demanding that Cooper pay him money as the price for silence. In short, preventing Internet defamation like Rudsky’s promotes the public interest in protecting the reputation of innocent companies and individuals without impinging in any way on First Amendment rights.

24. Moreover, a Temporary Restraining Order should be issued to preserve the status quo until the hearing on whether to issue a Preliminary Injunction is held. Rudsky has stated that he is keeping out of New York State in order to avoid service, in the belief that this way he can conduct his smear campaign with impunity. Until he can be served and made to appear in this Court, the status quo should be preserved. Furthermore, maintaining the status quo will not harm Rudsky in any way; as stated above, he has no pressing need to make any statements about WPM and Cooper online, much less false and malicious statements. On the other hand, if he is not prevented from beginning his smear campaign, as he has threatened to do imminently, it will be devastating for WPM and Cooper.

25. No prior request has been made for the relief requested herein, nor have Plaintiffs sought any other provisional remedy.

26. For the foregoing reasons, we request that the Court issue (1) a Preliminary Injunction and (2) a Temporary Restraining Order pending a hearing on the motion for a Preliminary Injunction.

Attorneys for Plaintiffs
Plaintiffs DESA Industries, Inc. d/b/a World Patent Marketing ("WPM") and Scott J. Cooper by their undersigned attorneys, Creizman PLLC, for their complaint against Defendant, Alexander Rudsky, allege as follows:

NATURE OF ACTION

1. In or about July 2015, WPM and its CEO and Creative Director, Scott Cooper, began receiving a series of threatening emails. At first the author of these emails hid his identity, but by mid August 2015, the perpetrator revealed himself as well as his agenda: unless Mr. Cooper paid him $200,000, he would smear WPM’s reputation by writing spurious negative online reviews and filing bogus complaints with the Better Business Bureau. There is a name for a proposal like this: blackmail.

2. The author of the threats is the Defendant, Alexander Rudsky. He is a former employee of Mr. Cooper from a previous business venture who is desperate to make money by any means. In his communications with Mr. Cooper, he portrayed himself as the spokesperson for a “group” that will “make things difficult” for Mr. Cooper by destroying his and WPM’s reputation.

3. After writing several increasingly threatening emails, Rudsky upped the ante by making defamatory statements about Mr. Cooper and WPM in an email to a member of WPM’s advisory board, Matthew G. Whittaker, the former United States Attorney of the Southern District Iowa appointed by President George W. Bush. In this email, dated August 25, 2015, Rudsky falsely claimed that Mr. Cooper owed him money and demanded to be paid $200,000. Although he insisted to Mr. Whittaker that “[t]here is no blackmail of any kind,” he went on to do just that, by writing a defamatory screed about Mr. Cooper and WPM. Rudsky signed off the email to Mr. Whittaker with another ominous threat: “You have 48 hours from today to come up with the money that is owed to me... I hope I make myself clear...”

4. What is clear is that Rudsky is a desperate individual who thinks nothing of using libel and extortion to get what he wants. He has already defamed Mr. Cooper and WPM in his email to Mr. Whittaker in a brazen attempt to extort $200,000. And he is threatening to take further action imminently if he is not paid. As he stated in his emails to Mr. Cooper and Mr. Whittaker, this action will consist of him and his “group” writing bogus online reviews and complaints in order to smear Mr. Cooper and WPM.

5. Plaintiffs bring this action to recover damages from Rudsky for defamation and to obtain an injunction preventing Rudsky from engaging in further defamation against Mr. Cooper or WPM as part of his extortionate scheme.

PARTIES

6. Plaintiff WPM is a Delaware corporation conducting business in Miami-Dade County, Florida and elsewhere.

7. Plaintiff Scott J. Cooper is an individual residing in Miami-Dade County, Florida.

8. Defendant Alex Rudsky is an individual residing in Kings County.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

11. This Court has personal jurisdiction over Defendant under CPLR § 301 because Defendant resides and does business in New York, and under CPLR § 302 because this action arises out of Defendant’s tortious conduct in New York.

12. Venue is proper under CPLR § 503 because Defendant resides in Kings County.

FACTS

13. WPM is a worldwide provider of patent and engineering services that greatly depends on its stellar reputation in the industry to thrive. WPM offers its customers support through a full range of services, from researching, patenting and prototyping inventions, to manufacturing products, retail, and investing in some of its customers’ companies.

14. WPM prides itself on providing the utmost levels of quality and services to its clients. WPM has earned an A rating with the Better Business Bureau, and is a member of the US Chamber of Commerce, Dun and Bradstreet, the Association for Manufacturing Excellence, and the International Licensing Industry Merchandisers’ Association (LIMA). WPM has also received five-star aggregate ratings on Consumer Affairs, Google, Trustpilot, Shopper Approved, Customer Lobby and ResellerRatings.com.

15. WPM has spent a great deal of resources, including millions of dollars on advertising and marketing its services online, to ensure that it retains its reputation as an industry leader in customer satisfaction.

16. Mr. Cooper, WPM’s CEO is a successful businessman and a well-known philanthropist in Miami and Israel.

17. On or about July 29, 2015, Mr. Cooper, WPM’s CEO, received a long and ominous e-mail from an anonymous account identified only as “Ivory Soap,” who purported to speak on behalf of a mysterious “group.”

18. The email contained a rambling discussion of one of WPM’s products and went on to make vague proposals of a “partnership” between WPM and the sender’s “group” that “will be of mutual benefit.”

19. The email also contained the following veiled threat: “The group will not tolerate any negative publicity when it comes to WPM.”

20. The “partnership” proposal referenced in the email was entirely unsolicited, nor did Mr. Cooper have any idea what was the “group” that the anonymous author repeatedly mentioned. What is clear, however, is that the author was making negative insinuations about WPM’s hard-earned ratings from the BBB and other ratings sites. It is also clear that the author wanted something from WPM, although he did not say exactly what that was.
21. A follow-up to the email from “Ivory Soap” arrived several weeks later, in which the author of the first email revealed himself as “A. Rudsky,” using the email address (b) (6) .com.

22. This A. Rudsky was familiar to Mr. Cooper as Alex Rudsky, a former employee in a previous business venture. Mr. Cooper had parted ways with Rudsky eight years earlier.

23. In his second email to Mr. Cooper, dated August 18, 2015, Rudsky wrote, “In reading the [customer] reviews it seems you already have a couple thorns in your side. Do you need more?” This was a clear threat to fabricate negative reviews online.

24. In addition, the email concluded with a threat to harm WPM’s reputation. Referring to potential negative stories about WPM, Rudsky wrote, “We want to make sure these [stories] never make it to page 1...or all trust is gone[,]” This is a clear insinuation that he could harm WPM by falsely claiming on the Internet that WPM had faked the positive customer reviews that, in reality, are a reflection of the company’s stellar reputation.

25. As before, Rudsky proposed an unspecified “partnership,” but the tone of his second email was more obviously threatening.

26. Three days later, on or about August 21, 2015 Rudsky left a message with WPM’s receptionist, in which he threatened to make false statements about WPM to the Better Business Bureau.

27. Later that day, Rudsky sent a third email. Unlike the ones preceding it, this one was short and to the point. It read:

“You do not need our group to make things difficult on you. So please man up and let’s go over a few things that are needed to discuss. Have a good weekend. I expect to hear from you today.”

28. The statement that Rudsky’s “group” could “make things difficult on you” was a clear threat to WPM and Mr. Cooper himself.

29. Mr. Cooper then asked Matthew Whittaker, a member of WPM’s advisory board and a former U.S. Attorney to intervene. Mr. Whittaker wrote an email to Rudsky stating that Rudsky’s message and emails were “an apparent attempt at possible blackmail or extortion.” Mr. Whittaker admonished Rudsky not to engage in potentially illegal activity.

30. Rudsky’s response to Mr. Whittaker’s email was unhinged. In that email, dated August 25, 2015, he makes multiple defamatory statements about WPM and Mr. Cooper personally:

“Hi Matt,

“I know exactly who you are I have spent the last few months going over your site.

“Let me quickly explain how I came across WPM so you have a brief history. Annette Copper [sic], and my ex wife Judy are friends and communicate on regular basis. Annette mentions to Judy that Scott is in the patent business and is absolutely killing it. Judy calls me and says I know you are always looking for things to add to your export business and you should look in to this patent business. She goes on to tell me that Scott stole the idea from someone he came across and the business model really makes sense. The first thing that comes to mind is Scott Copper steal something from someone? Can’t be, that’s just not Scott. He is a stand up citizen and would never consider such a thing.

“A brief history with me and Scott so you are clear. Let me take you back to Old Merchants Bank. Me and Scott started that business from scratch. I was a 20% stakeholder (contract in hand). Towards the latter part of the venture Scott Cooper received a $1 million dollar pay out from a Mike Ashley. At that time I was owed $200k that Scott Cooper till this day has not paid me on. I am requesting that I get paid now.

“There is no blackmail of any kind. Based on our contract, that money is owed to me. I want my money that has been outstanding for over 5 years.

“Very simple. Scott Cooper is running an absolute scam. You know it as well as I do.... [] I have spent countless hours on your site... Every review is fake. I have also dug up many of the negative reviews that have been hidden within the google search. There is nothing wrong with me informing everyone via any source I feel necessary to advise them that WPM is a scam. Him owing me money has nothing to do with anything outside the obvious. I want my money that he owes me. If you are trying to bully me around it will not work well with me. Based on my history with Scott I know the attorneys he keeps on staff and how he uses them to deflect any negative publicity. Please work with Mr. Cooper to come up with a schedule of payments so that we can both move on.

“You have 48 hours from today to come up with the money that is owed to me... I hope I make myself clear...”

31. Rudsky’s email falsely states, among other things, that Mr. Cooper owed him an unpaid debt based on a non-existent contract. Rudsky was never a shareholder or “stakeholder” of Mr. Cooper’s former business venture, nor was he entitled to any percentage of any business dealings of Mr. Cooper’s company. In short, he made up the debt out of whole cloth.

32. The email also falsely insinuates that Mr. Cooper has a bad moral character.

33. The email also falsely claims that WPM is a scam and that its positive customer reviews are not legitimate.

34. Finally, it ends with a threat to harm WPM’s reputation online if Rudsky is not paid $200,000 within 48 hours.

35. Later the same day, Rudsky wrote a second email to Mr.
Whittaker, in which he stated, “You are party too a scam that is driving allot [sic] of traffic to WPM site... You will be exposed... I hope I make myself clear Mr.
Whittaker.”

36. The factual assertions in this email are also false, and it is quite clear that Rudsky is threatening Mr. Whittaker as well as WPM and Mr. Cooper.

37. The inescapable conclusion from Rudsky’s emails to Mr. Cooper and Mr. Whittaker is that he is motivated by ill will toward Mr. Cooper and WPM and that he is deliberately defaming them as part of a scheme of extortion and blackmail.

COUNT ONE
Libel

38. Plaintiffs repeat and reallege each and every prior allegation herein.

39. Rudsky has willfully and maliciously published statements about WPM and Mr. Cooper that are both false and defamatory.

40. Specifically, Rudsky has falsely stated in emails to Mr. Whittaker that Mr. Cooper has a bad moral character, that Mr. Cooper owes an unpaid debt to Rudsky, that WPM is “a scam,” and that WPM’s positive customer reviews are fake.

41. Each of these statements is defamatory per se or has a defamatory meaning within the context of the emails.

42. As a result of Rudsky’s ongoing misconduct, Plaintiffs have suffered and continue to suffer harm to their reputations and business prospects.

COUNT TWO
Injurious Falsehood

43. The Plaintiffs repeat and reallege each and every prior allegation herein.

44. Rudsky has willfully made false statements in emails to another person about Mr. Cooper and his business, WPM.

45. These emails have deprived Mr. Cooper and WPM of prospective economic advantage by damaging their reputation and inducing others not to deal with Mr. Cooper or WPM.
46. These false statements were made deliberately and maliciously.

47. As a result of Rudsky’s ongoing misconduct, Plaintiffs have suffered and continue to suffer harm to their reputations and business prospects.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiffs pray for an entry of judgment against Defendant that:

1. Awards compensatory and punitive damages according to proof;

2. Imposes injunctive relief requiring Defendant and any partners, agents, employees, representatives, assignees, and all persons acting in concert or participation with him, to refrain from publishing online or elsewhere the threatened false statements about WPM’s customer reviews or any other false statements about WPM or Mr. Cooper;

3. Imposes injunctive relief requiring Defendant and any partners, agents, employees, representatives, assignees, and all persons acting in concert or participation with him, to desist from threatening WPM or Mr. Cooper for the purpose of extortion or blackmail;

4. Awards reasonable attorneys’ fees and costs of this action; and

5. Awards all such other relief as the Court deems just and proper.
JURY DEMANDED

Plaintiff hereby demands a trial by jury.

Mr. Rudsky:
Scott forwarded me your emails and I am concerned about what you are trying to communicate to Scott Cooper and WPM.
I am a former United States Attorney for the Southern District of Iowa and I also serve on World Patent Marketing's Advisory Board.

Your emails and message from today seem to be an apparent attempt at possible blackmail or extortion. You also mentioned filing a complaint with the Better Business Bureau and to smear World Patent Marketing's reputation online. I am assuming you understand that there could be serious civil and criminal consequences for you if that is in fact what you and your "group" are doing.

I am familiar with your background and your history with Scott. Understand that we take threats like this quite seriously.

Perhaps you can email me and specifically explain to me exactly what your intentions are with regards to World Patent Marketing so I can respond accordingly.

I can be reached at this email address.

Please conduct yourself accordingly.

What is clear, however, is that the author was making negative insinuations about WPM’s hard-earned ratings from the BBB and other ratings sites. It is also clear that the author wanted something from WPM, although he did not say exactly what that was.
21. A follow-up to the email from “Ivory Soap” arrived several weeks later, in which the author of the first email revealed himself as “A. Rudsky,” using the email address (b) (6) [REDACTED].

22. This A. Rudsky was familiar to Mr. Cooper as Alex Rudsky, a former employee in a previous business venture. Mr. Cooper had parted ways with Rudsky eight years earlier.

23. In his second email to Mr. Cooper, dated August 18, 2015, Rudsky wrote, “In reading the [customer] reviews it seems you already have a couple thorns in your side. Do you need more?” This was a clear threat to fabricate negative reviews online.

24. In addition, the email concluded with a threat to harm WPM’s reputation. Referring to potential negative stories about WPM, Rudsky wrote, “We want to make sure these [stories] never make it to page 1...or all trust is gone[.]” This is a clear insinuation that he could harm WPM by falsely claiming on the Internet that WPM had faked the positive customer reviews that, in reality, are a reflection of the company’s stellar reputation.

25. As before, Rudsky proposed an unspecified “partnership,” but the tone of his second email was more obviously threatening.

26. Three days later, on or about August 21, 2015 Rudsky left a message with WPM’s receptionist, in which he threatened to make false statements about WPM to the Better Business Bureau.

27. Later that day, Rudsky sent a third email. Unlike the ones preceding it, this one was short and to the point. It read:
“Scott, I sent you an email the other day. I left you a message this morning.. My advise [sic] is not to ignore and hope I go away...

“You do not need our group to make things difficult on you.. So please man up and let’s go over a few things that are needed to discuss.. have a good weekend. I expect to hear from you today.”

28. The statement that Rudsky’s “group” could “make things difficult on you” was a clear threat to WPM and Mr. Cooper himself.

29. Mr. Cooper then asked Matthew Whittaker, a member of WPM’s advisory board and a former U.S. Attorney to intervene. Mr. Whittaker wrote an email to Rudsky stating that Rudsky’s message and emails were “an apparent attempt at possible blackmail or extortion.” Mr. Whittaker admonished Rudsky not to engage in potentially illegal activity.

30. Rudsky’s response to Mr. Whittaker’s email was unhinged. In that email, dated August 25, 2015, he makes multiple defamatory statements about WPM and Mr. Cooper personally:

“Hi Matt,

“I know exactly who you are I have spent the last few months going over your site.

“Let me quickly explain how I came across WPM so you have a brief history. Annette Copper [sic], and my ex wife Judy are friends and communicate on regular basis. Annette mentions to Judy that Scott is in the patent business and is absolutely killing it. Judy calls me and says I know you are always looking for things to add to your export business and you should look in to this patent business. She goes on to tell me that Scott stole the idea from someone he came across and the business model really makes sense. The first thing that comes to mind is Scott Cooper steal something from someone? Can’t be, that’s just not Scott. He is a stand up citizen and would never consider such a thing.

“A brief history with me and Scott so you are clear. Let me take you back to Old Merchants Bank. Me and Scott started that business from scratch. I was a 20% stakeholder (contract in hand). Towards the latter part of the venture Scott Cooper received a $1 million dollar pay out from a Mike Ashley. At that time I was owed $200k that Scott Cooper till this day has not paid me on. I am requesting that I get paid now.

“There is no blackmail of any kind. Based on our contract, that money is owed to me. I want my money that has been outstanding for over 5 years.

“Very simple. Scott Cooper is running an absolute scam. You know it as well as I do…. [] I have spent countless hours on your site... Every review is fake. I have also dug up many of the negative reviews that have been hidden within the google search. There is nothing wrong with me informing everyone via any source I feel necessary to advise them that WPM is a scam. Him owing me money has nothing to do with anything outside the obvious. I want my money that he owes me. If you are trying to bully me around it will not work well with me. Based on my history with Scott I know the attorneys he keeps on staff and how he uses them to deflect any negative publicity. Please work with Mr. Cooper to come up with a schedule of payments so that we can both move on.

“You have 48 hours from today to come up with the money that is owed to me. I hope I make myself clear...”

31. Rudsky’s email falsely states, among other things, that Mr. Cooper owed him an unpaid debt based on a non-existent contract. Rudsky was never a shareholder or “stakeholder” of Mr. Cooper’s former business venture, nor was he entitled to any percentage of any business dealings of Mr. Cooper’s company. In short, he made up the debt out of whole cloth.

32. The email also falsely insinuates that Mr. Cooper has a bad moral character.

33. The email also falsely claims that WPM is a scam and that its positive customer reviews are not legitimate.

34. Finally, it ends with a threat to harm WPM’s reputation online if Rudsky is not paid $200,000 within 48 hours.

35. Later the same day, Rudsky wrote a second email to Mr. Whittaker, in which he stated, “You are party too a scam that is driving allot [sic] of traffic to WPM site. You will be exposed... I hope I make myself clear Mr. Whitaker.”

36. The factual assertions in this email are also false, and it is quite clear that Rudsky is threatening Mr. Whittaker as well as WPM and Mr. Cooper.

37. The inescapable conclusion from Rudsky’s emails to Mr. Cooper and Mr. Whittaker is that he is motivated by ill will toward Mr. Cooper and WPM and that he is deliberately defaming them as part of a scheme of extortion and blackmail.

COUNT ONE
Libel

38. Plaintiffs repeat and reallege each and every prior allegation herein.

39. Rudsky has willfully and maliciously published statements about WPM and Mr. Cooper that are both false and defamatory.

40. Specifically, Rudsky has falsely stated in emails to Mr. Whittaker that Mr. Cooper has a bad moral character, that Mr. Cooper owes an unpaid debt to Rudsky, that WPM is “a scam,” and that WPM’s positive customer reviews are fake.

41. Each of these statements is defamatory per se or has a defamatory meaning within the context of the emails.

42. As a result of Rudsky’s ongoing misconduct, Plaintiffs have suffered and continue to suffer harm to their reputations and business prospects.

COUNT TWO
Injurious Falsehood

43. The Plaintiffs repeat and reallege each and every prior allegation herein.

44. Rudsky has willfully made false statements in emails to another person about Mr. Cooper and his business, WPM.

45. These emails have deprived Mr. Cooper and WPM of prospective economic advantage by damaging their reputation and inducing others not to deal with Mr. Cooper or WPM.
46. These false statements were made deliberately and maliciously.

47. As a result of Rudsky’s ongoing misconduct, Plaintiffs have suffered and continue to suffer harm to their reputations and business prospects.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiffs pray for an entry of judgment against Defendant that:

1. Awards compensatory and punitive damages according to proof;

2. Imposes injunctive relief requiring Defendant and any partners, agents, employees, representatives, assignees, and all persons acting in concert or participation with him, to refrain from publishing online or elsewhere the threatened false statements about WPM’s customer reviews or any other false statements about WPM or Mr. Cooper;

3. Imposes injunctive relief requiring Defendant and any partners, agents, employees, representatives, assignees, and all persons acting in concert or participation with him, to desist from threatening WPM or Mr. Cooper for the purpose of extortion or blackmail;

4. Awards reasonable attorneys’ fees and costs of this action; and

5. Awards all such other relief as the Court deems just and proper.

RE: World Patent Marketing

Dear (b)(6)

I am writing as a follow-up to our discussion last week concerning (b)(6). During our conversation, you stated that World Patent Marketing ("MPM") has violated the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (35 U.S.C. § 297), ("AIPA"), and asked that I inform you if your reading of the statute was incorrect.

As an initial matter, your allegations are baseless. You have not, and cannot, identify any "material false or fraudulent statement or representation, or omission of material fact" by WPM with respect to its dealings with your client. Moreover, your assertion relies on the faulty premise that WPM is an "invention promoter" as defined by the AIPA. It most certainly is not.

WPM provides a variety of services to its clients that place it well outside the ambit of an "invention promoter" as defined under the AIPA. This includes invention research, such as commercial evaluation of utility patents; manufacturing of products; retail sales of customers' products it manufactures on its website Shop.worldpatentmarketing.com; patent assistance services; engineering and prototyping services; website and mobile applications development; and advertising and marketing services on both internet and traditional media. See 35 U.S.C. §297(c)(3)(C) and (E).

For these reasons, any suit that you are considering bringing under this statute would be frivolous. Moreover, in light of the specific information provided to you in this letter, such a suit would subject you and your client to Rule 11 sanctions. In fact, we would include this letter in our motion to dismiss and for sanctions to show that you and your client were aware of the baseless nature of any claim brought under AIPA against WPM.
We have warned that his slanderous and defamatory statements to WPM’s clients and potential clients must cease immediately. Now that you are aware that any AIPA claim would be baseless and frivolous, we again demand that your client immediately cease his illegal conduct. If this improper conduct continues, he faces a legal suit for causes of action that could include defamation, slander, tortious interference with contract, and tortious interference with advantageous business relationships.¹

WPM is a highly reputable company that has an esteemed Advisory Board that includes: (i) Admiral Dell Dailey, former head of the US State Department’s Counter Terrorism Unit, (ii) Brian Mast, a veteran of the United States Army, Joint Special Operations Command, and candidate for the US House of Representatives in Florida’s 18th District; and (vi) Matthew O. Whitaker, Esq., a former United States Attorney for the Southern District of Iowa and Executive Director of The Foundation for Accountability & Civic Trust (FACT). Any defamatory statements by you or your clients regarding WPM also besmirches this outstanding corporate leadership, who enjoy wide-spread recognition and respect.

What this matter ultimately comes down to is your client’s dissatisfaction that his invention did not become as profitable as he had hoped. Of course, WPM would like nothing more than for his product to succeed and for WPM to be credited with making it a success. However, WPM does not guarantee, and cannot ensure a project’s success. Unfortunately, your client did not achieve the result he dreamed of, but blame cannot be left at WPM’s door. By seeking to besmirch WPM’s reputation and extort it by threatening legal action in order to obtain a refund of some kind, where WPM did everything it promised it would do, your client is engaging in the very kind of sharp practices he falsely attributes to WPM.

For the last time, we demand that your client cease and desist from his campaign of falsehoods against WPM. If he fails to do so, our client will seek any and all remedies available to it under the law.

Very truly yours,

LEHR LEVI & MENDEZ, P.A.

RE:  World Patent Marketing Confidentiality Agreement and Management Agreement

Dear (b)(6)

This law firm represents World Patent Marketing. This is a cease and desist letter, directing you to immediately close your competing business Global Patent Network and cease your threats to steal World Patent Marketing’s clients. Should you continue, we will seek legal action against you that include breach of contract, larceny, tortuous interference, theft and misappropriation of trade secrets, and violations of the Computer Fraud and Abuse Act and Economic Espionage Act.\(^1\)

You entered into a binding confidentiality agreement and branch licensing agreement with World Patent Marketing, in which you agreed not to “divulge or make use of any Confidential Information . . . without the prior written consent of the Corporation.” Confidential Information includes information about World Patent Marketing’s customers. See Confidentiality Agreement at para. a.8.

Moreover, your threats to use your confidential knowledge of World Patent Marketing’s customers constitutes attempted trade secret theft under Florida law and attempted larceny by extortion under the New York Penal Code. Both of these crimes have penalties that include imprisonment and fines.

The Confidentiality Agreement also prohibits you from competing with World Patent Marketing and “directly or indirectly, solicit[ing] or attempt[ing] to solicit” any business from any of the Corporation’s Customers, Customer Prospects, or Vendors.”

\(^1\) The failure to refer to any specific remedy or action herein is not a waiver of said remedy or action, and shall not be treated as such by you.
Confidentiality Agreement at para. h and i. Your company, Global Patent Network, is in direct violation of these non-compete provisions of the Confidentiality Agreement and our client is prepared to hold you fully accountable for these actions.

We insist that you immediately cease all operations of Global Patent Network, including, but not limited to, the permanent shut down of the website and wind down of its Delaware LLC. We also require documentary proof that you have performed these tasks.

Failure to provide the proof requested by close of business on June 10, 2016 will result in our client seeking any and all remedies available under the law.

Sincerely,

Andrew K. Lev1, Esq.

TRY TO COMPLETE ALL QUESTIONS IN THIS SECTION:

• Tell me about your company. What do you do? What’s your market/customer base?

World Patent Marketing is an innovation incubator, helping entrepreneurs and institutions develop their ideas and companies from inception to execution. We are essentially a one stop shop for entrepreneurs and inventors. We significantly boost their chance of success by providing expertise in the areas of research, engineering, prototyping, patenting, licensing, manufacturing, distribution, retail and marketing. I also created an investment earlier this year to enable me to personally invest in some of our more interesting transactions. You can also learn more about what we do by visiting www.WorldPatentMarketing.com.

• Can you give a general sense of the size of the company (employees? customers? any other metric?)

With offices throughout the United States as well as South America, the United Kingdom, Middle East and Asia, we have a vast and dedicated team of 400 agents and employees.

• Did you found the company? How did you come to be CEO?

I founded the company in 2010 after I grew tired of my career in finance. I realized that with mature companies, there are often limited opportunities to chart a personalized career path. I wanted to work in the early and growing stages of businesses and saw growth and opportunity within the innovation industry. Now, I go to work every day inspired by the goals set by bold entrepreneurs and haven’t looked back since.

• Why has your company been successful to date? How are you growing?

My company has been successful for two main reasons: the incredibly talented individuals who work for World Patent Marketing and the bold inventors who trust us to help bring their inventions to life. Both my employees and my clients have allowed my company to grow substantially in a short period of time and I know that with their partnership, even more growth awaits for World Patent Marketing.

• What are you most proud of as a CEO (something you’ve personally achieved, a major goal reached for the business)?

• We have a very diverse advisory board which has opened doors that I never dreamed possible. The board includes Dr. Aileen Marty, a member of President Obamas Advisory Council, Pascal Bida Koyagbele, Central African Republic candidate for President, Dr. Ronald Mallett, a Theoretical Physics professor that has been studying time travel for decades, General Nitzan Nuriel of the Israeli Defense Forces, Matthew Whitaker, Former US Attorney and candidate for the United States Senate. This type of expertise allows World Patent Marketing to service a wide range of innovations and help foster leaders in the global market!

• Where do you hope to take your company in the next 1, 3 or 5 years? What will help you get there?

As we continue to expand globally, I have realized that World Patent Marketing can play a role in shaping the fate of nations. We can actually have a seat at the table. We are working with Saudi Arabia on helping it reach its goals of transforming to a knowledge based economy within fifteen years. We are also working towards bringing better communication and internet to the Central African Republic. We have big goals but if we are successful, the rewards will be tremendous.
• What’s your personal leadership style? What do you think is your most valuable quality as a CEO?

I have been described as “unconventional” for most of my life and I am definitely no stranger to taking risks. My brutal honesty has also done well for me in business. Other make excuses. If I make a mistake, I admit it and move on. This has allowed me to manage expectations and foster a great level of trust from those who work with me. I’ve found that trust is key to any business relationship and my ability to establish it early on helps me greatly as a leader.

TRY TO COMPLETE ALL QUESTIONS IN AT LEAST 2 OF THE BELOW SECTIONS:

Innovation:
• What makes you an innovator?
  I’m an innovator because I have been able to found and develop a successful global company that has given many others a new lease on life by helping to turn their invention aspirations into a reality. I transformed and innovated my career and life from dull and predictable to fulfilling and exciting.

• What specifically have you created/ideated?
  Recently I partnered up with FIU Professor Dr. Aileen Marty on what we call the Disaster Communications Drone. For the first time ever, it will provide extended range connections to distant hotspots during a communications breakdown. This will be especially helpful during natural disasters.

• Is your innovation exhibited in ideas, strategy or a physical product?
  My innovation is exhibited in all three of the above categories, depending on the project. I am highly involved and invested in all of my clients so collaborating with them consists of a fluid mix of innovation ideas, strategies and of course, the physical product.

• Why are these ideas/strategies/products different from competitors/unique to the market?
  We take risk alongside our clients. We partner on deals and I invest real money on innovative ideas. I can promise you that none of my competitors have as many sleepless nights as I do.

• How does innovation give your company a competitive edge?
  Innovation plays a major role for World Patent Marketing. We are the only company of its kind, from “idea to retail”, as we say. We have the ability to work with an inventor or entrepreneur the day after he or she has a vision for an idea and hasn’t even put it on paper. We are then able to see the journey of that idea through all the way to manufacturing and retail.

• What kind of innovation do you see taking place within your company and in your industry in the future?
  I can’t say too much about it but we are working on some very cutting edge ideas. We are launching The Theoretical Physics Exchange next month – a one of a kind theoretical commodity exchange tied to the price of Bitcoin.
Customer Experience

- Explore further the customers of the company. What kind of customer experience does your company create?
  I am very hands on and heavily invested in the vision of the customer. More than just investing money, I invest strategic thinking in all stages of the innovation process and I ensure my customers understand exactly what they’re getting into when trying to bring an invention or innovation to market. It’s a long and meticulous process, but once a customer signs on to work with us, we are fully committed to being their partner in that process.

- Why is this customer experience unique and important to the company’s success?
  The customer experience is everything to World Patent Marketing. As I mentioned earlier, our clients are key to the company’s success, so not only do we want to promise satisfaction, but we also want to reinforce the notion that we are their business partners and team, so it’s in everyone’s interest to maintain a committed and trustworthy relationship.

- How do you define “customer experience”. Why is customer experience important?
  Customer experience is everything from the front desk answering the phone every time a customer tries to reach the company, to providing my customers with a direct way to contact me whenever they need. I always want my customers to understand that I am their go-to in providing counsel and am going through the process with them.

- How did you install this customer experience?

- Do you have a great example of a customer? A success story?
  Teddy’s Ballie Bumpers is a recent success story. A California inventor, came up with an innovative idea to keep pet and children’s toys from getting lost and stuck under the couch. His product was just shown on AS SEEN ON TV and can be purchases at buyteddy.com.

- Has focusing on customer experience helped with customer acquisition? retention?
  Absolutely, most of our business today comes referrals of existing customers. We also came up with a way to help those that can’t afford our services through a rewards program called World Patent Marketing Dollars. Customer advocacy is going to become more important in the future and we take it very seriously.

RE: World Patent Marketing

Dear (b)(6)

This law firm represents Desa Industries, Inc. d/b/a World Patent Marketing (“World Patent Marketing”). We are disturbed to learn that you have been engaging in blackmail in a deliberate effort to unfairly and deceptively compete with World Patent Marketing. As such, I write to put an end to this illegal and contrived effort to damage World Patent Marketing’s reputation before we are forced to litigate the matter.

Specifically, today, World Patent Marketing received a telephone message from you purporting to act as counsel to (b)(6), a World Patent Marketing client. While this conduct alone is illegal, we were even more disturbed when, after contacting (b)(6) directly, we learned that he had no such complaint as you falsely described in your message, but instead simply wanted a refund because he could not afford the service at this time. (b)(6) also confirmed that he never authorized you to make any of the specious claims or threats that you asserted on the voicemail message. In any event, World Patent Marketing issued a full refund to (b)(6). However, your dissemination of false and disparaging information about World Patent Marketing could have a serious and negative effect on our its business and its relationship with its clients. Accordingly, these attempts at extortion need to stop now.

Indeed, your unlawful conduct threatens to cause World Patent Marketing to lose business and it will seek all available legal remedies to ensure that this does not occur. You have proceeded far beyond what the law defines as free speech and, instead, have engaged in an unlawful and intentional interruption and disparagement of World Patent Marketing’s business for the sole purpose of directing potential clients away from World Patent Marketing.

While you may be jealous of World Patent Marketing’s success, resorting to blackmail to gain business will not be tolerated. For that reason, World Patent Marketing hereby demands that you immediately cease and desist from making any further defamatory remarks regarding World Patent Marketing or illegally threatening to publish its materials to the Better Business Bureau in exchange for money. Should you fail to do so, World Patent Marketing will avail itself of all appropriate legal remedies, including the filing of a lawsuit against you and (b)(6).
Before litigating this matter, World Patent Marketing is giving you one opportunity to discontinue your illegal conduct by complying with this demand by no later than May 22, 2015. If we do not receive written confirmation that you will immediately discontinue your threats of extortion and making any disparaging and defamatory remarks regarding World Patent Marketing by the close of business on May 22, 2015, a lawsuit seeking injunctive relief and substantial monetary damages will be filed without further notice or warning.

PLEASE GOVERN YOURSELF ACCORDINGLY.

Sincerely,

EGOZI & BENNETT, P.A.
