

Federal Trade Commission Smokeless Tobacco Report for 2014

ISSUED: 2016

I. INTRODUCTION

This report is the latest in a series on smokeless tobacco sales, advertising, and promotion that the Federal Trade Commission (“Commission”) has prepared since 1987.¹

The statistical tables appended to this report provide information on domestic smokeless tobacco sales and advertising and promotional activities. Commission staff prepared these tables using information collected, pursuant to compulsory process orders, from the parent companies of the major manufacturers of smokeless tobacco products in the United States: Altria Group, Inc.; North Atlantic Trading Company, Inc.; Reynolds American, Inc.; Swedish Match North America, Inc.; and Swisher International Group, Inc.²

II. TOTAL SMOKELESS TOBACCO SALES AND ADVERTISING AND PROMOTIONAL EXPENDITURES

Tables 1A and 1B show total smokeless tobacco sales and advertising expenditures from 1985 through 2014. Table 1B shows that the total amount of smokeless tobacco sold by manufacturers to wholesalers and retailers decreased from 128.04 million pounds in 2013 to 127.81 million pounds in 2014. Sales revenues received by the manufacturers from wholesalers and retailers rose, increased from $3.263 billion in 2013 to $3.416 billion in 2014.³

The manufacturers spent a total of $600.8 million on advertising and promotion in 2014, an increase from the $503.2 million spent in 2013.

² Although the identity of the companies reporting smokeless tobacco data has varied over the nearly 30 years that the Commission has issued these reports, these five companies have been recipients of the Commission’s compulsory process orders since 2010.

Tables 2A and 2B show the number of units of smokeless tobacco the companies sold and gave away in packages of various sizes (e.g., less than 1 ounce; 1 ounce to less than 2 ounces; 2 ounces to less than 5 ounces). In 2014 – as in the previous years for which these data are available – more packages weighing 1 ounce to less than 2 ounces were sold than any other size package. However, more packages weighing 2 ounces to less than 5 ounces were given away in 2014 than any other size package.

III. SMOKELESS TOBACCO ADVERTISING AND PROMOTIONAL EXPENDITURES BY CATEGORY

Tables 3A through 3I show the amounts spent on smokeless tobacco advertising and promotion for the years 1985 through 2014.⁴ They list the amounts spent on the different types of media advertising (e.g., magazines) and sales promotion activities (e.g., distribution of samples).⁵ Table 3I shows the companies' expenditures for 2014.

Spending on advertising in newspapers had been $1.0 million in 2013. The Commission is not separately publishing the amount spent on newspaper advertising in 2014 because only one company reported spending in that category.

Magazine advertising increased from $7.7 million in 2013 to $18.9 million in 2014. Spending on outdoor advertising grew from $590,000 to $1.1 million during the same period.⁶

The companies reported spending no money on audio-visual advertising, as they have each year since 2008.⁷

In 2014, the companies reported spending $6.7 million on direct mail advertising, down from the $9.1 million spent in 2013. Point-of-sale advertising rose from $32.3 million in 2013 to $33.0 million in 2014.

In 2014, the companies reported spending $257.3 million on price discounts to retailers and $99.8 million on price discounts to wholesalers (payments made to retailers or wholesalers in order to reduce the price of smokeless tobacco to consumers). Previously, the Commission did not require the companies to report retail and wholesale price discounts separately. Combined price discounts were $357.2 million in 2014, which was an increase from the $282.7 million spent on price discounts in 2013. Retail and wholesale price discounts were the two largest expenditure categories in 2014, representing a combined 59.4 percent of total expenditures (42.8 percent and 16.6 percent, respectively). Price discounts represented 56.2 percent of total expenditures in 2013 and have been the single largest expenditure category since 2002.

Spending on promotional allowances (intended to facilitate the sale or placement of smokeless tobacco) paid to smokeless tobacco retailers increased from $29.9 million in 2013 to $33.8 million. Spending on promotional allowance paid to smokeless tobacco wholesalers decreased from $44.3 million in 2013 to $44.1 million in 2014. The companies also reported spending $27,000 on promotional allowances paid to persons other than retailers and wholesalers, down from $51,000 spent in 2013.

open air or enclosed); and any other ads placed outdoors, regardless of their size, including those on the property of smokeless tobacco retailers. Prior to 2002, “outdoor” advertising was not precisely defined. In particular, it was not clear that signs in arenas, stadiums, shopping malls, or on retailer property were to be reported in this category.

When promotional allowances and price discounts are combined, they account for 72.4 percent of total 2014 spending, up from 70.9 percent of total 2013 spending.

The companies reported spending $8.0 million in 2014 to give smokeless tobacco samples to the public (“sampling”).⁸ In 2013, they reported spending $6.4 million on sampling.

The specialty item distribution category⁹ has two sub-categories: branded and non-branded. In 2013, $12.0 million was spent on non-branded items; that figure grew to $17.8 million in 2014. As they did in 2012 and 2013, the companies reported no spending on branded specialty items in 2014.

Expenditures for public entertainment in adult-only facilities (e.g., bar nights or concerts) declined from $13.4 million in 2013 to $8.5 million in 2014. As they have each year since 2011, the companies reported no spending on general-audience public entertainment, on endorsements and testimonials, or on sponsorships in 2014.

The companies reported coupon expenditures of $40.7 million in 2014; in 2013, they spent $32.2 million on coupons.

Retail-value-added expenditures are the costs associated with offers such as “buy one, get one free” and “buy three, get a free T-shirt,” where the bonus item is distributed at retail when the smokeless tobacco is purchased. The retail-value-added category is broken into two subcategories – one in which the bonus item is additional smokeless tobacco and one in which the bonus item is something other than smokeless tobacco. In 2013, the companies spent $5.9 million on retail-value-added involving free smokeless tobacco products. The Commission is not separately publishing the amount spent on retail-value-added involving free smokeless tobacco products in 2014 because only one company reported spending in that category. As they did in 2012 and 2013, the companies reported no spending on retail-value-added involving free non-smokeless tobacco items in 2014.

In 2013, the companies reported spending $6.0 million for advertising on their websites and $1.8 million on Internet advertising other than on their own websites. In 2014, those figures were $6.4 million and $259,000, respectively.

The compulsory process orders issued by the Commission in 2011 (seeking 2009 and 2010 data) and thereafter have asked the companies to report spending on “social media marketing on Web sites or other online services or communities, including but not limited to social networking sites, microblogging sites, content-sharing sites, and blogs.” The Commission is not separately publishing the amount reported for 2014, because only one company reported spending in that category.

Since 1992, the Commission has required the manufacturers to report the total amount of money they spent on advertising and promotion in connection with sports and sporting events.¹⁰ This question is separate from, and duplicative of, the reporting of the individual various advertising and promotion categories. For example, money spent on a magazine advertisement promoting a smokeless tobacco-branded sports tournament open to those of all ages should be reported under the category “general-audience public entertainment” and should also be reported as an expenditure on “sports and sporting events.” Similarly, expenditures on sponsorship of sports teams and individual athletes should be reported under the category “sponsorship” and also reported as “sports and sporting events.” These expenditures are counted only once, however, in computing the industry’s total advertising and promotional expenditures. Expenditures for sports and sporting events, which had been as high as $15.2 million in 2009, were $1.2 million in 2014.

¹⁰ This includes expenditures for: (1) the sponsoring, advertising, or promotion of sports or sporting events; support of an individual, group, or sports team; and purchase of or support for equipment, uniforms, sports facilities, and/or training facilities; (2) advertising in the name of the smokeless tobacco company or any of its brands in a sports facility, on a scoreboard, or in conjunction with the reporting of sports results; and (3) all expenditures for functional promotional items (clothing, hats, etc.) connected with a sporting event.

The companies reported spending $852,000 in 2014 on ads directed to youth or their parents that were intended to reduce youth use of smokeless tobacco products.¹¹ Some portion of that amount was directed at reducing youth use of tobacco products of any kind.

Smokeless tobacco manufacturers reported that in 2014 neither they nor anyone working for them or on their behalf paid money or any other form of compensation in connection with the production or filming of any motion picture or television show, or paid money or any other form of compensation to anyone engaged in product placement in motion pictures or television shows. The companies also reported that neither they nor anyone working for them or on their behalf sought, solicited, granted approval, or otherwise gave permission for the appearance of any smokeless tobacco product or smokeless tobacco brand imagery in any motion picture or television show. Most of the companies reported that neither they nor anyone working for them or on their behalf sought, solicited, granted approval, or otherwise gave permission for the appearance of any smokeless tobacco product or smokeless tobacco brand imagery in any video appearing on the Internet. Two companies reported having video advertising on company-operated websites. Most of the companies reported that neither they nor anyone working for or on their behalf engaged in social media marketing that promoted any smokeless tobacco brand or variety or used smokeless tobacco brand imagery. One company reported having Facebook and Twitter pages for one brand and to having advertised on blogs and podcasts. Another company reported allowing the posting of user-generated content on company-operated websites.

IV. SMOKELESS TOBACCO SALES AND ADVERTISING AND PROMOTIONAL EXPENDITURES BY TOBACCO TYPE

The Commission historically has reported sales and advertising expenditures for several different types of smokeless tobacco products, including dry snuff, moist snuff, plug/twist, and loose leaf chewing tobacco. Since 2008, the Commission also has required the companies to provide data for snus and dissolvable smokeless tobacco products. Tables 4A through 4F present details on sales and advertising and promotional expenditures by type of smokeless tobacco, including snus (Table 4E) and dissolvables (Table 4F).

The number of pounds of loose leaf chewing tobacco, plug/twist chewing tobacco, and scotch/dry snuff sold all fell from 2013 to 2014, continuing the declines seen in recent years. Snus sales increased from 2013 to 2014, but were still below their 2012 peak. Moist snuff sales have risen every year since the Commission first issued its smokeless tobacco reports, and in 2014, the number of pounds of moist snuff sold again exceeded the combined sales of all other kinds of smokeless tobacco. The Commission is not reporting the sales of dissolvable smokeless tobacco products in 2014 because only one company reported selling such products.

Moist snuff also continued to generate more revenue than any other type of smokeless tobacco. In 2014, sales of moist stuff were $2.996 billion, representing 87.7 percent of total smokeless tobacco sales.

Tables 4A through 4F also indicate that moist snuff continued to receive the greatest advertising and promotional support. In 2014, the companies spent $497.1 million promoting moist snuff, compared to $11.3 million for loose leaf chewing tobacco, $219,000 for plug/twist chewing tobacco, $492,000 for scotch/dry snuff, and $47.4 million for snus.

The companies also reported spending $44.2 million in 2014 on advertising smokeless tobacco brands that encompass more than one type of product (e.g., moist snuff and snus) or on non-brand specific smokeless tobacco advertising.¹² These amounts are included in the total set forth in Table 3H, but not in Tables 4A through 4F.

Tables 5A through 5F present details about the number of units sold in packages of various sizes for each type of smokeless tobacco product. For plug/twist chewing tobacco, scotch/dry snuff, and moist snuff, more packages weighing 1 ounce to less than 2 ounces were sold in 2014 than any other size. For loose leaf chewing tobacco, more packages weighing 2 ounces to less than 5 ounces were sold in 2014 than any other size. More packages of snus weighing less than 1 ounce were sold in 2014 than any other size.
