Re: Business Opportunity Rule R511993

Dear Sir/Madam:

I am a retired Air Force Veteran of World War II and Korea. I flew combat as a lead radar bombardier/navigator with 91st Bomb Group (H), B 17's. If you saw the movie Memphis Belle you saw the 91st in action. During the Korean War I spent three years flying wounded home from Korea-many of them not yet 20 years old.

When I retired in 1965 I started a new career with Shaklee Corporation and have been with them ever since. I am an independent contractor not an employee.

After studying Rule R511993 I honestly believe the FTC must be trying to kill off our direct selling business. Please answer three questions.

1. Because many of our recruits ask to join us does the seven day waiting period to enroll still hold true for them?
2. Can you name one business that requires a prospective new employee to meet the requirements you plan on forcing us to comply with?
3. How does a new distributor meet the ten prior purchasers nearest him when he has never sold Shaklee before? With all due respect - this is simply asinine thinking and I resent it very much.

Please look over your proposed proposal requirements- can you name a single Shaklee distributor who is actually an independent contractor succeeding with your proposed regulations? YOU CAN'T.

Thanks for recording my resounding no vote in opposition to R511993. I still believe this is a free country. THAT'S WHY I FOUGHT FOR IT.

Sincerely,
