Both parties to a credit union merger must file, assuming all statutory thresholds are met.

Hi all,

I have a dumb but very quick question. For credit union mergers—if the target’s total non-exempt assets exceed $92 million (and the size of persons test is met)—both parties (acquiring and acquired) need to file, correct? There isn’t some special rule where only the acquiring credit union files. Correct?