RE: 16 CFR Part 306; Automotive Fuel Ratings, Certification and Posting; Project No. R811005

To Whom It May Concern:

Not only do most AMA members and most American citizens oppose the introduction of E15 or higher content fuels, we oppose ALL ethanol fuel products. Any mechanic or mechanical engineer will quickly tell you that fuels containing ethanol have created and will continue to create unnecessary issues with internal combustion engines.

Ethanol fuels exist today only as an economic stimulus for certain special interest groups. Ethanol in fuels has contributed heavily to the ever increasing fuel prices which have had an adverse impact on the travel and tourism industry. Many people simply cannot afford to spend hundreds of dollars for gasoline to drive to vacation destinations.

Sincerely,
Joe Reeves, GA
